Had Monsieur McCredie tipped it off to the public that Portland was to whack out 17 lusty clouts off Cack Henley and Hughes, and that Bill James was to twirl a beautiful four-hit game for the locals, he could have displayed the "Standing room only" sign at Twenty-fourth and Vaughn.

More than a mere matter of too much
James was doled out to the 1800 fans. As a sideshow there was a Cincinnati hase-hit—latest creation—which gave Fred Derrick four hits and a walk in five trips to the plate. And there was some terrific clouting by McCormick and Walter Doane, each of whom cracked out three hits in the excite-

Altogether it was a large and healthy afternoon for the Beavers. The two wing over the Seals shoved Portland from the cellar to fourth place, all in from the cellar to fourth place, all in a single day.

"Smiling Bill" James pitched one of the most beautiful games of the 1913 Coast League season. He opened it by famining all three men in the first inning. McArdle, playing first, chalked up the only single for the first five innings. James, too, had wonderful control, walking only one Seal.

Sensational fielding and three brilliant double plays pulled James from the only tremulous periods of play.

Henley, in direct contrast, appeared to have little on the ball except the seams. A triple by Chadbourne and the first of Derrick's four hits scored one run in the first inning. Four hits—by McCormick. James, Chadbourne and Derrick—added another in the second when the inning closed with the bases loaded. Then followed a stanza of lurid fireworks, the third, Henley being fireworks, the third, Henley being driven to the cleaners in mid-inning in favor of Hughes.

Four tallies were rushed across in the third inning on four hits and two walks. Sound wallops by Kores, Doane, McCormick and Fisher, and a walk, filled the bases twice. McCormick drove in two runs, Sepulveda overthrew second and a third trickled across, and Hughes forced in the last. The Beavers were content from then

The Beavers were content from them to the eighth, when a terrific two-bagger by the speed merchant, Walt Doane, added two more. Derrick preceded with the latest contraption, "cinch base hit," which means an infield grounder on which the fielders falled to force a runner at another base. He scored one of scored four. The feature of the eighth inning rally was a triple by Fitchner. Who went in as pinch hitter for Wal-
