

OSWEGO RIOTERS ARE BOUND OVER

One of Ten Men Appearing at Oregon City Arrested as Escaped Convict.

ANOTHER IS EX-PRISONER

Three Hearings Held, Defendants Becoming "Expert" Witness and Counsel for Defense Take Turn at Prosecuting.

OREGON CITY, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—Preliminary hearings in three cases, growing out of the rioting at Oswego on May 19, were held today by Justice Sievers, and as a result 10 of the defendants were bound over to the grand jury, a bench warrant was issued for "Blackie" Hies, who failed to appear, and George Mayer, accused of cutting wires of the Home Telephone Company, was dismissed.

In the course of the trials two ex-convicts appeared as defendants and as witnesses, defendants were called upon for "expert testimony" and attorneys for the defense in one case became attorneys for the prosecution in another.

J. C. Ainsberry, following his release through habeas corpus proceedings, was re-arrested on a warrant issued in Wyoming, charging penitentiary-breaking.

The case of the men charged with rioting was taken up by Pike Davis and F. X. Ledoux, of Portland, and Senator W. A. Dimick, of Oregon City, appeared as counsel in their behalf. Deputy District Attorney Stipp appeared for the state and was assisted by J. E. Hedges and counsel for the Home Telephone Company. Of the 12 defendants all were present but "Blackie" Hies, a former inmate of the Oregon State Penitentiary, suffering from a revolver wound, and "Blackie" Hies, a striker.

Kick in Jaw Starts Riot.

Evidence was introduced to show that the defendants had gone from Portland to Oswego on the day of the riot, had approached non-union men in the employ of the Home Telephone Company, that in the argument that followed one non-union man had been kicked in the jaw and that a general fight had followed. In this fight "Red" McCann, an employe of the telephone company, hurled a hand-axe at the strikers and "Blackie" Ainsberry shot "Red" in the groin. The strikers, on the other hand, had hurled pebbles, stones and tamping bars at the non-union men.

Each witness, it seemed, failed to note the beginning of the trouble, which, they said, was a "skirmish somewhere." Following that, however, the defendants said "Red" McCann backed away from them as they "just walked towards him," and had hurled his hand-axe. At the same time "somebody" threw a shot and "somebody" dropped, said the defendants. Later they said they discovered that Ainsberry shot "Red" and leaped into a wagon and drove away.

On cross-examination it was the unanimous opinion of the defendants that Hies probably started the trouble because he was drunk. None of the men had seen any other violence, save that of McCann and Ainsberry, they said.

Justice Sievers bound the 10 men over to the grand jury in $1000 bail for all.

Examination is Walled.

The case of Ainsberry was next called. Messrs. Davis, Ledoux & Dimick then switched from the prosecution to the defense, and were interested with Deputy District Attorney Stipp, while the Home Telephone attorneys and Mr. Hedges took up the case. Ainsberry walked the witness stand and was held for the grand jury in $1000 bail.

WILL CONTEST STARTED

Stephen Alegrani Not Satisfied With $5 Bequest From Parent.

Because he received only $5 under the will, Stephen Alegrani, son of Stefano Alegrani, wealthy member of the Italian colony, who died January 3, has started proceedings in Probate Court with a view to breaking the will and securing half the estate, which would have been his had his father died intestate. The petitioner is the only son of the dead man, and is a stepson of the widow.

By the will Mrs. Catherine Alegrani, the widow, received the residue of the estate, after bequests of $1000 each to Gagliardi Cinisio and Cenci Parodi, niece, and Herman Rubenstein, a friend. His stepmother has a claim for $12,000, declares the petitioner, who contends that Mrs. Alegrani and Louis Bolzano obtained the execution of the will by fraud. He declares that during his father's lifetime his stepmother received large sums of money and considerable property from his father.

KELLAHER TELLS STAND

CANDIDATE FOR MAYORALTY IS PROUD OF COGNOMEN.

Aspirant for Executive Position Says if Elected He Won't Lie Down With "Big Interests."

"If I am elected Mayor I won't lie down and go to bed with the Harriman people like Rushlight has done," announced Dan Kellaher, candidate for mayor, in each of three speeches last night.

"Neither will I become a bedfellow of the Hill interests, or any other interests. They call me 'Common-User Dan' and I am proud of the title. I tell you, when a man stands for common user, he can't be partial to any interest. Can our present Mayor say the same?" Kellaher reviewed the Rushlight tactics in dealing with the railroads, saying emphasis on Rushlight's veto of the measure passed by the Council, which would have revoked the O.-W. R. & N. and Southern Pacific franchises.

He spoke first in the Foresters' hall, at East First-second and Yamhill streets; next at Arbor Lodge, on the Peninsula, where a large crowd gathered at Sixth and Washington streets.

Kellaher had been advertised as the principal speaker at Arbor Lodge, but all were present but "Blackie" Hies, a former inmate of the Oregon State Penitentiary, suffering from a revolver wound, and "Blackie" Hies, a striker.

Each witness, it seemed, failed to note the beginning of the trouble, which, they said, was a "skirmish somewhere." Following that, however, the defendants said "Red" McCann backed away from them as they "just walked towards him," and had hurled his hand-axe. At the same time "somebody" threw a shot and "somebody" dropped, said the defendants.

Justice Sievers bound the 10 men over to the grand jury in $1000 bail for all.

A Little Judgment

165,000 was Portland's population in 1907. Today, 1913, it is 266,000, an increase of 161,000.

In these same six years, 16,400 new homes have been built, providing homes for 87,000 people, 12,956 of these homes, costing under $2500, have been built on lots costing under $700, 2444 homes that cost over $2500 have been built on lots valued at over $700.

If four months' building record continues, over 2000 homes will be built in Portland in 1913, which means that over 2300 vacant lots, valued under $700, will be taken up.

These facts are positive proof that a $600 lot located on the Central East Side is a very good investment. Especially so when the price includes the improvements and can be bought for $10 per mo.

You can make no mistake in this selection. The value is there NOW, and 79 per cent of the growth is in that direction.

Let us prove it.

ERNEST HOUSE FOR COMMISSIONER NO. 50 ON THE BALLOT. Mr. House is not a politician, but has been successful in the restaurant business for 30 years at Portland. Is broad-minded, efficient and honest in all his dealings. Will not stand for special privileges.

William Schmeer FOR COMMISSIONER NUMBER ON BALLOT, 44 Present Councilman of Eighth Ward Resident of Portland for 52 Years

If You Don't Vote for Me Boost for the Other Fellow. I respectfully call your attention briefly to a few ordinances I have given my hearty support: 1. Ordinance prohibiting public dancehalls. 2. Ordinance prohibiting girls working in shooting galleries. 3. Ordinance against power of attorney held by brewers. 4. Ordinance reducing minimum charge on gas. 5. Ordinance requiring public service corporations to refund deposits collected by them. 6. Ordinance removing oil tanks outside the city limits. 7. Ordinance granting Northwestern Electric Co. a franchise in order that we might have competition in lighting. 8. Ordinance requiring streetcar company to make transfers good for one hour, thus granting the individual extra time for shopping. 9. Common-user ordinance for East Side lines. 10. Have carefully guarded the interests of the public in regard to street improvements.

M. O. COLLINS FOR COMMISSIONER No. 27 on Ballot. M. O. Collins, candidate for Commissioner, is a native of Portland, 42 years old. He is a civil engineer, an attorney-at-law, and is president of the Hawthorne Estate. While his own interests are with the taxpayers, and he is of a conservative temperament, he is at the same time broad and progressive in his views; of thoroughly democratic sympathies; belongs to no partisan faction, and is a man of good business and personal habits. He has been an officer and active member of the United Improvement Clubs' Association, materially assisting civic betterment movements and counseling progressive policies. He was a leader in the campaign conducted by these clubs for the new East Side terminals and the public docks. He was one of the committee of five initiating the "Ziegler Amendment," enacted in 1911, which put a stop to the vacation of streets on the waterfront. He was one of the backers of the referendum on the Oregon and Adams street vacation, and defended the referendum in the courts when an injunction was issued against its appearance on the ballot. That vacation figured in a bill of 18 parcels of right-of-way for which the O.-W. R. & N. demanded payment from the S. P. & S. for entrance upon, under the common user privilege; but has now been omitted from the appraisal, probably due to the publicity raised by this suit.
