

STRIKERS FAIL TO DETAIN LATOUCHE

Wireless Operator Leaves as Steamer Is Preparing to Cast Off.

PLACE PROMPTLY FILLED

Students in Electrical Department of Oregon Agricultural College Drop Promising Careers to Follow Lure of Sea Life.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 8.—An attempt of striking wireless operators to delay the departure of the freight steamer Latouche for Southwestern Alaska failed today. Just as the Latouche was preparing to cast off one of the wireless operators walked down the gangplank and quit the ship.

The loss of the operator did not delay the Latouche, though, for the next minute a non-union operator stepped out of a taxicab and went aboard and the steamer was on her way within five minutes.

The Astoria shore station of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, which was closed to commercial business several days ago because of the strike, was fully manned and reopened today.

The mystery of where the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company had promptly secured qualified wireless operators to replace strikers on steamships operating on the Pacific Ocean was partially solved tonight when it was learned that a group of students in the electrical engineering department of the Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis, Or., had left college to become wireless operators.

These students, who were capable of passing all the tests necessary to obtain Government licenses. The authorities of Corvallis tried to dissuade the young men from dropping their college careers to follow the lure of the sea, but the offers of the company proved too strong.

SEED CORN DISTRIBUTED
Many Farmers Showing Interest in O.-W. R. & N. Campaign.

THE DALLES, Or., May 8.—(Special.)—C. L. ("Farmer") Smith, agricultural expert for the O.-W. R. & N. Campaign, passed today in the city distributing seed corn to the farmers who made application for seed offered by the railroad which is carrying on an extensive campaign to promote the corn-raising industry along the road.

Thirty requests were received from people in The Dalles, and Mr. Smith found many others from ranchers of Mosier, John Day, Condon, Wasco, Moro and other points in this section of the state. The agriculturist sent out 300 sacks, each weighing 12 pounds, from The Dalles today. He just completed a large distribution at North Yakima, Wash.

When asked whether the corn-raising campaign had come up to expectations, he exclaimed: "Expectations! Goodness gracious, we have had three times the number of answers expected, this being the first year of the campaign."

RAILROAD IS AMERCED $800
D.-W. R. & N. Is Penalized for Violating 28-Hour Law.

The O.-W. R. & N. Company, convicted on seven counts in the United States District Court of violating the 28-hour stock-shipping law, was fined $800 by a verdict returned yesterday morning. Another case against the same company on the same charge was tried in the afternoon. There was but one count and the company was acquitted.

The attorneys for the railroad in their defense alleged that the breaking down of an engine and a consequent four-hour delay was the cause of their infraction of the law in this instance. The law requires that stock shall not be kept in cars in shipment for longer than 28 hours, except by consent of the owner, in which case they may be kept in the cars 48 hours without unloading.

OBJECTION IS EXPENSIVE
Divorce's Complaint to Paying Alimony Costs $1750.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 8.—(Special.)—James Masterson, 80 years old, who was yesterday divorced from his wife, Cora, 26 years old, objected in court to the amount of alimony which had been fixed. He thought $3000 was excessive.

Superior Judge Dykeman reconsidered the matter, and after a few minutes announced that $2000 was wrong; it should have been $4500. He therefore fixed the alimony at that amount, with $250 attorney's fees.

AUTO POWER RUNS PRESS
Klamath Falls Newspaper Men Not Beaten by Electrical Failure.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., May 8.—Lights and power failed in Klamath Falls last night and for 12 hours the town was without electricity. In the absence of power a local newspaper force tore a hole through the brick wall of the composing room, backed an automobile in and hitched it to one of the presses and the paper was issued only two hours late.

IRISH CENSUS SHOWS LOSS
Emigration Since 1851 Reaches Aggregate of 4,247,360.

The general report on the census of Ireland has been issued. The population of Ireland, according to a census taken in April, 1911, was 4,390,219 (2,192,948 males and 2,197,271 females), as compared with 4,458,775 in 1901, a decrease of 1.54 per cent. The province of Leinster, with a population of 1,622,844, shows an increase of 9214. For the other provinces the populations are as follows: the decreases being given parenthetically: Munster, 1,025,498 (44,693); Ulster, 1,881,695 (1130); Connaught, 610,954 (25,548). One province only—Leinster—shows an increase of .8 per cent. Of the total number of families in the country—the average number of persons in each family being 4.7—173 occupied part of one room only; 58,250 families, or 5.4 per cent of the total, occupied one room; 194,135, or 21.3 per cent, occupied two rooms, and 238,584, or 25.1 per cent, occupied three rooms. In 3466 cases one-roomed tenements were occupied by five, six or seven persons, and in 1957 cases the occupants of a single room exceeded seven in number, there being 28 cases of a dozen or more persons occupying one room.

The number of Irish-speaking persons was 582,448, or 13.2 per cent of the total population. Of these 16,573 could speak Irish only and 565,875 could speak Irish and English.

The number of natives of Ireland who left the country during the last decennial period with the intention of permanently settling elsewhere amounted to 245,159—171,875 males and 73,284 females.

The pauper returns show a big decrease. In 1901 there were 101,297 in receipt of Poor Law relief, while in 1911 the number was 77,134. The marriages registered during the 10 years number 227,628, while in the same period there were 1,023,211 births. The deaths during the decennial numbered 764,811, an average annual rate of 17.3 per 1000.

A table of religions shows that 2,242,570 are Roman Catholics, 576,511 are Protestant Episcopalians, 440,535 are Presbyterians and 62,352 are Methodists, while 65,682 belong to other denominations.

Since the enumeration of Irish emigrants began on May 1, 1851, 4,247,360 Irish people have emigrated.

TACOMA MAY OWN LINE

VOTERS TO DECIDE MATTER OF CITY-OWNED TROLLEYS.

Passage of Proposed Bond Issue Expected to Be Followed by Fare Complications.

TACOMA, Wash., May 8.—(Special.)—The matter of a municipally-owned streetcar line is one of the questions to be decided by Tacoma voters Saturday. Of an estimated total of 30,000 voters in the city, only 13,845 are registered and will decide the proposed bond issue of $157,000 for building and equipping a carline across the new Lincoln bridge to the tidelands. Proposed bond issues for sewers, a municipal farm and street improvements, aggregating $225,000, also will be decided. Of this amount $102,000 is to build sewerage in the South Tacoma district; $15,000 for the farm and $18,000 for the Puyallup Hill road.

The proposed municipal carline had developed a lot of strife among members of the City Commission, among improvement clubs and among the 6000 factory and mill workers who walk across the Lincoln bridge daily to and from their work.

The City Commissioners say that the proposed carline will be a losing venture for some years. It was thought it might be possible for the city to build the line and lease it to the Tacoma Railway & Power Company, $15,000 annual rental being asked. The corporation was not looking for lodgings, however, and turned down all the propositions made by the Commissioners.

There seems to have been an increasing sentiment in the city against more bond issues and increasing the city's debt. Whether this sentiment is among registered or non-registered voters remains to be seen. It is expected that the Socialists will vote for the streetcar bonds.

Boosters to Work for Bridge.
The South Portland Boosters, at their meeting last night in St. Lawrence Hall, Third and Sherman streets, discussed the proposed South Portland bridge to be placed on the ballot at the June election. A joint bridge committee of the Southeast and Southwest Improvement Clubs will have charge of the campaign. The boosters are active in the cleaning movement, bettering conditions around the gutches. A resolution was adopted urging George B. Thomas to make the race for Commissioner under the new charter, the club pledging its support.

Y. M. C. A. Men Attend Meet.

The sessions will be held today and tomorrow. Mr. Griley will read a paper on "The Relation of the Mind to Physical Exercise."

O'HARA WATCHFUL FEARING 'FRAME-UP'

Witness Says Illinois Lieutenant-Governor Expected to Be Tricked.

HOTEL REGISTER IS FOUND

Affidavit Accusing Vice-Investigator of Immorality Produced on Demand—Alibi to Be Offered as Defense.

CHICAGO, May 8.—That Lieutenant-Governor O'Hara, who recently became prominent because of his connection with the Illinois Senate vice inquiry, feared a "frame-up" and was on his guard against it, was the burden of the statement made today by a man who was with O'Hara the night he is accused of having miscondacted himself. It became known that O'Hara contends that his defense will be that he has a "perfect alibi."

The affidavit offered by Deputy Sheriff Sullivan, accusing O'Hara, was produced today on O'Hara's demand. It proved to be signed by Maud Robinson, a Springfield woman. It declared that one night last January O'Hara and a prominent young woman of Springfield registered at the Hotel Sherman as "T. Duncan and wife." A Springfield millionaire and another woman, said to have registered as "J. J. Miller and wife," are alleged to have shared the "Duncan" suite.

O'Hara on Guard, Says Bailiff.
Harry Gibbons, a court bailiff in Chicago, said today he was with O'Hara here on the night of January 17, when "Duncan" and "Miller" registered at the Hotel Sherman.

"I and O'Hara had been together during the afternoon," said Gibbons, "and in the evening we went to the cafe of the Hotel Sherman. There we met Tom Vredenberg, of Springfield, and two of his girl friends. O'Hara was afraid some one might try to make the party the nucleus of some 'frame-up' and was particularly in asking me to stick along. He didn't want to be of the party, anyway, and was anxious to get away. He went to the Lamb's Club after that and O'Hara said: 'Harry, stick with me and make it easy for me to break away from this.'"

"We left about midnight. Vredenberg and the girls crossed the street toward the hotel and O'Hara, who said he was going to the Press Club, started in that direction. I then went home."

Writing Not Similar.
Gibbons said that O'Hara met Vredenberg through renting a house from him at Springfield. They did not seem to be particularly friendly, he added.

At Springfield today, O'Hara told friends of the dinner party in Chicago. He added that he had an unquestioned alibi. Vredenberg said he might have something to say later.

Comparison of the handwritings of "Duncan" and "Miller" by an expert this afternoon showed no similarity to that of O'Hara.

RESTRICTION IS FAVORED

COMMITTEE WOULD BAN NEWS-BOYS UNDER 10 YEARS.

Ordinance Prohibiting Little Fellows and Fixing Hours for Others Recommended.

If the City Council at its next meeting upholds the license committee in action taken yesterday it will be unlawful for the middle of next month for boys under 10 years of age to sell newspapers or commodities of any kind on the streets of Portland. It will be unlawful for boys under 16 to sell on the streets after 8 P. M. or before 5 A. M.

Various social workers and women's clubs were behind the proposed ordinance and fought for its passage. The parents of many of the boys were lined up against it. Both sides were strongly represented at the final airing of the problem yesterday. Objections to the ordinance were based on the opinion that it is best to allow

PRODUCED RESULTS MOST SATISFACTORY

Mrs. W. A. Cramer Says the Results Obtained From Plant Juice Were Fine.

Mrs. W. A. Cramer, who resides at 1004 East Columbia street, Seattle, has tested Plant Juice and while talking to the Plant Juice man at that city, she said:

"Your Plant Juice has produced most satisfactory results in my case. I have suffered greatly with torpid liver and nervous dyspepsia. I have also had very dizzy spells for the past two years, and my nerves were badly affected and my circulation poor. After trying so many different treatments without results, of course, my faith weakened, but I am glad now that I did bring myself to make one more trial, for I feel that I have at last found the right thing. My dizzy spells are much less frequent and do not last so long, my nerves seem much better in every way, my liver is acting well and, in fact, I am feeling much better in every way."

Thousands of women have found from personal experience that Plant Juice is a great remedy for nervousness, poor circulation, numbness, hot flashes, dizzy spells, spots before the eyes, headaches, pains in the back or limbs, poor appetite, and a general rundown condition. It corrects constipation, stimulates the liver into action, gives zest to the appetite and brings brightness to the eyes and a healthy color to the cheeks. Women who suffer from extreme nervousness, depression, blues and a desire to cry over trifles, will find help in Plant Juice. The Plant Juice man is at the Owl Drug Company's Store; call on him today and get a bottle, he will refund your money if it does not help you.

boys of all ages to engage in commercial pursuits and that to fix an age limit would deprive many boys of experience of selling papers and would mean the loss of money which they make from the work. It was declared that many families are kept together only by earnings of boys of tender years.

The ordinance was supported on the ground that to permit boys on the streets leads to evil. It was declared that they learn to gamble, to deceive, and acquire bad habits.

The committee changed the age limit from 12 years, as it was in the original measure, to 10 years and recommended it for passage by the Council. The only other change made was the elimination of payment of a license fee of 25 cents by the boys. The 25 cents was to have been paid as a deposit for a badge. The badge will be given free under the ordinance as it stands at present.
