

PUBLIC RESPONDS TO SUMMER'S CALL

Thousands Bask in Sunshine and Shade of City's Scattered Playgrounds.

RIVERS MECCA FOR MANY

Picnic Parties, Anglers, Motorists and Others on Pleasure Bent Bask in Ideal Weather From Early Morn to Dewy Eve.

Portland yesterday basked in the splendor of an ideal summer day. Parks, playgrounds and other recreation places took on all the aspects of early summer; the river was dotted with pleasure craft; streetcars and trains were crowded with pleasure seekers bound for the numerous suburban breathing spots; the river banks were crowded with people; the trout streams about the city were lined with fishermen; thousands of people went to the city parks to enjoy the beauty and fragrance of flowers, shrubbery and trees; thousands more sought the shade and freshness of the other parks. It was real summer weather and there were real summer crowds.

Peek-a-boo shirtwaists, summer dresses, straw hats, ice cream suits, vari-colored silk parasols and all the other trills of the sunny season were in evidence. Furs were artfully missing in the crowds; there were no overcoats, even after the sun went down and the trusty old umbrella was left at home. It was real summer and even the dress trills of Springtime seemed out of place.

Fishermen Are Proliferous.

The morning was bright and clear and in genuine summer fashion brought the crowds out early. The first of the interurban cars and trains were crowded with happy people headed down with lunch baskets and other outing necessities. They deserted the cars at various places along the lines and retired to the cool, shady nooks along mountain streams or to the banks of the river. Hundreds of fishermen lined the various trout streams and spent an enjoyable day testing wits with the fish. Many good catches were reported. Many of the anglers left the city Saturday and were on the fishing grounds with the break of day. Others went by automobile early yesterday.

The most attractive place for the greatest number during the day was City Park. From the time the sun cast its first rays on the maze of flowers, trees and shrubbery comprising the park, until darkness fell, there was a steady influx of comfort and pleasure seekers. The benches were lined with people basking in the sunshine in some places and in the shade in others. Both were equally comfortable and soothing.

Pop Booths Patronized.

On the lawns were hundreds of people enjoying the natural splendor and fragrance. Many people had hammocks swung between trees. The ice cream and soda pop booths did a rushing business, as did the several sanitary drinking fountains scattered about the grounds.

The zoo was the scene of unusual attraction. Thousands of people lined the fences before the cages and watched the animals, who also seemed to enjoy the opening of the summer season. The monkeys, the African lions, the fancy birds, the polar bear and the elk and deer were the chief centers of attraction among the animals.

The day marked the real opening of the boating season. The river was thickly dotted with various kinds of boats including canoes, rowboats, motorboats, launches, yachts and rowboats. From the mouth of the Columbia to Oregon City the craft could be seen carrying loads of young people enjoying the natural splendor of the river.

The various parks on the East Side were well patronized. Hundreds of people enjoyed cool spots under the trees and on the benches. The children's playgrounds, too, attracted large crowds.

Motorists Out in Force.

Automobiles were out in full force. Thousands of cars filled with pleasure seekers chugged over the drives and boulevards in and about the city. One of the most heavily traveled highways was Macadam road and Pacific highway between Portland and Oswego. Hundreds of machines went over the course. Hundreds of drivers took their city one-way drives on the East Side, while many chose East Side routes.

The warmth of the sunshine caused a temporary tie-up of the Fulton streetcar line. Heavy rains, which were laid preparatory to the paving of Corbett street, expanded and caused the track to bulge out of its course about three feet near the corner of Corbett and Boundary streets, bent into a semi-circle, carrying ties and track out of their course. A force of workmen, hurriedly sent to the scene, repaired the damage. Car service was only temporarily impeded.

BIRD LECTURE ANNOUNCED

Variety of Addresses to Be Heard at Libraries During Week.

William Rogers Lord will lecture on "Birds of Oregon" at the East Portland branch library, East Eleventh and East Alder streets, on Thursday, May 1, at 8 p. m. The lecture will be illustrated with stereoscopic views. Mr. Lord is a well-known authority on this subject and is the author of several works on bird life.

Richard W. Montague will lecture Wednesday, April 23, at 8 p. m. on the commission charter at the North Portland branch library, 190 East Killingsworth avenue, corner of Commercial street. This lecture will be repeated at the Albina branch library, 250 Knott street, on Friday, April 25.

Dr. C. H. Chapman will lecture on the commission form of government at the East Portland branch library, East Eleventh and East Alder streets, tomorrow, at 8 p. m.

Professor Irving will give his next lecture in the course on government and political problems at the North Portland branch library tomorrow, at 8 p. m. His subject will be direct legislation.

Port Dispute Put Up to Court.

SALEM, Or., April 20.—(Special.)—Attorney-General Crawford today did not answer whether uplands created from tidelands by work of the Port of Portland Commission would vest the title to the land in the port or with the Eastern & Western Lumber Company, the work to be done along the shore abutting on that company's property. He suggested that the court would be the proper place to determine this question.

Mrs. D. C. Burns will receive at the Baby Home tomorrow from 11 to 4 o'clock. Visitors will be welcomed.

Mrs. George G. Flanders will entertain on Thursday, April 24, at an elaborate tea.

Mrs. M. C. Banfield will preside at a bridge tea on April 23. Both affairs are being anticipated by society.

Music lovers of the smart set are looking forward to the recital which is to be given on Friday night at St. Mary's Academy and College. A brilliant program is promised and the affair will be one of the artistic events of the season. Josephine Albehoff, Marie Chapman and Josephine Wagner, assisted by the senior music students of the school will provide the principal part of the evening's entertainment.

Miss Marguerite Mary O'Loughlin and Thomas Bernard Johnston were married Tuesday morning last at a pretty wedding service with Rev. Father James B. Fitzpatrick officiating. The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin, made an train and ornamented with pearls. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth O'Loughlin as maid of honor. L. C. Westbrook was best man. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will be at home to their friends May 1. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. O'Loughlin, of 1214 East Everett street, Laurelhurst.

PORTLAND MEN ON LIST

MANY WILL AID IN CHARITIES CONFERENCE AT SEATTLE.

Places on Important Committees Given to Oregon Representatives for National Meet.

Many Portland people are represented on the National committee which will work at the National Conference of Charities and Corrections which meets in Seattle July 5-12.

Of particular importance in the conference will be the consideration of the immigration question in view of the approaching completion of the Panama Canal. The chairman of the National committee on this subject is Graham E. Taylor, of New York, and Jane Addams is also a member. Oregon will be represented in this committee by C. C. Chapman, of the State Immigration Bureau, and Rabbi Jonah B. Wise.

Father E. V. O'Hara and Rev. H. R. Talbot will represent Oregon on the National committee on church and social work, and Mrs. Millie E. Trumbull on the National committee on standards of living and labor.

On a new committee which will be active for the first time at the coming convention, the committee on relation of commercial organizations and social welfare, the Oregon representatives are I. N. Fleischner, E. C. Giltner and E. C. Ensign.

L. H. Weir, field secretary for the Portland branch of the National Playground and Recreation Association, is on the committee on program and organization, and V. R. Manning will represent Oregon on the National committee on families and neighborhoods.

Mileage to Be Checked Up.

OLYMPIA, Wash., April 20.—(Special.)—Hereafter every state official who uses a state mileage book in traveling about the state in the discharge of his duties or otherwise must present to the State auditor a statement of his actual trips, when he is present, where he stopped, how long, and all detail of the use of his mileage. This is done in order to give the State Auditor a chance to check up exactly on the mileage used.

Nyssa Cows Bring $108 Each.

NYSSA, Or., April 20.—(Special.)—At his auction sale last Wednesday Ira Rulledge, who recently sold his 30-acre farm to Mr. Conant, of Washington, for $240 an acre, disposed of 14 milk cows at an average of $108 a head. They were Jerseys, but the stock was not extraordinary. The line of cheese factories being erected throughout the valley is responsible for the high price.

MANY WILL AID IN CHARITIES CONFERENCE AT SEATTLE.

Places on Important Committees Given to Oregon Representatives for National Meet.

BOISE, Idaho, April 20.—(Special.)—The factional fight that is being waged in Idaho among leading Democrats has already had enough impact to be carried to President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan, and the Commoner has been forced to follow out the edict issued by the President that the Idaho factions must smother the pipe of peace before the Federal Republic is organized. In the meantime, Republican Federal office holders are still enjoying salaries at the rate of about $100,000 a year.

Ex-United States senators Kirtland I. Perky and Fred T. Dubois and State Chairman Ben R. Gray are now in Washington endeavoring to get control of the Idaho patronage. All three have been unsuccessful as the attempt made, at the recent Jeffersonian meeting in this city to harmonize the conservative and progressive Democrats. National Committee Chairman Elder, now in Coeur d'Alene, recently was in Washington. Reports received by party leaders here indicate that Committee Chairman Elder and State Chairman Gray were kept busy "knocking" the slates which each submitted for consideration for Federal office in Idaho. It is said the process of knocking became so persistent that members of the President's Cabinet were drawn into the trouble. This is how William Jennings Bryan happened to come out and endorse Elder and his plans.

The posts of United States District Attorney and his assistant and the United States Marshal are ready to be filled. Curg H. Lingenfelter is Idaho's District Attorney. With the office goes a salary of $1000 a year. F. E. Cavanaugh, his assistant, is paid more than half that amount. Both are slated to go. But while the Democrats are airing their factional differences the Republican office holders are receiving the salaries. The same thing is true of United States Marshal Shad Rodgkins. State Chairman Gray wants the job. So does Harry Fulton, of Boise. Both belong to different Democratic factions.

The post of Receiver of the Blackfoot land office is also open. J. J. Guheen, ex-Receiver at Blackfoot, accepted the appointment of assistant Attorney-General of Idaho almost five months ago, yet the position is vacant.

When the Democrats gathered recently to celebrate the anniversary of Jefferson's birthday there was a great deal of secrecy over who had called the meeting. Fred Flood, private secretary to Governor Hasting, was accused of doing it. Lack of harmony prevailed throughout the meeting.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Suffered Three Years. Used Resinol. Now Not a Pimple To Be Seen.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 27, 1912. "I had been troubled for the past three years with pimples which completely covered my face and neck. The pimples would come out, fester up and cause me to pick at them, feeling very uncomfortable. I tried most all kinds of facial creams, but with no effect. I tried a sample of Resinol Soap and Ointment, and noticed instant relief. I bought Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment and began the treatment. After using two jars of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, there was not a pimple to be seen, and now my face is as smooth as if there was never a pimple on it." (Signed) Albert Greenburg, 4167 Frankford Ave.

For eighteen years Resinol has been a favorite doctor's prescription and household remedy for itching troubles, skin eruptions, dandruff, chapped faces and hands, sores, piles, etc. Stops itching instantly. Sold by all druggists, Resinol Soap, 25c, Ointment, 50c, and $1.00, but you can try them without cost—just write for samples to Resinol Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.
