Astoria Physician Believes Friedmann Discovery May Prove Beneficial.

INFORMATION YET MEAGER

Of 125 Cases Followed by Oregon Representative Results Would Indicate Some Success in Treating Bone Infections.

EXTRACTS FROM DR. AUGUST M. KINNEY'S REPORT ON DR. F. FRIEDMANN.

Of 125 cases I have under observation over 100 show some improvement.

Thirty-five cases showed a slight increase in body weight, varying from three-fourths of a pound to four and one-half pounds.

The treatment may prove to be a considerable aid in certain forms of tubercular disease.

Dr. Friedmann has a pleasing personality and is a highly educated man.

I am convinced that Dr. Friedmann is sincere in his belief that he has found a valuable remedy.

It may be some time before we can make a positive statement one way or the other.

Convinced that Dr. Friedmann is sincere in his belief that he has discovered an effective treatment for tuberculosis, Dr. August M. Kinney, of Astoria, who went to New York a few weeks ago as the representative of the Oregon State Board of Health, has submitted a preliminary report of his investigations, which seems to be highly favorable to the Berlin physician.

"You will kindly accept this report as the truth of the matter as we know it up to the present time," writes Dr. Kinney. "I will probably remain in New York for some time, at the request of the members of the Oregon State Board of Health to get more definite information." His report follows:

New York City, March 27.—At the request of The Oregonian I am writing my views regarding Dr. Friedmann's new vaccine and its efficacy in the treatment of tuberculosis. Having been appointed by members of the Oregon State Board of Health to investigate Dr. Friedmann's claims, and also from the fact that my father, Dr. Alfred Kinney, and myself have for a number of years been treating tubercular cases by the use of other vaccines and methods, I was especially interested in knowing whether Dr. Friedmann's claims could be substantiated, and if so, was his vaccine superior to those which, as well as other physicians, had been using for a number of years. For these reasons I came to New York to learn all I could of the new remedy, and in an impartial manner find out the truth as to its efficacy.

Having credentials from the Oregon State Board of Health and letters of introduction to superintendents of hospitals, members of city boards of health and Government Health Service, I was enabled to gain access to the various tubercular wards of hospitals where Dr. Friedmann had patients in his care. My time for the most part has been spent in Bellevue, Mount Sinai and People's Hospitals, and in the Hospital for Crippled and Deformed, to which places I make daily visits looking over histories, charts, and making personal clinical examinations of patients treated or to be treated by Dr. Friedmann.

125 Patients Observed.

"I was especially interested in observing cases at People's Hospital, for it was here that Dr. Friedmann gave some of his earliest treatments, and, according to his claims, it appeared to me that sufficient time had now elapsed for some improvement to be in evidence. Most of the cases that I saw were directly under the observation of Drs. Stimson, Anderson and Blue, of the United States Government Service, and Drs. Park and Brennan, of the city Department of Health. In all I have had under observation 125 tubercular patients who have received Dr. Friedmann's vaccine, and close attention and careful record kept of each case. Most of these cases were incipient cases, or at least cases that had not advanced to any great extent—cases that would be most favorable for treatment. A few were well advanced, but as Dr. Friedmann does not treat this class of cases.

"In stating the general results found in cases so far observed, and still under observation, I will state that some improvement has been observed in most cases.

Mark Improvement Seen.

Of 123 patients I have under observation, over 100 show some improvement. This improvement is manifest for the most part in an amelioration of subjective symptoms, such as cough, night sweats and expectoration, and 83 cases showed a slight increase in body weight, varying from 1/4 of a pound to 4 1/2 pounds. The remaining cases showed no improvement whatever, and a few showed an accentuation of symptoms, due, perhaps, to a reaction subsequent to the injection.

Of the 125 cases seen, the majority were pulmonary, but a goodly number were cases of surgical tuberculosis (tuberculosis of joints, bone, skin, etc.). It has been in these latter cases that the greatest improvement has taken place, many of them, especially tubercular joints, showing in some cases marked improvement. In considering cases showing improvement, one must bear in mind that most of these patients were gradually improving under the usual hospital routine treatment before Dr. Friedmann's vaccine was administered. The routine hospital treatment in most cases consisted of rest, fresh air and tuberculin.

Benefit of Vaccine Predicted.

The evidence before me at the present time is almost too meager to make any definite statement regarding the real value of this new treatment. It would appear that, with our present knowledge of results that have been obtained during the short time that has elapsed since Dr. Friedmann's vaccine has been administered, the treatment may prove to be a considerable aid in certain forms of tubercular disease. However, it may be some time before we can, with any degree of certainty, make a positive statement one way or the other.

The vaccine used by Dr. Friedmann is a suspension of living tubercular bacilli in fluid. These bacteria, according to Dr. Friedmann, are rendered non-virulent (non-poisonous) to the human being by a sojourn in a cold-blooded animal, the turtle being selected as the one of choice. His method of preparation of his vaccine has not been made known, even to the Government officials, but we take it that in this respect it does not differ materially from the manner in which other vaccines are made.

"The injection is made either into a vein (intravenous) or into the muscular tissue of the thigh (intramuscular), and oftentimes he combines both methods, constituting what he terms a "stimulo-elastic" dose. The vein at the bend of the elbow is usually selected, and sometimes, especially in children, the jugular vein. These methods of administration are known to all physicians, for many other drugs are given in this manner.

It has been questioned by prominent physicians, and especially by Dr. Carl Von Ruck, of Asheville, N. C., who was recently here in New York, whether or not these living injected bacteria which at the time of injection are non-virulent (non-poisonous) to man, will not later, after a habitation in his body, become virulent to him. This remains for Dr. Friedmann to prove.

"The Government and city Board of Health physicians here are doing everything they can to give Dr. Friedmann a clear field to demonstrate this treatment. The charitable institutions have been thrown open to him, and in the selection of patients he has his choice. The very best of feeling seems to exist between Dr. Friedmann and the profession here in New York, and whatever limitations have been placed upon him have been done only with the best intention.

Vaccine Not Found Elsewhere.

"Dr. Friedmann himself has a very pleasing personality, and by conversing with him one realizes that he is conversing with a very highly educated man. I am convinced that Dr. Friedmann is sincere in his belief that he has found a valuable remedy.

FREE MARRIAGES IN SIGHT
Decision Affecting Fees May Lead to New Custom.

In discussing yesterday the decision of the Supreme Court of Oregon holding that justices of the Peace of Multnomah County legally may not keep but are not required to turn into the county treasury money received for performing marriage ceremonies, County Judge Cleston declared that he is willing to agree with the Circuit Judges that all stop marrying couples. The decision does not apply to the County Judge or the Circuit Judges.

"In view of the fact that there has been some criticism of Judges performing marriage ceremonies I am willing to agree with the Circuit Judges to one of three things: that we stop marrying altogether or perform ceremonies free or that we turn over to the County Treasurer all remuneration we receive, less the cost of certificates and other necessary stationery," said Judge Cleston. "I do not believe, though, that one should do it unless all do."

Any such agreement could not include Judge McGinn for the reason that ever since he has been on the bench he has refused to take money for performing marriage ceremonies, his position being that a Circuit Judge in Portland is entitled to his salary of $4000 a year and no other remuneration of any kind whatsoever.
