OPERATIC ARMY MOVES

WORLD-FAMED ARTISTS ARE EN ROUTE TO PORTLAND.

Vast Equipment Required to Produce Masterpieces on Same Scale as in Eastern Cities.

Grand opera, presented in its most alluring form, with the greatest roster of stars ever brought to the Pacific Coast, will mark the advent of the Chicago Grand Opera Company when it opens its engagement at the Orpheum next Monday night, March 31, with "The Jewels of the Madonna."

The crowned heads of Europe could not enjoy greater magnificence of operatic production than Portland and its neighboring cities will experience for these four performances that will continue through April 2. The army of 139 artists includes 60 in the orchestra under the great conductor Campanini, over 60 principal stars, 65 in the chorus and 25 in the grand corps-de-ballet, headed by the beautiful danseuse, Rosina Galli, a Parisian favorite. The stage hands alone number 24, the electricians 13, the carpenters 6. There are managers and assistant managers, treasurers, property men, wardrobe women, librarians—in fact, the grand opera clerical equipment is equal to that of any great business establishment, and all must be reckoned with in the movement of the official operatic household.

In order to give these sumptuous productions of opera exactly as they are given in Chicago or New York, three special trains of from 12 to 14 cars each are required for the transportation of this operatic army, 13 baggage cars being necessary for the scenic equipment, properties and costumes. Each of the leading stars must have a private car equipped with all the luxuries that modern civilization and the ingenuity of man can invent.

This splendid caravan is now on its way to Portland from San Francisco, where the Chicago Grand Opera Company has just completed the most notable engagement the Pacific Coast has ever known, setting a new record for the world in the way of musical enthusiasm. Seats for all the four performances are now on sale at the Sherman Clay store, and the box office will be open there from 10 A. M. until 6 P. M. tomorrow.

Miss Nash will give her recital, "Hansel and Gretel," at the Hellig today at 2:30 P. M., to which all music-lovers are cordially invited. Admission will be free.

PAVING BIDS DUE MONDAY

PROPOSALS FOR TERWILLIGER WORK TO BE CONSIDERED.

Full Plans for Boulevard Improvement Not Worked Out and Material Problematical.

At a meeting of the Park Board Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock bids for the hard-surfacing or macadamizing of the south half of Terwilliger boulevard, in South Portland, will be opened and considered. Practically all of the paving companies have entered bids for the improvement, which will be one of the most important to be put through during the coming summer.

The specifications as presented to the various contractors are open, there being no specified class of paving or macadamizing required. The figures are to be given on the square yard basis instead of on the basis of so much for the entire improvement. As yet the full plans for the boulevard have not been worked out and it is uncertain just how wide the improved surface of the road will be. It is expected that it will at least be wider than any of the streets of the city.

The section of the boulevard to be improved is 6000 feet in length, extending from the head of Hamilton avenue, in South Portland, to the Slavin road. The boulevard follows the crest of the sidehills and when completed will be one of the most attractive and scenic driveways in the West. The second section is now being constructed from Hamilton avenue south to the sidehills to the head of Sixth street.

This work will be finished this Spring. The boulevard will then be opened from the head of Sixth street south to the Slavin road, a distance of over two miles. The construction work has been heavy, owing to the deep excavations and high bridges which have been required.

Registration Day Named.

Next Wednesday will be the day for the registering of women from the Peninsula and an effort will be made to get out every woman of that district who has not registered. The Woman's Auxiliary of the North Portland Commercial Club will have a committee of women at the Courthouse to receive and instruct women how to register. "We want every woman on the Peninsula to register," said Mrs. C. F. Nichols, president of the auxiliary, "as there are many important issues on which they will be called on to vote. We will be at the Courthouse to meet them and instruct them, if necessary."
