

"STANDPATISM" IS DEAD, SAYS BRYAN

Secretary Tells Iowans Administration Will Restore Forefathers' Spirit.

CABINET IS PROGRESSIVE

Common-Sense Principles, as Used in Everyday Affairs, to Be Applied to Problems of Office, Is Promised.

DES MOINES, March 20.—"Standpatism is dead," declared W. J. Bryan at a banquet here tonight. The statement came early in his speech and the orator dwelt long upon the fact that he believed that the highest accomplishment of the present Administration would be the restoration of what he termed was the spirit of the forefathers to the institutions of the United States.

Cabinet Declared Progressive.

"All the members of the Cabinet are Progressive Democrats and the cabinet in the Senate," declared W. Kern, for whom 6,000,000 progressive Democrats cast their votes for Vice-President a short time ago. More than this, Kern said that the cabinet has been made progressive and the new rules of that body enable the majority of the party to control it.

Secretary Bryan was in a humorous vein during a large part of the address and insisted that he made the appointments in the West because he had to do something to prevent the people from believing he would be a member of the cabinet. He exhorted the officeholders to remember that every platform of the party for the last 20 years had placed principles before officeholders, but that the fact which appalled him was that he was not able to appoint all of his friends to office.

PLANS BODY IS CRITICISED

J. N. Teal Tells Association Need of Public Docks and Incinerator

The Greater Portland Plans Association might better take up the big problems of city improvement that are confronting us than to waste their time in a society with the property owners on a street the widening of which will not demand their attention for years," was the sentiment expressed by J. N. Teal at the meeting of the Burnside street property owners and the members of the Greater Portland Plans Association Wednesday night to consider the plan for widening Burnside street. He mentioned the Burnside project for establishment of a municipal incinerator and storage places and public docks as immediate needs.

WHALING VESSELS LOST

TALE OF HARDSHIPS AND PERILS COMES FROM NORTH.

Huge Ice Floes Crush Craft in Storm and Captain Witting Is Still to Report.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 20.—A special cable to the Post-Intelligencer from Nome, Alaska, says: Sam Gottschalk, of the whaling schooner Moras, reached Nome last night after a trip of 100 miles over the broken ice in Bering Strait, with news of the loss of the schooners Kittawack and Moras and the hardships endured by members of the crews. The two schooners were caught in the ice near the Siberian coast last Fall at the time of the freeze-up and landed boats to prepare winter quarters. Before the men were able to land all their provisions or make extensive preparations for the winter a great storm arose and they were unable to return to their schooners. During the storm the ice coming down from the Arctic caught the schooners and crushed them into a shapeless mass.

The crew, consisting of Gottschalk, Kovich, a naturalist, the owner of the Kittawack, Albert Gunderson and Gus Schroeder, started out in the lone remaining whaleboat in a desperate attempt to cross the strait through the open leads in the great ice floes to the Seward peninsula.

Captain Witting, of the Moras, refusing to accompany them, believing that their attempt would end in death for all, and started south along the Siberian coast in an attempt to reach Flover Bay, where there is an Eskimo settlement. Whether he arrived there is not known.

The party in the whaleboat encountered a terrific storm near Big Diamond Island and their boat was smashed to splinters in the surf and ice floes when they landed.

For three months the party subsisted on seal blubber and the construction of stones and ice, before they were able to attempt the passage over the broken ice to the Seward Peninsula and Nome.

The Kittawack was a small auxiliary gas schooner of 15 gross tons. She was purchased two years ago by Kovich, who went north in order to make a study of Arctic wild flowers.

PAY DENIED TEACHER HURT

Board of Education Rules District Not at Fault.

When a young woman, in her haste to catch her class on its way to the basement, slips and breaks a leg, it is her fault and not the fault of the district, according to the decision of the members of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon in the case of Miss Ella E. Stearns, a teacher in the Albina Homestead School, who applied for six weeks' pay for time lost while the injured member was being healed.

The case had been referred to the committee on teachers, but they did not agree. R. L. Sabin, the chairman, suggested yesterday that perhaps it should have been sent to the committee on repairs, bringing forth hearty laughter from the members.

M. G. Mundy thought the salary should be allowed, but he was willing to compromise by a half payment, to which Mrs. J. B. Kerr, the only woman on the Board, agreed by seconding the motion.

I. N. Fleischer, J. V. Beach and Mr. Sabin, however, voted against it, and the teacher's pay was therefore not allowed.

FEMALE DRESS 8 PIECES

ARTIFICE SHALL HAVE NO MORE ARTICLES IS DECREED.

Entire Habit, Shoes to Hat, Should Be Put on in 10 Minutes, When 'White Woman's Burden' Is Off.

CHICAGO, March 20.—(Special.)—To be completely dressed from shoes to hat, the fashionable woman must wear just eight articles of clothing and consume less than ten minutes in putting them on.

This startling disclosure was made by Mme. A. Ripley, at the convention of the Chicago Dressmakers' Clubs, which is in session at the Auditorium. It met the enthusiastic approval of the members.

Fashionable attire consists of: One one-piece bit of sheer lingerie. One corset, extending almost to knees, but not appearing above the waist line. One pair of silk stockings. One pair of low shoes. One one-piece gown, slashed and draped, with two hooks and a single button.

A soft chapeau and coat fastened with two buttons. "I sigh when I think of how long we have been arriving at this simplicity," said Mme. Ripley. "Why, we have been carrying the white woman's burden of heavy clothes around for centuries."

STAYTON EDITOR TO LEAVE

Patients' Treated Monday Show Increased Leucocytosis.

ASTORIA, Or., March 20.—(Special.)—A telegram was received this morning by Dr. Alfred Kinney from his son, Dr. August M. Kinney, who is in New York as the official representative of the Oregon State Board of Health, studying the effectiveness of the Friedmann tuberculosis cure. The telegram says: "I was six hours at Bellevue Hospital today studying the cases treated by Dr. Friedmann on Monday. All show increased leucocytosis and accelerated pulse. Otherwise there is no change. Through the politeness of Dr. Wilson, superintendent of charities, I have the run of all hospitals and am assisted freely by internes. Dr. Friedmann promises to demonstrate favorable results at Bellevue in about 10 days. I will follow up and examine daily all patients treated at Bellevue and Mount Sinai Hospitals and form an opinion later. Details are being sent by letter."

JEAN BARTHOU CALLED

POINCARRE ASKS MINISTER TO FORM NEW CABINET.

In Event of Acceptance, Proportionate Representation Will Continue Issue in France.

PARIS, March 20.—Jean Barthou, Minister of Justice in the Briand Cabinet, which recently resigned, will give a definite answer tomorrow to the request of President Poincarre, made today, that he form a new Cabinet. He will consult with his friends regarding his decision, but it is considered practically certain that he will accept the task.

M. Barthou said tonight that in the event of his acceptance, the two cardinal principles in his programme would be proportionate representation and three years' service in the army. His first endeavor, he added, would be to try to induce the Senatorial committee to accept the principle of representation by the majorities, the details of which could be arranged later in a spirit of conciliation. He hoped in this way to end the deadlock between the two houses of Parliament.

The fall of the Briand government was on the question of proportionate representation, the Senate voting adversely on the electoral reform bill.
