LANE DICTATES PATRONAGE

Theory Is That Senior Senator, Fearing Defeat, if Candidate Again, Pays No Heed to Fences but Appointive Post Has Lure.

"Why has George E. Chamberlain, "Why has George E. Chamberlain. senior Democratic United States Senator from Oregon, allowed Harry Lane. FUND IS UP TO $14,070 junior Democratic United States Senator from this state, to dictate all or nearly all of the Federal appointments

"Because Chamberlain scents defeat, should be become a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate again, and he has decided to 'lay hold' of a life job of an appointive nature and therefore has lost all interest in Oregon patronage."

Is believed that Senator Chamberlain has lain down, as his Portland Democratic "friends" say, because he is afraid he cannot be elected to the Senate again, and because he can get a life position at a good salary from the Administration pie counter and he intends to take it. That he is slated for the

"The first year's report," said H. H.
Herdman, Jr., president of the associa-

If anyone thinks for a moment that the situation at Washington has been passed up without notice by Portiand and Oregon Democrats, another guess is due. Nominations that have been sent to the Senate by the Oregon delegation have brought about the finest little underground fight that has developed in the party, now in power. It for a decade. Men who supported the ticket from A to Z during the late campaign, giving generously of their time and talent in behalf of Woodrow Wilson, Lane and others, and who have been "turned down" by the delegation for coveted Federal appointments, are about as "sore" as one could imagine. If anyone thinks for a moment that ties.

"Myers? Why, he comes from Wash-Ingion County, is a merchandise broker or something like that, and never was heard of before the Lane campaign."

Confirmation May Be Fought. Possibly true, but now Myers is serv-ing as Lane's private secretary and his nomination to the position of postmas-ter of Portland is lying in the Senate. likely to be acted upon at any time, although there is a possible fight com-ing on the confirmation of it. Then there is the place of Collector

Then there is the place of Collector of Customs at Portland, probably the next best job at the disposal of the delegation, or, at least, as good as the United States District Attorneyship or the Appraiser of Customs. Who is to get that? A Chamberlain man? Not so. T. C. Burke, of Baker, is slated. He is not specially an enemy of Chamber-lain, to be sure, but he is a mighty good friend of Lane. Meanwhile Milton A Miller, of Lebanon, avowed canfidate for Collector, is nominated for Appraiser, and in this alone local Democrate see a faint ray of Chamberlain is they really think that, possibly, OREGON CITY, April 17—(Special). Ism; they really think that, possibly, Chamberlain did look after Miller to the extent of suggesting to Lane that Miller would be a good man for Ap-praiser. And it looks as though Lane would kindly consent to have Miller nominated for that place,

Montag Lane's Friend

As for the District Attorneyship, there seems absolutely no question whatever that Lane selected Clarence L. Reames, of Medford, who by the way, is Lane's cousin. A month ago one could not have obtained a wager that anyone save Bert E. Haney, state chairman of the Democratic central committee, would land this place. He made no active campaign to get it, but his friends told him that it was virtually a foregone conclusion; that Chamberlain would insist upon his appointment. But Reames is nominated and Haney is left out. Portland Deep. ocrats declare that Lane did it.

Now, knowing George E. Chamber-lain as well as they do, Democrats hereabouts decline to believe that one o young at the Senatorial game as all of these appointments if Chamber-lain really cared; that Chamberlain ain really cared; that Chamberlain himself would have something to say, especially if he intended to come to gon and enter the race for re-elecat the next state tryout. And so have just about concluded that he s not going to run at all and that he

The purpose of paying annuities to persons who serve as teachers in the public schools of School District No. 1, and who have retired after 80 years' of service in the school room. Unlike some similar associations in other states, this organization is, to a great extent, supported by the teachers of the city, who pay to the fund monthly dues. The nayment of such Lane's Authority Conceded monthly dues. The payment of such dues entitles them to the assurance of you can find none to dispute. That Chamberlain is not interfering with of their service in the schools. The him is likewise conceded. This being to take it. That he is slated for the United States Court of Appeals, Western Division, is accepted as almost acceptantly, although it is not definite, but it is certain that he can have almost any position he wants for the asking. He stands high with the powers that be in Washington and, it is known, could have been nominated for the Vice-Presidency at Baltimore, but declined it on the ground of inability to maintain the social position on account of limited financial means.
