TEXTILE WORKERS IN SQUALID HOMES

Labor Department Finds Half of Men Work for $9 a Week or Less.

HOUSES SAID TO BE DAMP

ROOMS OVERCROWDED, SANITATION POOR AND FAMILIES COMPELLED TO LIVE WITHOUT PRIVACY, NEW YORK INVESTIGATORS SAY.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 19.—The report of the state labor department on its investigation of conditions among the "Little Falls" textile workers—brought to public attention by the recent strike—was made public today.

HOUSES DAMP AND UNVENTILATED.

Of living conditions, the report says: "The houses are frame structures, built singly or in groups. Bathrooms are entirely absent, leaky roofs make dry rooms impossible. Ventilation always is bad. Cellars were found filled with water, ashes, waste, garbage and manure."

ONE ROOM HAS MANY USES.

"In each household one room serves as a kitchen, while all others are sleeping-rooms. The kitchen is also a dining-room, living-room, washroom and laundry, and in some cases a sleeping-room. The head of the household is not simply the head of the family, nor even in the usual meaning of the term, a boarding-housekeeper.

Calvin Heilig, as a policeman, and John A. Johnson, manager of Pantages Theater, as Barbara Hare, may have to be barred from rehearsals of the burlesque, "East Lynne," which will be presented by the theater managers at the Heilig Theater the night of March 27. Heilig and Johnson are so comical in their roles that the other manager-actors laughing, and Milton Seaman, secretary, is devising means to have the funny men rehearse by themselves until the other managers are more sure of their lines. "We are such a bit we stop the show," said Mr. Johnson yesterday. "The theater manager who boasts possession of a mustache, and Mr. Heilig got the policeman's part because 'Bill' Pangle happened to have a blue uniform that just fits Heilig. For the burlesque, and all was going swimmingly until Heilig and Johnson appeared on the scene in costume. Then all hands became hopelessly entangled. George L. Baker saved the day by suggesting that Heilig and Johnson be kept out of sight until their colleagues were drilled further. The theater managers will not be the only entertainers in the '1913 Follies.' Ten vaudeville acts will be engaged for the big yearly event, and numerous surprising novelties are promised by Milton Seaman, the producer. Tickets for the affair are going like hotcakes, every showman in town having constituted himself a committee of one to help fill the Heilig one week from today.
