of the evening, except Bill Strandborg's in expressing his appreciation of his new name.
The ceremonies closed with the "grass dance," in which the newly-made tribesmen joined with spirit.
Shoemaker Is Chaperone.
The Indians were chaperoned by James L. Shoemaker, who acts as L. W. Hill's personal representative in taking them around the country.
As an interpreter John Ground, a Carlisle graduate, ground the Indian into English and the English into Indian without a single stop for oil or repairs.
The Indians will travel to the Oaks Amusement Park at 3 o'clock today and on the very spot here, a century ago, the Willamette Indians held their councils, the Blackfoot chiefs will have their medicine man make medicine.
The great chief, Three Bears, himself will participate in the ceremonial, and at the conclusion of this he will be solemnly escorted into the river and there will bathe himself just as his red brethren of the Willamette Valley used to do. Chiefs, young men and squaws all will have their part, and all will dive and swim Indian fashion in the water. Because of the great age of Three Bears, over whose head 83 hearts and souls have passed, as he said last night through an interpreter, it has been decided to utilize the comparatively shallow water of the bathing pavilion, but the other redmen will swim, bathe and splash in the open river in front of the Oaks boardwalk.

Motorcycle Rider Hurt.
Frank Selman, aged 22 years, was injured in an accident yesterday while riding a motorcycle on Williams avenue, near Fargo street. He was rendered unconscious and upon regaining consciousness at Good Samaritan Hospital was unable to tell how the accident occurred. His name does not appear in the directory and two addresses were given, 533 Multnomah street and 329 Williams avenue.

RIOT OF COLOR IS SEEN

THOUSANDS ATTEND PYRO-TECHNICS AT OAKS.

Varied Display of Set Pieces and Color Effects Will Be Repeated Saturday for King and Suite.

A veritable riot of color in flame was the fireworks exhibition at the Oaks Amusement Park last night in honor of the opening day of the Rose Festival. Not only was the grandstand packed, but an immense crowd of fun seekers sought every point of vantage in the park.
Prismatic colors, elaborate set pieces, hundreds of rockets and a score of big lydite bombs all went to make up the amount expended on the display—$4000.

It was a regular orgy of fire. The spectacular, the humorous, the daring—each had its turn.
Undoubtedly the favorite with audience was "Miss Portland," which first appeared as a tiny bud and slowly developed into a Caroline Testout rose. The petals slowly fell away and left "Miss Portland," a perfect flaming representation of one of Portland's prettiest girls.
Great rockets chased each other all over the sky, bursting here and there, now bursting again as they fall, until it seemed as if the whole sky was one mass of blazing and shooting flashes of color.
The detonation of bombs hurled sky-high proved one of the most dangerous parts of the display, from the point of view of the pyrotechnic operators, but they produced a thunder that must have been heard miles off.
A symphony in flame was Niagara Falls, while the Fountain employed every form of gunpowder and saltpeter with the resultant color scheme that could be imagined.

The fighting gamecocks which literally battled for mastery was one of the most realistic fire displays ever shown in Portland and strikingly humorous was "Jonah and the Whale," in which the big fish swam lazily over the sea in pursuit of Jonah, who finally became food.
The programme was well blended and lasted until 10 o'clock. It will be repeated, with many variations, on Saturday night in honor of Rex Oregonus, who with his court will occupy the royal box.
Proceeding and following the fireworks, the Oaks ran off a big band and vaudeville programme, which will be repeated twice daily this week.
Medford Sends Many to Festival.
MEDFORD, Or., June 9.—One hundred and twenty Medford people left tonight in a special train to attend the Portland Rose Festival. It is estimated 100 more will leave in the next few days.

pupils were graduated, of which two were in the college preparatory class. The Rev. Warren Damuth, of New York, made the baculaire address. Bishop Charles Seating made an address and delivered the diplomas and the Rev. Barr G. Lee, D. D., of Salem, also spoke. The music was taken from the prayer book and sung by the entire school, the choral class singing an anthem.
Exercises by the graduating class were held last Thursday, and a dance tomorrow night closes this year's school.

WELL-KNOWN RESIDENT OF REARDON, OR., SAYS IT IS REAL PLEASURE TO RECOMMEND

Mrs. S. J. Elkins, Prominent Woman of This State, Tells of Her Relief and Cure by Plant Juice.

Mrs. S. J. Elkins, a well-known lady of Reardon, Oregon, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Cox, who resides at Oak Grove, Oregon. Mrs. Elkins has lived in or near Spokane since 1879, and has many friends who will be interested in the following. She says:
"About two years ago I became a great sufferer from various distressing symptoms, and was told that my troubles were caused from stomach and liver derangements. About a year ago I began to have fainting and sinking spells; I would become unconscious and fall without any warning. These attacks were very frequent, and sometimes I would have several in one day. This affected my nerves and general health to a marked degree. I was restless and nervous, and could not sleep at night. My eyes also became affected and my vision was very imperfect. My condition was such that my children would not let me go out alone. My stomach was in bad condition and would bloat and give me great distress. I was compelled to eat only toast and milk to avoid this. A friend of mine recommended Plant Juice to me, and I thought I would try it. From the first dose it seemed to help me. My stomach is in fine condition now, and my appetite is good and I can eat real food without distress afterward. My eyes are much better and I now read and write every day as usual. I have not had one fainting spell since I began taking Plant Juice; my nerves are much better. In fact I feel greatly improved in every way and it is a pleasure to me to recommend Plant Juice to others."

The above is only one of the many testimonials the Plant Juice man daily receives. This wonderful tonic is too well known now to need any further explanation from us. Just ask your neighbor about it; its friends sell it. To establish a record like this proves its merit without question. The Plant Juice man is at the Owl Drug Co. Store, Seventh and Washington streets, get a bottle from him, and if it does not help you he will return your money.

BLACKFOOT INDIANS SNAPPED IN FRONT OF ELKS' BUILDING BY OREGONIAN PHOTOGRAPHER

PARTY OF 16 BROUGHT FROM GLACIER NATIONAL PARK AS GUESTS OF PORTLAND PRESS CLUB.

Big medicine was made at the Press Club last night when 15 members of the Blackfoot tribe of Indians, having come from Glacier National Park, Montana, as the guests of that body, initiated three members of the club into their tribe with savage ceremonies.
The new white Blackfeet are "Count" Wallin, "Bill" Strandborg and John T. Dougal, and at a late hour last night they wore on their faces pink grease-paint, applied by Medicine Owl, the medicine man of the tribe.
The first event of the evening was an address of welcome by John I. Travis, president of the Press Club. He told the visiting braves and their women that the best was none too splendid for them during their stay in Portland, or words of like friendly import, and that the Press Club was delighted to have them as guests.
Chief Is Eloquent.
Chief Wolf Plume, in his response, was equally eloquent. He said that he liked the Oregon country and its great city, and that if he were not so well satisfied in the Glacier National Park he would come to Oregon and buy a ranch.
Colonel ("Bill") Hanley, of Burns, delivered an address in which he gave vent to his pleasure at being present on such an extremely occasional occasion—he said rare—and made a big hit with his auditors, both whitefeet and Blackfeet.
O. C. Lester, who met the Blackfeet in Glacier Park last fall, told the 20 white men present that he took a fancy to the place, enjoying every moment of his visit there.
Dances Are Enjoyed.
There were several dances to the accompaniment of aboriginal, also uncopied music. The Princess of the tribe, Dawn Mist, danced the graceful "squaw" dance with Little Ceele, the tot of the party. White Grass and John Kicking Woman danced as though their moosehorns were afloat. There was no "ragging."
Chief Hawk is John T. Dougal's Indian name. Count Wallin is henceforth Wolf Plume, while Bill Strandborg rejoices in the alias of Morning Bill. Long Time Sleep named John Dougal Wolf Plume, christened Count Wallin, and Bill Strandborg was branded by Three Bears, the patriarch of the tribe, who carries a Sioux scalp as a souvenir of his happy and innocent youth.
Big Top, who, with Dawn Mist, possesses a fluent command of English as a result of their attendance at Government schools, made the longest speech
