

BAN RAISED FROM STREET SPEAKERS

Mayor of Oregon City Says Anyone May Talk as Long as Laws Are Obeyed.

PRISONERS ARE SET FREE

Only One of Alleged Disturbers Still Held—Quiet Reigns and All Mills Operate—Officers Expect No More Trouble.

OREGON CITY, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—For the time being all street speakers, no matter what their particular bent may be, will be welcome in Oregon City. Following a conference with County Judge R. B. Beattie, Deputy District Attorney Livy Stipp, Sheriff E. T. Mass, Chief of Police Ed Shaw and others, at which yesterday's labor disturbances were discussed, Mayor John E. Jones tonight said:

"There is no city ordinance against public speaking and none will be enacted. Anybody who obeys the other city ordinances may come here and speak as much as he or she wants to. If they will invite me to, I will speak myself, from the same soapbox. Just to show how we feel about it. But, understand, all these speakers must obey the city ordinances. Any use of profanity or especially any violence, any inciting to riot or other violation of the law will be the signal for immediate arrest."

The decision was determined upon as the best way at present to quiet the agitation of Portland Socialists among local mill employees. Special deputies and extra policemen will patrol the streets and guard the mills, and any disorder will be met with a sufficient armed force to immediately quell disturbances.

Throughout today quietness reigned in this city. All the mills were running full time practically with full shifts. Portland Socialists in large numbers loitered about the county and city jails until this afternoon, when Thomas Burns and James D. Ransley, Portland Socialist leaders, were taken before City Judge Beattie and released upon their recognizance until their trial, which will be held on Saturday.

At the same time, all but one of the men arrested upon the streets last night were liberated. The remaining prisoner, Hugh Leroy, is being held for further investigation.

Tonight two women orators, of Portland, representing the Socialist party, which has been stirring up the local trouble, arrived here. They were at once to the plant of the Oregon Woolen Mills, where they endeavored to get into communication with the operatives. In this they failed. Later they planned to hold street-corner meetings, expecting arrest.

According to Burns, the women were to be put on soapboxes tonight, so that the cops could drag them down and show the people what a bunch is running this place.

GRAIN PROSPECTS GOOD

placed at $13,000,000, and it will bring to the farmers about $7,300,000.

The total value of the three grain crops is expected to be $45,450,000.

No figures are available as to the size of the Northwest crop. But it is known that it will be fully as large as that of last year. What is more important is the certainty that the quality of the crop will be far better than that of 1912.

CROPS IN UMATILLA AVERAGE

Recent Rains Have Turned Scale in Favor of Farmer.

PENDLETON, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—According to surveys made by grain experts and reports received from various districts, Umatilla County, one of the banner wheat counties of the United States, has secured an average yield of both wheat and barley this year, if the weather conditions from now on are favorable.

The recent heavy rain, following an unusual hot spell for the season, say the anxious farmers. It is said to have been the most timely rain in the history of the county, for it had been so intense on a very vappy plant. This section had previously had no gradually increasing heat, but it was unprepared to meet the hot spell. The heat showed its effect visibly in a few localities, where the leaves were withered. But the general drenching has turned the scale heavily in favor of the farmers.

E. W. McComas, manager of the Northwestern Grain & Warehouse Company, one of the leading grain authorities of this part of the country, has made a personal survey, as well as reports from prominent correspondents in the different sections.

The Umatilla situation may be briefly described as follows: It is doubtful barley as there was in 1912, because the heads do not look as large, and in the Pilot Rock district, which is a heavy barley producer, the grain is said to be rather thin in places. The entire crop of Fall-sown barley was frozen out last winter and had to be re-seeded early in the spring. But the conditions are such that Umatilla should have an average yield.

There should be an average yield in wheat, and a crop of about 5,000,000 bushels is safely predicted, making allowances for unforeseen difficulties.

Reports by Mr. McComas on the various districts of Umatilla are as follows: This country north of Pendleton to Helix is fine, a little better than the average. The Umatilla Indian Reservation is fine, but there are more weeds in the wheat than usual. In the Echo country, and in the light lands to the west and in the extreme northern parts of the county, the yields will be average. Pilot Rock is fair, but not as large as last season.

FALL WHEAT HEADING WELL

Total Walla Walla Crop May Be Less Than Year Ago.

WALLA WALLA, June 12.—(Special.)—Walla Walla farmers and growers estimate that the wheat crop this year will be from 10 to 30 per cent below the figures of last year, when it was between 4,500,000 and 4,750,000 bushels. Last year's crop was cut down by hot winds in the milk period. This year the shortage is due to the fact that considerable of the wheat in light land districts was blown out and had to be re-seeded, while Spring sowing was delayed for weeks by the heavy rains.

and washed out is not so large, it is sufficient to hold down the average yield.

Grain sown last Fall is heading well in nearly all parts of the valley, and with favorable weather the growers state the yield may be increased to wipe out some of the deficit that threatened a Spring grain that was put in early enough is heading now, but most of it is not. The acreage is about the same as last year.

While harvest will commence about the usual time this year, it will last longer than for years since the introduction of the combined harvesters. The late Spring affected the hay crop as well as the wheat. The first cutting of the alfalfa was about three weeks late, and growers fear it may prevent a fourth cutting, though that will depend on the weather in the Fall. The fruit crop, it is believed, will not be as heavy as last year. Estimates have been placed low as 50 per cent of last year's crop for apples.

ASSISTANT ATTORNEY-GENERAL OF OREGON RESIGNS.

I. H. Van Winkle.

SALEM, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—I. H. Van Winkle, who has been Assistant Attorney-General for nine years, today tendered his resignation to Attorney-General Crawford, to become effective July 1. Mr. Van Winkle will open a law office in Salem. James Crawford, son of the Attorney-General, has been mentioned as a successor of Mr. Van Winkle. Mr. Crawford, however, has declined as good if not a better offer by a Portland law firm and he probably will not accept the place here. The salary of the Assistant Attorney-General is $2000 a year. Mr. Van Winkle is an instructor in constitutional law of the law department of the Willamette University and is one of the trustees of the institution. He is regarded as one of the best-equipped lawyers in the state.

though this is believed to be low. The fruit is thinner on the trees than it was last year. The optimists look for an 80 per cent crop of apples, and some guess higher.

DEEP SNOW AFFECTS YIELD

Crop of Winter Wheat in Latah County Will Be Reduced.

MOSCOW, Idaho, June 12.—(Special.)—While the acreage of Fall sown wheat is probably about equal to that of last year in Latah County, indications are that the yield will not be as large, owing to the damage done by snow on the north slopes. It is to be seen now that the great length of time the snow laid on the ground caused much of it to melt from the bottom, which had the effect of smothering and rotting the green roots of the Fall wheat. In many fields the wheat is looking well, but there are spots on the north slopes absolutely without any grain and in other places a very poor stand. Where one of these last two conditions does not prevail, the grain which remained covered by the deep snow is bound to ripen very unevenly and in some cases will doubtless require two cuttings.

Spring sown wheat and oats never looked better for this time of the year. Timothy hay crop promises a heavy yield of good quality. With the exception of Fall wheat the prospects appear to be favorable, for as heavy yield as last year with about the same acreage. A number of conservative farmers estimate the yield of Fall wheat will be from 15 to 25 per cent less than last year.

LEWISTON PROSPECTS GOOD

Camas Prairie and Clearwater Will Have Fine Crops.

LEWISTON, Idaho, June 12.—(Special.)—Crop conditions in the Camas Prairie and Clearwater districts were never better. Grain dealers who have made a close study of conditions in this district for years are unanimous in saying that the grain was never in better condition than it is now. The stand of Fall-sown grain is all that could be wished and looks exceptionally fine. Spring-sown grain is rather backward owing to the late Spring, but looks well.

Most of the Spring-sown acreage in this district consists of oats and barley.

There is an increase in acreage in this district this year of 10 per cent. This increase is accounted for from the fact that a good deal of timothy land on the prairie has been broken up and planted to oats. Timothy seed was very low last year, which discouraged the farmers, and they are breaking up the ground.

From present indications this district will harvest the largest crop in its history.

WEATHER HELPS ALL GRAINS

Prospects in Wasco County Better Than Heretofore.

THE DALLAS, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—The prospects are very good for an average grain crop in this section. The warm weather and recent rains greatly benefited all kinds of grain, and the indications for good crops are better now than they have been at any time this season. Fall wheat did not have a good stand, but the stand of Spring grain has been very good.

On account of Summer following in this vicinity the acreage is not quite so large as last year. Everything considered, it is estimated that the grain crop in this region this year will be about 75 per cent of last year's yield.

YIELD IN ADAMS REDUCED

Acreage Lessened, Owing to Blowing or Shifting of Soil.

RITZVILLE, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—The grain acreage in this county is less than last year, owing to blowing or shifting of the soil during high winds that prevailed here in the Spring. A rain fell last week but not enough to save the crops. Farmers report that Winter wheat, which was sown thick, is needing rain more than other Winter wheat or Spring grain.

The outlook now is about the same as a year ago.

ROCK CREEK SWEPT

Damage by Storm Near Olex Estimated at $25,000.

STEEL BRIDGE WASHED OUT

Water Reaches Homes All Along River, One Is Carried Off and Livestock Is Saved by Being Driven to Higher Ground.

OLEX, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—Rock Creek experienced the worst cloudburst known in the history of Gilliam County on Saturday, June 7. A storm struck on Dry Creek, coming down Rock Creek and sweeping nearly everything before it. The damage from the Brown ranch to Weatherford's is estimated at approximately $25,000.

The steel bridge at Flett's was washed out, the water being three feet above it. Mr. Flett's house was washed away and the house on the Strickland place was lifted from its foundation and carried a short distance, where it lodged against some big trees. C. H. Edick suffered heavily, as did the Flett, Schotta, Farr Bros., the Martin ranch, Rias, Wasden, Mobley, Randall and Weatherford's. The bridge was destroyed along the creek, as well as all the gardens.

Where it lodged against some big trees, inches deep in houses along the creek. The sidewalks at Wade's were washed away, all the fences wrecked and the foundation of rock torn from under one side of the house and washed into the basement.

All the hay on Rock Creek was destroyed, with the exception of two small stacks which were saved by being moved from the lowlands before the flood came. All ranchers were in the midst of hay harvest at the time. Little stock was lost, as the people were warned three or four hours before the water came, which gave them ample time to remove livestock to safe places.

While travel is not entirely stopped from Olex north, it is impossible to travel from the Olex place south. There were two storms about three-quarters of an hour apart. Had they come at the same time, it is thought Rock Creek would have been wiped off the map.

DEATH SENTENCE IS GIVEN

July 18 Is Date Set for Jack Adams to Be Hanged.

ASTORIA, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—Jack F. Adams, who was recently found guilty of murder in the first degree for killing Barney Chamberlain on the evening of February 7, is to be hanged at the State Penitentiary at Salem Friday, July 18. That was the sentence pronounced by Judge Eakin of the Circuit Court today.

During the preceding Adams was the least affected person in the courtroom. When sentence was pronounced he did not bat an eye or change color and walked out of the courtroom with a half smile on his face.

An effort will now be made by attorneys for the defense to have the sentence commuted to life imprisonment. It is said that some of the jurors will recommend this and that the court and Prosecuting Attorney will raise no objection.

REDUCTION IS CELEBRATED

Milwaukie and Oak Grove Rejoice Over Lower Fares.

MILWAUKIE, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—A joint mass meeting of citizens of Milwaukie and Oak Grove in celebration of the reduction in fares to Portland from these two points was held last night at the City Hall here. After speeches had been made on the probable effect of the reduction in fares, it was decided to hold a Fourth of July celebration in honor of the victory. Games and contests will be held.

Several committees were appointed to raise funds and make arrangements for the celebration. It is thought ample funds can be raised. Oak Grove and the surrounding districts will be asked to join.

BIG TUNNEL IS COMPLETED

Cost of Tacoma-to-Tenino Line and Point Defiance Bore $4,000,000.

TACOMA, Wash., June 12.—(Special.)—The big Point Defiance tunnel on the Northern Pacific's water-borne line out of Tacoma to Tenino, where the line joins the Portland main line, was completed at 2:20 P. M. today, when the two boring crews met midway. The tunnel is 4400 feet long and 28 by 28 feet and will contain four tracks. Concrete work in the tunnel has kept close behind the boring crews. Work on the tunnel has been under way nearly a year, the contract having been in the hands of the Northern Pacific since the smelter going through the tunnel under Point Defiance and these following the shore line of the Sound. The total cost of the line is $4,000,000, including right of way and tunnel.

NIGHT FISHING IS TARGET

200 Sportsmen of Astoria District Plan to Stop Slaughter.

ASTORIA, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—With the avowed object of putting a stop to night fishing for trout in the various streams in the county, an organization of 200 sportsmen of this city and vicinity has been formed and each member has been appointed a deputy game warden to serve without pay but with authority to arrest offenders.

Some of the best trout streams in this district have been practically ruined by the night fishers, who build large bonfires adjacent to some of the deep pools and as the fish attracted by the light rush in, they are slaughtered by the wholesale.

GRANGE TO SHOW PROGRESS

If the implements and machinery can be secured, the Grange exhibit will start with the old sickle, followed in their order by a cradle, reaper, self-rake reaper, harrower and late improved binder.

Salmon Sanitarily Canned.

ASTORIA, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—W. F. McGregor, president of the local Fishermen's Packing Company, has received a wireless message from Superintendent Bristol at Nushagak River, saying that the sanitary canning machinery has been installed in the cannery and is working fine. The first fish of the season were packed Tuesday. These are supposed to have been King salmon, as the run of red Alaska salmon does not begin until about July 1.
