

LOBBY INQUIRY IS SHIFTED SUDDENLY

State Senate Hears Ex-Congressmen Admit Having Interests at Stake.

IDAHO MAN MAY BE CALLED

Ex-Senator Dubois Likely to Have to Answer to Charge of Working in Interest of Duty on Lead Made by Poindexter.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Turning away from the examination of colleagues who might have been influenced in matters of legislation, the Senate today began to inquire into the Washington pursuits of those who might have exercised the influence. With only half a dozen Senators yet to take the witness stand, the majority of the committee is convinced that it has seen a flash of the underground workings of the lobby and believes that only patient search will lead to reveal the trail that will lead to the quarry they are seeking.

The minority members apparently are not so certain that an "insidious" lobby will be discovered, but say they will use their ability as cross-examiners with every witness whose testimony is encouraging. The few Senators who have not been heard are out of the city and will be allowed to testify as they see fit before the hearings are concluded.

Ex-Congressmen Examined. One ex-Senator and four men who sat at one time or other in the House of Representatives were put to the test of the committee today. They all admitted more or less interest in legislation, but none would say that he considered his cause unjust or that he had done anything improper.

Senator Reed was the principal inquisitor, and he apparently expected to show that many men spend most of their time in Washington with nothing to do but convince Congress it is wrong about particular legislation. Ex-Senator Faulkner, of West Virginia, was the first witness from the outside. He told the committee he represented 22 of the big railroads of the country and had represented them here for many years.

Faulkner Explains Work. "In justice to myself and the railroads," said Mr. Faulkner, "I will say that I know of no lobby that has ever been brought here in reference to railroad matters at any time for the purpose of influencing members of Congress. My business has been to find bills that affect railroads, send them to my clients and give my opinion of them. If the railroads find something they regard as prejudicial, or if they need amendment, they come to me to arrange a hearing before the committee in charge."

The other Congressional witnesses were J. A. H. Hull, of Iowa; A. W. Kopp, of Wisconsin; Charles S. Bennett, of New York and Charles B. Landis, of Indiana. Mr. Hull had been out of Congress for two years and had been in Washington most of the time since. He represented an association of corn producers who were interested in the pending tariff bill, presenting his case by filing briefs, making speeches and means committee and sending letters to Senators. He had talked with Senator Cummins because he was familiar with the duties in which he was interested.

Veterinarians Have Interest. Mr. Hull said he had been interested also in legislation for the Veterinarian Association of the United States, which wished to obtain commissioned ranking for its member in the Army for a Mr. Baker, of Philadelphia, who was interested in duty on coconuts, and for representatives of the Government of Ecuador, who wished Government committees to investigate sanitary conditions there. He also figured in legislation affecting the telephone company in the District of Columbia.

Mr. Kopp declared he had spent probably three weeks in Washington shortly after his retirement from Congress in March to present arguments on behalf of lead and zinc schedules.

Ex-Senator Fred T. Dubois, of Idaho, probably will be summoned to appear before Senate lobby investigating committee to explain charges made today by Senator Poindexter that he (Dubois) is a lobbyist, working in the interest of the Idaho lead producers. Senator Poindexter said Dubois had not resorted to improper means to influence votes of Senators on lead tariff, but he understood him to be an employed representative of the North Idaho lead producers, working for duty on lead, and on that charge Dubois probably will be called to explain.

WEISER PIONEERS TO MEET

Thomas C. Galloway Will Entertain Settlers of 1884 and Earlier. WEISER, Idaho, June 9.—(Special.)—Pioneer day will be observed in Weiser Tuesday, and the committees in charge have all arrangements well under way. An elaborate programme is being arranged for the event, which will take place at the home of Thomas C. Galloway. Mr. Galloway, who is well known over the Northwest, is one of the first settlers in this valley. The programme will consist chiefly of old-time songs and speeches, with a basket lunch on the lawn at noon. The remainder of the day will be devoted to a reunion and telling stories of early days in Idaho and the great Northwest. Many invitations have been sent out and a large gathering is anticipated. The pioneers who came west in prior to 1884 and their families are invited to participate. A number of surrounding towns will be represented.

COLD SNAP STRIKES EAST

(Continued from First Page.) Explorations of the quays and piers disclose the fact that many fine private yachts are either sunk or damaged by the storms which have prevailed since Saturday morning. The temperature rose slowly today and there is promise of further relief tomorrow. Dress shrubs and flowers in the parks here are fully a month behind in development because of the continued cold weather. Farmers also complain that the unreasonable weather has done great damage. The cold, wet weather is conducive to black rust in grain. Fungus Appears on Trees. Missouri apple growers report that the cold, wet weather had produced deadly fungus growth on the trees and they fear it will also spread to the grape vines. Some idea of the intensity of the cold may be had from the announcement that several cities baseball games have been canceled on account of cold, and this in the month of June. A heavy frost around Watertown, N. Y., did much damage to garden truck and killed large quantities of growing plants. Ice formed in places shut off from the wind. Thousands of

"FORTY-NINER," FATHER OF PORTLAND MAN, DIES IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Jackson J. Wentworth, a California pioneer 49 and the man who built the first flouring mill in San Francisco, died at his home 2208 Twenty-fourth street in that city last week. George G. Wentworth, president of the Columbia Carriage & Auto Works, is a son, and went to San Francisco to attend the funeral, which occurred Wednesday. Jackson Wentworth was born in Lebanon, York County, Maine, and was 86 years old. His early life was spent in Cambridge, Mass. February 9, 1849, he sailed from Boston on the ship Duxbury around the Horn to San Francisco, where he arrived August 22. After two years of mining he returned East, but the following year came back to California, bringing with him engines and boilers. Shortly afterward, in company with Brynarch & Freeman, he started the Bay Flouring Mill, the first in San Francisco. In 1861 Mr. Wentworth again went to his home in the East, with a bride. He retired from active life 20 years ago. Mr. Wentworth leaves, besides his wife, two sons and two daughters—Charles J. Wentworth, of Fresno; George G. Wentworth, of Portland; Miss Mary Wentworth, of San Francisco, and Mrs. A. A. Baxter, of Oakland.

dollars' worth of damage was done by the frost in Broome County, New York. At Plains, N. Y., near Rome, the temperature dropped to 28. The damage will amount to many thousands of dollars. Philadelphia, Also severe in Philadelphia was 47 degrees, within one degree of the lowest ever recorded in June by the Weather Bureau. Light snow fell at Montreal, while the temperature dropped 35 degrees in portions exposed to the wind, according to Weather Bureau reports. Frosts were reported also from Northern New England, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin. It was the coldest June day since the famous cold wave of 1907, when the temperature suddenly dropped to 41.

COMMISSION WILL MEET

MEMBERS WILL DISCUSS APPLICANTS FOR JOBS. Various Questions Confronting New Administration Will Be Talked Over Informally. Mayor-elect Albee and members of the new City Commission will hold an informal meeting at noon today to consider a number of points in connection with the changes of government which will take place July 1. Among other things there will be considered the question of applications for positions in various departments of the city. It is not considered likely that any decision will be reached as to who is to receive the appointments as heads of the various departments to be filled by the Commission, but the subject will be discussed at length. The names of the various applicants for positions will be presented to the Commission by Mayor-elect Albee. Members of the Commission will also present lists of applicants for jobs, also Commission being received. Hundreds of letters from applicants. Commissioner Daly reported yesterday that he has more than 200 letters from persons seeking work. Many of them, he says, do not mention any particular position desired, but merely ask for work.

Various questions regarding the administrative work and the method of making the change of government will be considered at the meeting. It is probable also that the question of departments and assignments of Commissioners will be considered at length. The plan of the meeting has not been definitely decided upon, but it probably will be in one of the hotels. The Commissioners will eat while they talk business. The meeting, if private, it being announced that the proceedings are informal and not of an official or public nature. The latest appointment for the position of purchasing agent under the new charter is Josiah Kemp. Mr. Kemp has been storekeeper for the Portland Gas Company.

REVENUE LOSS ON TARIFF $24,718,329

Cut Under Underwood Bill Is More Than Offset by Income Tax.

SENATE PREPARES TABLE

Sundries Schedule Shows Democrats Have Increased Revenue on Many Articles Not Heretofore Taxed. Future Losses in Prospect.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—A table prepared by the Senate finance committee showing comparative figures based on the Underwood tariff bill and the present tariff law shows the average ad valorem rate in the proposed law to be 22.99, as against 43.64 per cent under the Payne Aldrich law. The estimated loss of revenue through the augmented free list in the Underwood bill would be $24,718,329 on an import valuation of $102,534,468. Revenue under the proposed bill exclusive of the income tax is estimated at $286,701,130, as compared with $264,218,094 under the present rates. With the income tax revenue estimated at approximately $36,000,000 the total revenue under the proposed bill would aggregate about $347,000,000. In the sundries schedule, wherein the Democrats have added many articles not heretofore taxed, the ad valorem equivalent shows an increase over the Payne-Aldrich rates from 24.72 per cent to 22.26, and the estimated revenue from this schedule is raised from $27,000,000 to approximately $60,000,000. Wool revenues, it is estimated, will decrease from $27,000,000 to $13,000,000. The sugar revenue would decrease from $60,000,000 at the rate of $20,000,000 a year until sugar goes on the free list in three years. The proposal of the sub-committee in charge of the agricultural schedule to put a countervailing duty on livestock, grains and flour is to be discussed by the majority members of the finance committee.

With these products on the free list, subject to countervailing duty, cattle from Canada would be dutiable at 22 1/2 to 25 per cent ad valorem, sheep at 25 to 30 per cent ad valorem, would be dutiable at 2 1/2 to 3 cents a pound; wheat, 10 to 15 cents a bushel; flour, 50 to 60 cents a barrel; rye flour, 45 to 50 cents a barrel; oatmeal, 50 to 60 cents a barrel. A Senator estimates that the majority members will be at least a week considering the bill.
