CHICAGO WHITE SOX LOSE TO COLTS 5-1

Martinoni Pitches Sensational Game for Portland Northwestern Team.

MAJOR SLUGGERS AT SEA

Only in Ninth Are Big Leaguers Able to Score—Eastley in Trim and Bancroft and Mahoney Star. 1500 Fans See Game.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., March 26.—(Special.)—Nick Williams' Portland Northwestern Leaguers covered themselves with glory today by defeating the Chicago Americans' squad No. 2 in a sensational 5-to-1 game. Martinoni, the lanky lad who broke in with Oakland under Wolverton, and Frank Eastley, a veteran, were in the pitching points for the Class B boys, and they might just as well have been Mathewson and Walter Johnson, for they held the mighty sluggers, Fourier, Bodie and others, to four scattered hits.

Southpaw Russell also twirled masterly ball for the Chicagoans, crimping the Colts to four bingles, but the Portland youngsters were fit enough to inject their hits at psychological moments when hits meant runs.

Nearly 1500 wild and excited fans cheered the Colts from the side lines for each spectacular play, redeeming the numerous errors, which were due largely to the uneven surface of the field.

Bancroft and Mahoney Star.

Bancroft, on third, and Mahoney, in the outfield for Williams, performed sensationally, while Fournier and Sylvester pulled circus catches unheard of.

It was a gala day in Santa Rosa, one that will be long remembered. Not in 15 years has a major league club appeared in Luther Burbank's town and to show their appreciation of the visit the merchants barred their doors, dressed their clerks, the schools closed for the afternoon and even the undertaker took a day off.

Bespeckled Martinoni is tonight the hero of the hour. The Portland pitcher twirled the seven innings and pitched, perhaps, the greatest game of his career, with Bliss, another young recruit, receiving in stellar fashion. Martinoni was touched for only two safe hits in his occupancy and one of these was a scratch by Bodie that plunked down between Kid Mohler and Mahoney.

Mighty Fournier Failed Thrice.

Three times the mighty Fournier came up, only to walk back to the bench after puny flies. Five men, Berger, Davy Jones, Kernan, Sylvester and Billy Sullivan, were disposed of via the strike-out route.

Martinoni had "everything" and should be a corking good pitcher for the Colts this year. Eastley, too, finished in grand form.

The Colts scored first in the fifth inning after both sides had threatened innumerable times. An error by Russell in dropping a throw at first, a sacrifice by young Walters and a wild pitch put Coltrin on third and he scored on a long sacrifice fly by Bliss.

Two more runs were crammed in by the fighting, slashing youngsters in the seventh inning on errors by Sylvester and Kernan and Bliss' terrific triple into deep center field. Not satisfied with this lead, Bancroft and Mohler sent out screaming doubles in the eighth inning, Bancroft scoring on Mohler's drive and Mohler on an error and a sacrifice by Mahoney.

Kernan Scores in Ninth.

An error put Kernan on the bags for the Sox in the ninth inning and after a single by Sylvester things looked ominous. Eastley then fanned Sullivan, making two outs, and although Russell sent Kernan in by a single to center, Jones proved an easy out to right field and the game was over.

Several of Nick Williams' so-called regulars were not in the game as they are not yet in shape, but the youngsters looked good enough for any class AA League. In view of the fact that the Sox have been whipping Venice, Los Angeles, Oakland and San Francisco with apparent ease, the Portland Northwestern victory is, indeed, a feather in their caps.

Williams had anticipated a bad beat as the Sox have been training for more than a month and are in perfect trim.

Freak Play Pulled.

Bancroft manipulated one of the freakiest plays imaginable in the fourth inning when he tagged both Bodie and Zeider at third base with one fell sweep of the wrist and saved his club from a dangerous predicament. Bodie had been caught between third and home and Zeider, coming up from second, stood on the bag until Bodie was almost back to him, then, uncertain what to do, he suddenly evacuated and ran back to the keystone sack, but too late. Bancroft caught the ball from Bliss, tagged Bodie and quick as a flash whirled and got Zeider. It was a peculiar and quickwitted double play.

The Sox walloped the San Francisco Seals yesterday, 4 to 1, so they little expected the warm welcome accorded them. They returned to Boy's Springs tonight a very dejected and disgruntled outfit. The score:

115-pound—Belmont, Multnomah Club, vs. Hewitt, Columbus Club.

Eight bouts, with 24 rounds of mitt-wielding guaranteed, and 32 rounds, or 96 minutes of the ring sport, possible, is the programme for the Multnomah Club-Olympic Club boxing carnival in the Winged "M" gym tomorrow night.

Frank Harmar, the Multnomah Club matchmaker, submitted his list of bouts last night, the bill containing five special numbers in addition to the trio of stellar inter-club events.

Of course, as the first appearance of the crack San Francisco boxers in Portland in several years, and one of them a Coast champion and the other two title-holders among the mittmen of the California metropolis, interest is centered in the three feature bouts of the programme. Malone, who meets Thorsness, is the best 125-pound boxer on the Pacific Coast, or at least was acclaimed such when he won first place in the Los Angeles Coast tourney of last Winter. Jansen is the former 115-pound champion of San Francisco who has graduated into the 125-pound class, while Noonan is the lightweight veteran who has few losing marks against his record.

Opposed to Malone is Thorsness, one of the novice members of Tommy Tracey's squad, but a boy of much promise. The way he disposed of Ellison, the Albina lad, at the Columbus Club card Monday night, gives him a splendid fighting chance against the Coast champion. Knowlton is boxing better than ever before. He is strong, tough and willing, and possesses a punch which is not to be despised by Noonan. Powers tackles a mighty clever boy in Jensen, but the Multnomah boy is not afraid to exchange punches with the San Franciscan.

The preliminaries, or special bouts, look promising, with the Belmont-Hewitt affair the clever number and the others slam-bang scraps which delight the average fan. Three Columbus Club, three Multnomah Club, three Brooklyn Club and two Arleta Club boys will appear in the five specials.

The officials of the programme: Jack Grant, Omar Dranga, referees; Joe Teal, Tom Roberts, judges; George L. Parker, timekeeper; Dudley Clarke, announcer.

RIGGS MAY GO TO COLTS

Texas League Catcher Available in Exchange for Burch.

Riggs, a catcher with Houston of the Texas League, is the latest catcher available to Nick Williams, manager of the Portland Colts. The Houston club, which covets Burch, the recalcitrant Colt backstop, offers Riggs in exchange for the holdout.

Riggs is boosted as one of the most promising receivers in the minors, with a great arm, good head, and slugging ability par excellence. However, his performances do not appear in the record books, at least that section relative to Texas and adjoining circuits, so it is not likely that transportation will be telegraphed to the would-be Colt.

Burch was nothing more than a fair catcher with the Colts, so McCredie argues that Riggs is not a world-beater.

"However, it's up to Nick," says the "Judge." "If he wants to make the trade all well and good. It doesn't look like we'll get any money out of Burch, so a trade of some kind might be the best way out of the trouble."

Williams has Harris, Bliss and Murray as catchers, with Loan or Riordan due from the Beavers.

The Portland Baseball Boosters' Club will be called to order at a luncheon-meeting at the Portland Hotel at 12:15 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The call, issued for Thursday, has been postponed a day on account of the Theatrical managers' parade.

Ex-Sheriff "Bob" Stevens, president of the "Beavercolt" boosters, will preside at the meeting, with all of his directors and committee chairman. Additional committees will be named and the work of preparing for the April 15 Pacific Coast League opening in Portland will commence.

* * *

Ennon Califf, or Ernie Califf, as he was known when performing valorously on the mound for the Portland Beavers, is confident that he will make good with the Colts this season. Califf is nearly 30 years old and has been out of the game for several years, but has been working out at Oregon City and is going to take one more whirl at the pastime.

NO BOWLERS ENTERED

VANCOUVER TOURNEY NEGLECTED BY PORTLANDERS.

Warning Is Given That This City May Lose Big Championship Tournament in 1914.

Unless Portland bowlers awaken to the situation within the next few days, not only will this city be not represented at the Vancouver, B. C., Northwest tourney of April 7-13, but Portland will not secure the 1914 tournament of the new alley organization.

With the date for the closing of entries to the Northwest competition only four days off, not one Portland team has filed entry blanks for the meet, and only one man, Tom O'Donnell, of the Meier & Frank quintet, seems to be taking an active interest in the gathering which means so much to Northwest bowlers.

"We can't send one team from Portland unless by public subscription," says O'Donnell, who plans to have a subscription list circulated about town during the next few days.

"True, the money won in the state tourney will help, but the prizes are not large enough to send the winners, particularly in the five-man team event, to Vancouver."

O'Donnell has received word from Mike Doyle, manager of the Reliance alleys in Vancouver, that the Canadians are boosting for Portland to secure the next meeting of the bowlers. However, Seattle and Spokane will be represented by from three to six teams each, and if Portland sends no teams, or only one, prospects for bringing the Northwestern champs here in 1914 are far from bright.

CRITICS SAY BUD IS BEST IN CLASS

Only Question Raised Is Anderson's Ability to Retain Strength at 133.

HOPE IS IN NEW TRAINER

Knockout Brown's Former Second in Huff Goes to Northwestern Boy's Camp in Effort to Aid in Beating New Yorker.

BY JAMES H. CASSELL.

While Bud Anderson, the Vancouver, Wash., boxer, is still characterized "the enigma of the lightweight division," De Witt Van Court, one of the best judges of fighters in the world, believes that if Anderson can enter the ring in good condition, and be at his best, he can beat any lightweight in the world. Promoter McCarey, of Los Angeles, who seldom comments on boxers, says that Bud is the greatest natural hitter of his weight in recent years, if not in the history of the game.

However, Van Court qualifies his words of praise by questioning Bud's ability to make 133 pounds and be "right," a doubt expressed by practically every Southern California critic.

But the Northwesterner has a new trainer, Earl Mohan, who will make an effort to fool Dame Nature, and send Bud into the ring for the return mill with Brown a legitimate lightweight, and not a light welter. Mohan is the chap who was in Brown's corner during the recent mill, and is credited with directing Brown in the successful efforts of the New Yorker to evade a knockout in the eleventh and twelfth rounds. Brown offered him $5 for seconding him, and then waxed liberal and boosted the prize to $10. This angered Mohan, who thought that he was entitled to more, as Brown drew over $2000 for the go, so he was more than willing to decamp to Anderson headquarters.

Training Is Criticised.

The severest criticism is directed at the training methods of Anderson, Donald's "beefsteak" alibi receiving scant consideration. Van Court, in particular, hoots at the idea of so many modern trainers of continually rubbing their charges, pointing out that the best athletes are exempt from such kindly-meant but harmful ministrations.

The following is the way McCarey sizes up Anderson:

"Anderson is, in my opinion, the greatest natural hitter in recent years, if not in the history of the game. He delivers his punches with tremendous force and with an ease that is deceiving as to the actual power behind each blow. He will be even better when he masters the art of getting his body to act in conjunction with his arms in delivering his blows."

Portland and Vancouver fans who happened to be in Vernon for the Brown-Anderson scrap, unite in declaring that Bud was "all in" before he entered the ring. One Vancouverite says that Bud was stricken with malaria, which, more than overwork in the effort to make weight easily, was responsible for his failure to stow Brown away within 12 rounds.

King Believes Weight 133.

Jack King, the Portland trainer, who is an ardent supporter of Anderson, contends that Bud is a legitimate lightweight. By that he means that the husky chap, who would be stronger naturally at 138 pounds than 133, can make 133 pounds with ease under the proper kind of training.

"It takes the right kind of a trainer, one who knows how to reduce weight without weakening his man, to put Bud in the ring at his best," says Jack. "The ring has had many men, notably Mysterious Billy Smith and Joe Gans, who took off from 12 to 30 pounds by the right kind of training. I have seen the time when Gans had hard work to make 145 pounds, yet he could make 135 and be strong, and made 133 pounds for several fights."

BEAVERS IN FINE SHAPE

M'CREDIE CONFIDENT OF WINNING SERIES FROM SEALS.

Portland Manager Still Reticent as to Regular Line-Up—Hagerman Is Promising as Opener.

STOCKTON, Cal., March 26.—(Special.)—McCredie is taking advantage of the good weather and will have his Beavers engage in two games here tomorrow. In the morning he will take his players to the State Hospital grounds for a game with the attendants, who have a fast amateur nine. In the afternoon the Portland aggregation will open a four game series against Tom Hackett's Quincy team, which promises to be hard fought, as several of the Beavers will play on the latter team, to make the affair more interesting.

McCredie is well pleased with the way his players are rounding into shape and is confident that he will win the opening series against the Seals. Today brought the best weather since the Portlanders arrived and all were in the best of spirits. All indulged in an afternoon of good practice without any mishaps. A few more days of such weather will put the team in perfect shape and as far as present indications go there will be no more rain for some time. The pitchers were all given a good workout today and none complained of soreness to any extent.

All of the twirlers are in the best of spirits and McCredie probably will not pick the opening slabster against Henley until the day of the game. At present, however, Hagerman appears to be the most promising candidate to open the season.

Although the Portland manager is still reticent as to his regular line-up, all of the positions are practically decided on except the pitchers. The recruits are all showing up well and will probably be carried for a few weeks longer, but it looks as if the regular men will appear on the batting list. There is still some doubt, however, as to whether Doane or Fitzgerald will be utility outfielder.

John L. to Referee Bout.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—John L. Sullivan, greatest of all pugilistic champions will reappear in the ring in this city next Friday night for the first time since 1886, when he knocked out "Paddy" Ryan in the third round. The old warhorse will take an active part in proceedings Friday night, but it will be as a non-combatant, for he will referee the Tommy McFarland-"Red" Watson fight. Sullivan was scheduled to reach the city today, and many of his old friends planned to accord him a reception at the station.

BILL RODGERS IS TYPIST

NO DICTATION TOO FAST FOR BEAVER CAPTAIN.

Twenty-three-Page Letters Written on Margin of Post Card to Wife, Also Stenographer.

If Bill Rodgers could run bases and gobble in grounders as fast as he can take dictation and rattle off letters on the typewriter, he would have all the major league stars shoved up an alley on Mars.

When the Beaver captain's baseball days are done he has at least two sidelines he can turn to. One is bear hunting and the other is stenographing. As a "stenog" Bill is all to the mustard. He worked for the Carnegie corporation for four years prior to entering baseball and declares he can take down the fastest conversations on record even today.

Captain Rodgers has it on his teammates in many ways. When Bill has a baseball strategic inspiration he can jot it down in less time than it takes to say book. He keeps a diary in shorthand. Another time saver. And, as Mrs. Rodgers is a devotee of the Gregg system, Bill can write a 23-page letter on the back of a postal card, cutting down expenses and saving further twists of the tiny talon.

Yes, Yawp, Yaas. Ye and likewise yes sir. Captain William Kaleidoscopic Rodgers is quite a versatile diamond star.

Bill has been playing ball only four years, breaking at Rochester for Spring training in 1909 after some highly sensational work in the Sunday leagues around Cincinnati. Rochester shunted him to Waterbury in the Connecticut State League and he played there in 1909 and 1910. McCredie drafted him for Portland in the Fall of the latter year. He is 25 years old.

This makes Rodgers' third season with the Beavers. He was the unanimous choice for the all-star second base job in 1911, but a broken ankle greatly handicapped him last season. He was not himself at all. His ankle pained him every time he slid into a bag or started or stopped suddenly. But he stuck gamely to the job. Manager McCredie realized, perhaps, better than anybody else, what a handicap his captain had been laboring under for he gave him a substantial raise in salary this season.

Bill confidently expects to have the best year in his career. His ankle is entirely healed and he is 15 pounds lighter and that should help some.

SEALS BREAK CAMP TODAY

Final Practice at Springs Won by Regulars, 12 to 2.

BOYES SPRINGS, Cal., March 26.—(Special.)—Twenty-one ballplayers will take the train back to San Francisco tomorrow afternoon, when the camp at Boyes Springs is broken for the last time. Although Howard has 24 players who will be retained for the present, he intends to let three of them stay at Boyes for a week or so for further training.

Boss Del is still of the opinion that the team is 25 per cent stronger than it was last Spring. When the inevitable "why" came along, he was prepared with his answer.

"We are stronger behind the bat and in the outfield," was his answer. "There is better team work and the men are more disposed to give their good services. I think the pitching staff is fully as good, if not better, and when the new men come along we will be much improved."

There was no practice this morning and the Seals had their last game of the training season this afternoon, when the Regulars trimmed the Yannigans to the tune of 12 to 2.

YANNIGAN ANGELS WIN, 5 TO 1

Perritt's Three-Base Drive Admitted to Be Feature of Game.

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—(Special.)—Dillon's Yannigans, headed by the Silver Eagle himself, today handed the regulars another defeat—this time by a score of 5 to 1. "Poll" Perritt twirled for the Yannigans, while "Bull" Tozer worked for the regulars. It was a seven-inning contest, Nagle relieving Perritt in the last frame.

Perritt himself said that the feature of the game was his three-base drive to left field.

Johnson, secured from the White Sox, played with the Yannigans and showed up fine. He is a fleet runner, hits the ball well and has a fine throwing arm. He cracked out two singles out of three times up. After the game Dillon had some fast infield practice.

WHITE SOX NO. 1 WIN, 7 TO 4

Venice Ball Park Dedicated to Game as Home Team Loses.

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—The new park of the Venice club of the Pacific Coast League was dedicated to baseball this afternoon, when the Venice team crossed bats with the White Sox regulars.

The Chicago aggregation was victorious oy a score of 7 to 4. The score:

The Lincoln High seniors and sophomores baseball teams engaged in a practice game Tuesday afternoon and the former came out on the long end of a 6 to 5 score. Billy Lewis, who occupied the mound for the Seniors, had little trouble in disposing of the sophomore batsmen, striking out 17 players and allowing only three hits. Earl Corwe did the twirling for the second-year men and his pitching was also notable. Coach Borleske was umpire.

The Harriman baseball aggregation will journey to Walla Walla on April 20, where they will engage in a game with the Walla Wala nine of the Tri-State League and a contest with the Pendeton team of the same league for April 13 is now being arranged for. Sol Richanbach, manager of the team, expects his aggregation to travel more mileage than any other amateur or semi-professional team in the Northwest. Sunday the Vancouver North Bank nine will be met by the Harriman players. This game will be played on the Clark County fairgrounds.

Halsey, Or., has organized a baseball team, elected officers and expects to give the many valley semi-professional teams strong competition. Clyde Stanford was elected manager. Ben G. Andy Miller, member of the Washington High baseball team for the past two seasons, was yesterday elected captain of the 1913 team at a meeting of more than 70 aspirants. Coach Earl gave the squad a short lecture and told the boys what he expected of them. The first practice will be held today.

REGULAR WOLVES DEFEATED

Yannigans Win Well-Earned Victory With Rube Peters Starring.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., March 26.—(Special.)—With both teams playing errorless ball, the Yannigans tucked away their first victory over the Regulars in the training camp of the Sacramento Wolves today. Four-to-one was the score by which the Yannigans satisfied their longing for revenge, and they had the pitching of Rube Peters to thank for the major portion of their satisfaction. Rube showed the kind of form which gave the first explanation of the season of Peters' one-time presence in the big brush.

In six innings Peters was as tight as a clam in the pinches and held the Regulars to four scattered hits. In the last three frames Johnny Williams took the mound for the Yannigans and was found for three hits and the only run which the Regulars could put over.

Two more days of training will wind up the activities of the Marysville camp and hard practice games will be on the programme for tomorrow and Friday.

Vancouver Has Game Sunday.

VANCOUVER, Wash., March 26.—(Special.)—The North Bank and the St. James Athletic Club baseball teams will open the season in Vancouver by playing a game here Sunday.

DALLAS TO MEET SILVERTON

Biggest Basketball Game of Season to Be Played Saturday Night.

DALLAS, Or., March 26.—(Special.)—Final preparations for one of the biggest and most interesting games of basketball ever played in this state have been completed, and Saturday night, March 29, the fast Dallas Oregon National Guard team will lock horns with the Silverton Giants on the McMinnville court. This promises to be a hotly contested game, for each team has won over the other.

The Commercial Club of McMinnville, through whose efforts this final game was made possible, is preparing a big reception for the visitors. A special train carrying between 500 and 1000 persons will be run from Dallas. This train will be accompanied by the Dallas band of 30 pieces and by Company G, Third Infantry, Oregon National Guard, in uniform. The band and the soldiers will parade the streets of McMinnville before the game. A special train will be run from Silverton by way of Salem and Dallas, carrying about 400 Silverton and Salem enthusiasts. Large crowds are expected from Portland and other valley points. The McMinnville Auditorium will hold about 2500 people.

REED TO HAVE ATHLETIC FIELD

Cinder Track Will Be Laid in Oval Field With Ball Park.

Plans have been made for the athletic field at Reed College and work on the grading will be started at once. The field will be oval-shaped, the larger end being 270 feet across and the smaller end 210 feet. There will be a five-lap cinder track with a 125-yard straightaway course on the west side.

The field will be large enough for a regulation baseball field inside the track. The park will be tiled and will have a 16-inch crown, insuring good drainage. For football it will be covered with sawdust, which will be removed in the Spring.

The work will be completed this Spring except for the final rolling.

For early athletics a temporary baseball diamond will be prepared south of the dormitory. A schedule is being arranged for games between the teams from the faculty, sophomores and freshmen.

There will also be a tennis tournament. The college has now two asphalt courts and it is planned to make two dirt courts as soon as possible.

Hap Myers, Spokane first-sacker with the Boston Braves, has been slow rounding into form and the other boys have the jump on him.
