CAPTURE OF FIRST SERIES GOOD OMEN

Reliability of Portland's Staff of Pitchers Apparent in Contests With Seals.

DEFEAT OF OAKS UNLIKELY

Beavers Can Lose Three of Seven Brooklyn Athletic Club Has Seven Games This Week and Still Return to Portland With Even Break Up to Date.

While the San Francisco Seals may not be of first division caliber, Portland's feat of capturing four games of the first six away from home in the opening series of the 1913 season of the Pacific Coast League is to be considered in the light of a good omen.

The most pleasing feature of the the Pacific Coast League is to be considered in the light of a good omen.

The most pleasing feature of the Beavers' beginning is the apparent reliability of its pitching corps. Highest proof of the sinbotham won the opening game, 2 to 2, allowing but five hits; Krapp took his first start on eight hits; Hagerman set the Seals down with two lone bingles, while James eased up when his team secured a big lead for him yesterday and romped home on nine hits.

The two games lost to the Seals were taken by the close margins of 2 to 2 and 1 to 0, Carson and West both performing remarkably well for the early stage of the race. The lat-ter gave only five safetles in 12 in-

Loss of Series Probable Against the Oaks this week Portland turally can expect stiffer competition; in fact, the trans-bay bunel should take four games of the seven, playing on their own diamond. But the Beavers can lose the series, four games to three, and still come home over 500 as a result of the outcome of the with the Seals. And what more

Arlett, Delhi, McCorry and Douglass continue the foundation of a mighty sood pitching corps. In the infield Howard at first and Corhan at short do not suffer by comparison, while Johnson, the new Chicago importation, and Mundorff, in the butfield, combine great speed on the paths with rood fielding and heavy stickwork. Spencer is as good a backstop as is in the league, when he is inclined to be good, and he has been strictly on the aqua vehicle against the Beavers. The writer confidently expects the McCodiettes to present a formidable McCredieltes to present a formidable front against the Commuters in the seven-game session beginning tomor-
