Its nearest competitor of Pacific Coast companies has $2,124,000 less insurance in force in Oregon than Oregon Life. ARMED BURGLAR FACED

CONTRACTOR MEETS INTRUDER LEAVING HOUSE. "Visitor" Protests Innocence, but Flees When Mr. Marshall Steps Inside to Deposit Package.

Facing an armed burglar whom he encountered just as the intruder was leaving his house, R. A. Marshall, a contractor, parleyed with the man Saturday night, looking for an opening to effect a capture. The prowler "sat in the garage quite coolly and seemed as anxious as his interceptor to find some peaceful way out, though all the time he held a loaded revolver under an overcoat and in his hand a Farrington night stick. When the contractor finally broke the robber took to his heels, with his victim in pursuit until the fugitive was lost in the shades of the night.

Mr. Marshall, who keeps bachelor's hall in his concrete house at 658 Multnomah street, on the edge of the gulch, had been in the house about ten minutes when a stranger stepped out on the porch. "What are you doing here?" queried Mr. Marshall.

"I just dropped in to see a man," said the stranger, who was well dressed. "I think," said the owner of the premises, "that you broke into the house."

The stranger protested his innocence and offered to conduct his questioner to a place near by, where he said he lived. Marshall accepted the offer, but as he stepped inside the door to lay down a package, the intruder fled and made good his escape by breaking a back window, but nothing was missed when the premises were examined.

EMPLOYEE SEATTLE MILLS BELIEVES IN GOLDEN RULE

Mr. D. R. Smith Tried Plant Juice and Found It So Good Bought a Bottle for His Sick Friend.

Mr. D. R. Smith, who lives at 2533 West Fifty-ninth street, in Seattle, is an employe in the mills and there and has lived in that town since 1892. He told the following interesting story about the new tonic, Plant Juice, that is being introduced here through the Owl Drug-store at Seventh and Washington streets:

"I am buying this bottle of Plant Juice for a friend of mine," he said. "He has the rheumatism and I have great faith in this helping him. I used it myself for stomach and kidney troubles with good results. I never had any appetite, my kidneys were getting weak and I was afraid of rheumatism. Plant Juice has given me a good appetite and my food digests perfectly, my kidneys are getting all right also, and I think it is the best Spring tonic that can be found."

As a general Spring tonic, vitalizer and system builder, Plant Juice is without an equal on the market today. It replaces weakness and depression with energy and vigor. It clears the blood of all poisons, dissolves uric acid, and thus cures rheumatism, soothes and heals diseased kidneys. If you suffer from pains across the back, if the urine is too highly colored or too scanty, if you have dull headaches with a heavy look across the eyes, soreness in the joints, indigestion, no appetite, with gas and bloating after meals, sour stomach, coated tongue and foul breath, if you wake up in the morning with a heavy head, with no energy or ambition, then you need Plant Juice to put you right. Get a bottle today from the Plant Juice man at The Owl Drug Co., at Seventh and Washington streets. It does not help you will refund your money.

covered, and this will be canvassed during the ensuing week. It was thought at first that $10,000 would be sufficient, but after thorough consideration the mark was raised to $15,000, owing to the development of the district and the demand for more space in the church building. This is a community church, although under Presbyterian domination.

The same method of canvassing used last week will be followed this week, by visiting the district and teams working.

BUDGET PLAN CRITICISED

INFORMATION GIVEN OUT DECLARED TOO MEAGER. Scientific Estimating of Expenses Said to Be Handicapped by Present City Charter.

The method of preparing the annual budget in Portland is declared to be exceedingly poor and unscientific in a report of the New York Bureau of Municipal Research.

"Wrong budget-making," says the report, "is a chief sin of inefficient government. Although the making of the city's budget is the most important annual governmental event of the year to citizens of Portland, and the business of the Council provides no means for informing the public what is intended to be done, what is going on during the actual making of the budget, or what the result will be, action is finally taken."

The world has passed through three great revolutions, and is now passing through a fourth. The ideas which set in motion all of these revolutions came originally from the teachings of the New Testament. The revival of learning, the revolution in the struggle for religious freedom and the revolution toward political freedom are the first three. We are now in the midst of a great social and economic revolution, and the fundamental ideas which inspire it come from the Bible.
