Kerr spoke before the Wood-stock Good Government Club in the Woodstock Methodist Episcopal Church-last night and answered questions re-garding her views with regard to school conditions in Portland. That good teachers were a primary requirement and fine buildings but a secondary con-sideration was one of the points Mrs. Kerr made. She discussed the necessity of a woman being on the board that the human element between the child and teacher might be brought out. Mrs. Kerr will preside this afternoon at a reading of prize essays at Lincoin High School, in South Portland tonight. ANOTHER JUDOR COMES TO AID-A Fine Apparatus Contract UPHELD-Judgment for the city was given yes-terday by Circuit Judge Hamilton, of Rogeburg, now assisting in clearing the Circuit Court docket here, in the case of D. R. Young against the City of Portiand and others, a suit to enjoin payment for fire apparatus purchased from the American La France Fire En-sine Company last Summer. The judge held that the good faith of the Ex-ecutive Board had not been put in question and that in the absence of such a showing the application for an injunction should be denied. He said that it was within the discretion of the Executive Board to take quality as well as price into consideration in awarding a contract. The plaintiff con-tended that the contract had not gone to the lowest responsible bidder and that juggling of the bids by the city administration had resulted in an ad-vantage in favor of the American La France Company.
