

EAST SIDE PUBLIC DOCKS

Why the delay? What's the scheme? What's the game? ATTENTION, EAST SIDE MERCHANTS, JOBBERS AND SHIPPERS! It is this: "Big Business," "The Interests," certain railroads and waterfront squatters, wishing to forestall the public docks development, either for a "holdup" game or for private monopolistic purposes, are doing their utmost and damndest to delay and knock out public docks, are they not? And now certain eminent gentlemen are suggesting that the East Side sites be purchased, but that the East Side public dock in Central East Portland BE NOT BUILT. You East Side shippers watch and study this public docks question and insist that the public dock in Central East Side be built promptly. That's what we voted the bonds for. It will pay you to insist that this matter be not unduly delayed in the courts—that's what we have a City Attorney for. It will pay you to insist that our Public Docks Commission expedite the building of this East Side public dock, and that the East Side be given a square deal, in accord with their oaths of office to serve the public disinterestedly. Get busy, East Siders! It will pay you to trade on the East Side. Get the habit. Try it. Today (Wednesday) will be Bargain Day on the East Side—a bargain in each article as advertised below.

VOICED PLANS OPPOSED
Business Men and Shippers Getting Anxious to See Some Progress Made Toward Building Public Wharves.

wanted for the present tonnage and that which will come with the completion of the Panama Canal to save hauling both ways over the river bridges. That is why the dock engineers and Public Docks Commission recommended the Central East Side dock to accommodate and take care of this important East Side shipping.
"The railway tonnage statistics and data recently shown by H. A. Hinshaw, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific Company, showed that our tonnage had more than doubled in the past four years, so that this East Side dock is important as a necessity, and the East Side shippers are urging that the Dock Commission hurry up the construction of the public docks for the East Side as promised and planned.
"It should not take five or six years to build and get the first East Side docks ready. More than two years have passed and the suits are still dragging in the courts. We are urging that the City Attorney have these suits expedited and forwarded in every possible way for the benefit and convenience of the shippers on both sides of the river."
Committee of Five Named.
The resolutions which were adopted at the last meeting of the Greater East Side Club provided for the appointment of a special committee of five to take up the East Side dock question and urge upon the Dock Commission the importance of the early construction of the East Side docks. This committee was also authorized to take whatever steps it may see fit to protect the public in the water front question and to initiate a measure if necessary.
"With the development of the agricultural implements district," said L. M. Lepper, "and the prospective railroad development on the East Side we must have these docks, not at some remote time, but as soon as they can be built."
"A. M. Mulcahy, assistant freight agent of the Southern Pacific Railway, said in a recent address that the freight handled on the East Side had increased 35 per cent in four years' time, jumping from 944 cars handled in 1908 to 3144 cars handled in 1911, and probably 4000 cars at the present time. Then why hold off the construction of the East Side docks?"
Dock Committee Active.
The dock committee from the East Side Club declared that the tonnage which comes to Portland by water. These East Side docks are the carrying on of the charitable work done at the home. The Dorcas Society mends all children's and women's garments and the men's clothes are repaired by the boys in the home. Housewives, who are cleaning out attics and cupboards, are requested to bear the Pisgah Home in mind. The institution is located at Ninth avenue and Nelson street, Lents. Phone Tabor 2192.

SPRING PRESBYTERY OPENS
Reports on Sunday School Work Show Gains for Year.
The Spring meeting of Portland Presbytery opened yesterday afternoon in the Third Presbyterian Church, East Thirteenth and East Pine streets, with Rev. Boudinot Seely as moderator, Rev. J. A. P. McGaw is the clerk and Rev. Harry Leeds assistant clerk.
Rev. J. R. Landsborough, chairman, reported on the Sunday school work, showing gains throughout Presbytery. Eighteen Sunday schools made a gain of 1900 members, and 23 Sunday schools showed a membership of 4454 for the past year, whereas the same schools showed a membership of 3483 for former year. The financial report showed some gains.
The Presbytery dismissed C. B. Hukon from the Portland to the Yukon Presbytery, and his certificate was issued to that effect.
The Home Mission committee report was made a special order for this morning at 9:30 o'clock.
A home mission meeting was held last night. Rev. J. H. Boyd, Rev. Henry Marcotte, Rev. S. W. Seaman, Rev. A. W. Reinhart and others were the speakers, who dwelt on the need of expansion in home mission lines to meet the coming developments on the Pacific Coast.
Sewer Laid to Drain Asylum Springs.
A large sewer is being laid to drain Asylum Springs and take care of the overflow. The sewer will be laid from the springs northward to East Main street, to connect with the large Sunnyside sewer conduit. The water is being taken care of in order to permit the filling of the ravine northward from East Salmon street by the Pacific Bridge Company. The company has completed a railway spur from Grand avenue to the ravine to be filled.

CHANGE NOW OPPOSED
LAURELHURST AND SUNNYSIDE CLUBS DETERMINED.
Retention of Present Contour and Natural Growth of Tract in Laurelhurst Park Is Advised.
The Laurelhurst and Sunnyside Clubs are opposed to any change of the original plans for the development of the Laurelhurst Park, and want to retain the present contour and natural growth on the tract. This plan proposes a lake development. The landscape is to be preserved.
The trees are to be kept intact according to these plans. All buildings would be secondary to the landscape. The crowning glory of the park is the grove of trees, handsome fire. The uneven, undulating surface would be retained. According to this plan, no attempt was made to develop a playground in the park.
According to this plan, the playground feature will be subordinate, though minor play features such as sand courts, wading pools, croquet, bowling greens will be retained. Were a playground placed in the park it would occupy the lake space.
These plans were adopted. It has been proposed to change them and establish regular playgrounds, swimming pools and baseball ground.
These changes are objected to by the Laurelhurst and Sunnyside clubs, and in lieu these clubs propose that the tier of blocks between the Laurelhurst Park and East Stark street be purchased and occupied by baseball and playgrounds, swimming pools and auditorium.
It is urged that this plan can be used on these vacant blocks without disturbing the original beauty of the Laurelhurst Park. That a playground must be provided for this district is conceded. There is no playground at Sunnyside. There is no space for the Sunnyside children. They play in the street mainly.
Principal Edward Curtis says that a playground is a necessity for that district and he is anxious that one should be established in the Sunnyside district, either on the vacant blocks south of the present park tract or on some other grounds nearby. The Sunnyside Improvement Club will pull for playgrounds for the present and the future.

RALLY CLOSERS BIG MEETING
Congregational Association Holds Conference on East Side.
The seventeenth annual meeting of the Portland Association of Congregational Churches opened yesterday in the Atkinson Memorial Church, East Couch and East Twenty-ninth streets, with many of the Portland Congregational ministers present. The general theme for discussion was "The Church and the Kingdom of God." Rev. J. M. Lovden gave the explanatory address on this subject. "The Church as a Social Center" was discussed by Rev. E. A. Harris, and Rev. H. E. Colter spoke on the topic, "The Church and the Men of the Community." Rev. J. J. Staub delivered an address on the subject, "The Church in its Administrative Functions."
These topics were discussed by the ministers and laymen. Dinanar was served at 6:15 in the church. Rev. W. C. K. Antner delivered the association sermon last night. The association will be in session all today and close tonight with a Christian Endeavor rally in charge of Clarence Sprague.
FACTORY WILL COST $50,000
Modern Confectionery Company Plans East Side Plant.
The Modern Confectionery Company has closed a contract with the Investors' Building & Trust Company for the erection of a five-story modern factory building to be built at the southwest corner of East Eleventh and East Plender streets. It will be of heavy mill construction and cost approximately $50,000. Every modern sanitary feature will be installed.
R. F. Wassell & Company have started work on a modern apartment-house at the southwest corner of East Morrison and East Thirteenth streets at a cost of $95,000. It will be one of the finest apartment buildings erected on the East Side. It will cover the quarter block. Excavating has been started for the foundation of the building.
Funeral of Old Resident Held.
The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Dean, who died April 13, was held yesterday in the Portland Crematorium, under the suspicion of Acme Rebecca Lodge, I. O. O. F. Mrs. Dean was 79 years and 9 months old. She and her husband came to Portland in 1873. He died in 1907. One daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Hague, living at 4529 East Fifty-ninth street, South East Side, survives.

Lents Oddfellows Entertain.
Samaritan Lodge No. 2, L. O. O. F., officers and members, attended the meeting of the Mount Scott Lodge, No. 188, in the Lents Grange Hall, where a large class was given the third degree. A large delegation from other Portland lodges attended and assisted in the ceremonies. The visitors were given a reception and refreshments were served.
Commission Government Discussed.
C. C. Hall addressed the Mount Scott Improvement Club Monday at the Annual Presbyterian Church on "Commission Government" and answered many questions. There was much interest shown. The questions covered the points which Gay Lombard and others have raised.
