Booker T. Washington, founder of Tuskegee Institute for colored young men and women and leading exponent of the negro race, arrived in Portland from Puget Sound yesterday morning, accompanied by his secretary, Nathan Hunt, and went to the Portland Hotel, remaining there until 1 P. M., while arranging his appointments, when he left for Corvallis to address the faculty and students of Oregon Agricultural College. He returns today for a visit of several days.

Superintendent Alderman Quoted.

"My wishes are concisely what Su-perintendent Alderman expressed to a porter for The Oregonian, as ap-sared in today's issue. I have asked y secretary to preserve the interview and will read it to my 186 teachers

"Tuskegue Institute is a school for agriculture, trades and domestic science. The graduates who wish to study law, modicine and other professtand law, medicine and other processions go to such universities after leaving Tuskegee. I try to implant the value of righteous living and the necessity of education and industry in becoming successful men and women; citizens whose lives will be examples

Monblou is a town in the center of Mississippi which is inhabited and managed entirely by colored people. A study of that town, its financial standing and moral smasten would be interesting for anybody who is unac-teresting for anybody who is unacquainted with the progress our people are making. A cotton seed oil mill, erected at a cost of $100,000, was lately added to its various industries."

In conclusion Dr. Washington said that he wanted a lot of people to come to Gipsy Smith Auditorium tonight to hear about the colored people and his work in their behalf. He has been greeted by large audiences everywhere, he declares, and no admission is charged. Rich and poer alike are welcome.

ALDERMAN PICKED TO WIN School Board Expected to Decide on VOTES FOR WOMEN URGED French Scientist Champions Cause of Equal Suffrage.

PARIS, March 22. - (Special.)-Dr. Toulouse, the scientist, in the Excelsior, tendent probably will come up before the meeting of the School Board this women. He points to the fears enterstructed on the site of the grace of Grace church, at Twelfth and Taylor streets.

At the last session of the Oregon Conference, the formal merging of Grace and Taylor-street churches having been accomplished, Dr. Cudlipp was left without a pasterate.

For that reason Bishop Cooke assigned him to the assistant pasterate as a self the new First Church, but it has been understood all the time that this was but a temporary arrangement, and that Dr. Cudlipp, in due time, would be assigned to some first-class charge in some of the conferences. He has had other calls, but regards this one as the best of them all.
