OREGON CITY JAIL FIRED BY RIOTERS

Attempt to Burn Prison Follows Miscarriage of Plot Against Sheriff.

MEN IN CELLS ARE DEFIANT

Guard, Overhearing Discussion of Proposed Attack, Foils Plotters. Thomas Burns, Portland Agitator, Again Appears.

OREGON CITY, June 13.—(Special.)—Fifteen rioters held in the Clackamas County Jail this afternoon attempted to burn that structure. The attempt followed the miscarriage of a plot on their part to escape by means of an attack on Sheriff E. T. Mass and men when they brought them their noon meal. This first plan was frustrated by a deputy on duty in the rear of the jail Thursday night, who overheard the prisoners planning to overpower the officers when they came in with dinner and "beat them to jelly."

The 15 men being held for trial at the July term of the Circuit Court have been indicted by the grand jury for rioting during the disturbance of last Tuesday night. While most of them have worked in the local mills, investigation has shown that they have only worked for from three to six days, and it is believed they were sent here to get positions, by the plotters in Portland, so as to be inside the plants when the signal for attack was given.

Late today they stuffed rags, part of which they tore from their clothes, and old newspapers into a ventilating pipe that runs from the exercise room of the jail into a vault in the rear of the building where the county records are kept.

Fire Discovered in Time.

This mass of paper and rags was fired from the jail side and burned readily, a draught of exhaust air carrying the smoke into the vault. The smell of burning paper attracted employes in the Courthouse and the Sheriff was notified.

On entering the vault room Sheriff Mass found a stream of sparks and smoke pouring out of the opening in the wall. He at once unreeled the fire hose and by hard work managed to put the blaze out before the county records had been damaged. Immediately after the danger had been averted the Sheriff and a force of deputies entered the jail and removed all paper, scraps of wood, loose articles or other matter that might be used in a second attempt upon the building.

The plot to attack the Sheriff or his deputies at meal time was reported to the county official this morning when guards were changed. The deputy on duty Thursday night told of overhearing the men planning to strike down whoever brought their dinner at noontime today and to escape over his prostrate body through the open door. Warned of this, dinner was taken in to the prisoners by the Sheriff and two heavily armed deputies, and no violence was attempted.

During the afternoon the men resented the miscarriage of their plans by rattling the barred doors, pounding the walls and shouting defiance to the county officers.

Prisoners Make Threats.

Later in the afternoon prisoners sitting near a grating were overheard to say that they "would get him yet for sticking us up on the bridge." This threat is supposed to be directed at Sheriff Mass, who, with five deputies, captured 28 of the malcontents just before dawn Wednesday morning.

Hereafter no deputy will go into the County Jail unless accompanied by two other officers, and guards about the building at night will be doubled. This last step will be taken to offset any attempt at jail delivery that may be made by sympathizers from Portland or elsewhere. That such an attempt may be made is thought possible, as Thomas Burns, one of the leaders of Portland Socialists, and who was arrested here Wednesday night for refusing to obey the emergency rules against street speaking established during the excitement following the rioting, returned to the city today in spite of the fact that one of the conditions of his release was that he would remain away until Monday, the day of his trial.

Today Burns came here and attempted to enter one of the West Side mills, but was recognized and barred at the gate. He then returned to the city proper and passed the time interviewing local sympathizers.

STRIKE AT MILLS IS DENIED

Agitators at Oregon City Are Hooted by Employes at Mills.

"There is no strike among the paper mill operatives at Oregon City," said C. Shuebel, an attorney of that city, yesterday. "Since the eight-hour schedule went into effect the men employed at the Willamette and Crown mills are better satisfied than they have been for years. The men at the Hawley mill are working on a 10-hour schedule, but they are now getting time-and-a-half pay for overtime.

"There seems to be some little trouble," continued Mr. Shuebel, "brought on by men who have been discharged at the mills, incited by outside organizers, but as to there being any real strike, neither the men who are working nor the other people of Oregon City know anything about it.

"An agitator, I think from Portland, tried to make a speech to a number of men as they were coming from work this morning, but they refused to listen to him, and when he persisted in telling them that they should strike, they hooted him."

Mr. Shuebel is a law partner of W. S. U'Ren. He was a member of the House of the last Legislature from Clackamas County, and led the fight for an eight-hour law, calculated for the special benefit of the men employed in the Oregon City paper mills.

WEST NAMES PROSECUTOR

Arthur Clark Is to Succeed to Position in Fourth District.

SALEM, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—Governor West today appointed Arthur Clark, of Corvallis, Prosecuting Attorney of the Fourth District, to succeed F. E. Wilson, who has sent in his resignation to become effective July 1.

Mr. Wilson resigned in order to devote his entire time to private practice.

SETTLER MAKES CHARGE

Idaho Stockman Said to Be Behind Contest at Burns.

BURNS, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—The case of the United States against Alphene Venator, a contest over a desert claim in Barren Valley, was transferred from Vale to Burns and a large number of witnesses were examined before a referee here this week. The case was on trial at Vale for nearly a month and the Government transferred it here. Mr. Venator says the change was made to pile up costs for him. He says the month at Vale cost him $2000, not counting his attorney's fees.

The contention of the Government is that Mr. Venator has not reclaimed the land as contemplated by law. Prominent citizens testified that the work and money expended and irrigation were sufficient.

Mr. Venator charges Monte Gwinn, an Idaho sheepman, is behind the contest. Mr. Gwinn is said to have interests with which the Venator water rights conflict. Gwinn and his two attorneys were present at the trial at Vale.

MEMBER OF WASHINGTON PIONEER FAMILY DIES HERE.

Late Alice Medora Huntington

CASTLE ROCK, Wash., June 13.—(Special.)—Miss Alice Medora Huntington, who died at Portland May 25, of paralysis, was born January 11, 1854, at Monticello, Wash., formerly the county seat of Cowlitz County.

She was the eldest daughter of H. D. and Rebecca J. Huntington, who crossed the plains in 1848, and took up a donation land claim on the Cowlitz River the following year.

In the house in which she was born the convention assembled March 25, 1852, and memorialized Congress for a division of Oregon Territory and organization of a separate territory north of the Columbia River.

Funeral services were held at the Holman undertaking parlors in Portland May 26, and also at the Christian Church at Kelso May 27, and the burial was at West Kelso. Numerous friends, including representatives of all the prominent pioneer families in the vicinity, were present.

The pallbearers were James Wallace, Patrick Baxter, Charles Dacolt, Fred Cathrs, John McCorkle and Robert Foster.

ALBANY ALUMNI MEET

BANQUET AND RECEPTION ARE COMMENCEMENT FEATURES.

C. E. Sox, Son of Former College Professor Who Conceived Association, Is Toastmaster.

ALBANY, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—With two of the original members of the association present and with one graduate attending who has been present at every reunion for 22 consecutive years, the Alumni Association of Albany College met in 40th annual reunion at Hotel Hammel in this city Wednesday night, held a reception and banquet and elected officers. This reunion concluded the annual commencement exercises of the college.

Last evening's meeting was the 22d consecutive alumni reunion which J. C. Irvine, cashier of the First Savings Bank, of this city, has attended. He graduated in 1892.

Mrs. C. H. Stewart, of this city, who was one of the speakers, is a member of the class of 1873, the first class which graduated from the college. She and Mrs. H. F. Merrill, who was also present at the banquet, and who graduated in 1874, helped organize the Alumni Association, which was formed the night the class of 1874 graduated. Another coincidence is that the organization of the association was suggested by E. F. Sox, a local business man who was then an instructor in the college, and his son, C. E. Sox, was toastmaster of last night's banquet.

Owen Beam was elected president and J. Stanley Van Winkle secretary. President Beam, Secretary Van Winkle and C. E. Sox, Miss Flora A. Mason and Mrs. J. H. Ralston will form the executive committee. J. C. Irvine was re-elected as an alumni member of the board of trustees of the college for three years.

It is planned to make the 1914 reunion of the Alumni Association a noteworthy event.

BAY CITY BONDS ON WAY

Cleveland Company Awaits Signatures to Turn Over Money.

BAY CITY, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—Word was received here today that bonds for the local port were mailed from Cleveland, O., on June 10, and will reach here on the 15th for signature. Arrangements are being made by the officials to have the bonds signed immediately and returned. This ends all conditions to be met by the local port and $4007 will be placed in the hands of the Government as soon as the signed bonds reach Cleveland.

It is not known whether work on the bar will begin this Summer or not. Much work will be done on harbor improvement by the Port of Bay City this Summer and plans are being made to begin at once. It is expected that new docks will be built by Bay City and Garibaldi and much dredging of waterways done.

Parrott, vice-president; B. W. Strong, treasurer; E. N. Ewart, secretary. The directors of the fair association are Dexter Rice, E. L. Parrott, C. W. Clark, Harry Pearce, B. W. Strong, S. C. FRIENDS OF OREGON MEET AT NEWBERG

Prominent Representatives of Church Body of Country Attend Session.

NEW EDIFICES ERECTED

Meeting Houses Rise in Year at West Piedmont, Sherwood and South Salem—Double Offering for Field Work Donated.

NEWBERG, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of Oregon Friends is in session here, the sessions to continue till Tuesday afternoon of next week. There is a large attendance, especially from Portland and Salem, as well as from many other points in Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

In addition to the members of this yearly meeting, there are a number of distinguished visitors from other states and from across the water, including Harry R. Keates, of Des Moines, Ia., chairman of the evangelistic and church extension board of Friends in America; Robert E. Pretlow, of Seattle, Wash., pastor of the Memorial Friends Church; Amos M. Kenworthy, one of the best-known of the aged ministers of the Friends Church, from Whittier, Cal.; Arthur B. Chilson, superintendent of the Friends African Industrial Mission in British East Africa; L. Hollingsworth Wood and Carolena M. Wood, of Mt. Kisco, N. Y., both prominent in many lines of church and philanthropic activity in the East and South; Maurice Rowntree, of Leeds, England, a leader in the Young Friends Movement in the mother country, and others.

The sessions today were occupied with the subject of peace and arbitration, in which Friends have always been deeply interested and in which they were the pioneers, and with the subject of good literature. John F. Hanson, of Portland, gave the annual peace report, and followed it with an able address in the interests of international amity and justice.

Seattle Man Talks.

Matilda Haworth was in charge of the good literature work, and addresses were given by Robert E. Pretlow, of Seattle, and by George F. Rounds and Evangeline Martin, of Newberg.

In the meeting on ministry and oversight this morning, the spiritual condition of the church body was considered. This, in connection with the report of H. Elmer Pemberton, of Salem, superintendent of evangelistic and church extension work, have had a large place in the attention of the delegations. There has been much evangelistic activity among the ministers of the yearly meeting, and hundreds have professed definite blessing.

Three new meeting-houses have been erected during the year, one at West Piedmont, Portland, one at Sherwood and one at South Salem. Other houses have been repaired or remodeled at considerable expense.

Money Raised for Work.

In response to a statement of the needs of the field, as shown in reports from Lewis Russell, of Quilcene, Wash.; John Riley, of Boise, Idaho; William Samms, of Alder, Or.; Harry Hays, of Greenleaf, Idaho, and others, and appeal made by Charles O. Whitely, of Newberg, chairman of the board, the meeting raised over $1000 for the general work of the committee, about double the usual offering taken for this purpose. This is in addition to the yearly meeting appropriation for this purpose, and the local expenditures.

John F. Hanson, of Portland, expressed a "concern," as the Friends call it, to make a trip to Sweden and Denmark in the interests of Christianity and Quakerism. The yearly meeting was united with him in that "concern," and he was liberated for that service, and the yearly meeting will bear the expenses of the trip. He expects to leave early in 1914. This is the third trip he has made to bear the Quaker message to the Scandinavians. The last visit of the sort was made by him ten years ago.

The opening session of the yearly meeting was a conference on the home mission interests of the church, with able addresses by Robert E. Pretlow on "Social Service" and Harry R. Keates on "Evangelism and Church Extension."

In addition to the meeting for worship this evening, there is to be the annual meeting of the Pacific College Corporation. Tomorrow occurs the educational session of the yearly meeting, the report of the department of systematic and proportionate giving and a report of the recent five years' meeting by President Pennington, of Pacific College. The Christian Endeavor rally occurs tomorrow evening.

DEAD MAN IS PETTYJOHN

HALF-BROTHER IDENTIFIES THE DALLES DESPERADO.

Relative Does Not Blame Rancher for Killing and Unable to Account for Deeds.

THE DALLES, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—The desperado who was killed Tuesday by Artis Harriman while the latter was defending his ranch home was positively identified today as Cecil Pettyjohn by his half-brother, Thomas Pettyjohn, who arrived here this morning from Dayton, Wash. He will return with the body tonight.

The dead man, who was 23 years old, lived most of his life with his mother, Mrs. R. S. Mossman, of Antioch, Cal., the divorced wife of Cecil's father, J. W. Pettyjohn, of Dayton. The mother of the dead desperado was at first reported to be Mrs. Newton Sharpshire. She is another divorced wife of J. W. Pettyjohn, but is not related to Cecil.

"I don't blame Mr. Harriman a bit for killing Cecil," said Thomas Pettyjohn today. "I or any man would have done the same thing under the same circumstances, for we all must protect our homes. My half-brother never showed any signs of insanity and never was in any sort of trouble before that I know of. He was a quiet, retiring fellow and never had much to say to anyone. Instead of being mentally deranged he was very bright and smart. He lived with his mother in California. I understand he had been in Eastern Oregon for several months past riding the range. He visited his father at Dayton two weeks ago."

ESCAPE ATTEMPT FAILS

CONVICTS FOILED JUST AS THEY SEE FREEDOM IN GRASP.

On Reaching Women's Apartments in Prison, Men Are as Securely Barred as in Cells.

SALEM, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—At least two convicts, as agile as a metropolitan scaling-ladder fireman or a circus trapeze performer, made a daring attempt to escape from the penitentiary yesterday.

The men, by feats of climbing, seemingly almost impossible, from a yard where they were at work, scaled the walls of the main cellhouse and, gaining the roof, made their way to a scuttle over the women's apartments. With a rope ladder they lowered themselves to the floor of the attic and with saws enlarged a ventilating aperture, so they could slip through it. The rope ladder again was brought into use and they lowered themselves to the floor of a room below, a distance of about 14 feet.

The men, upon reaching the women's apartments, found themselves as securely barred from escape as they would have been in their own cells. They, however, rummaged through bureau draws and wardrobes and departed as they had entered. The attempt to escape was not learned until 5 o'clock, when the women returned from the basement, where they had been at work. They were startled by the topsy-turvy condition of their rooms and called the matron.

Superintendent Lawson found a saw, cigarette papers and a rope ladder in the attic. Footprints on the floor indicated that at least two men were involved in the attempt to escape, the scratches on the outside walls of the main cellhouse indicated where the men had scaled the walls, pipes, window ledges and iron rods, aiding them in their perilous climb and descent. The superintendent in trying to discover the guilty men, is questioning and watching the most agile ones in the institution.

They evidently were not familiar with the building, for the apartments into which they lowered themselves in their effort to escape are as secure as any in the penitentiary.

MANY MISHAPS STOP MILL

Grande Ronde Company's Plant Suspends Work Temporarily.

LA GRANDE Or. June 13.—(Special.)—The wheels of the Grande Ronde Lumber Company at Perry have stopped turning temporarily. A gear which drives the lumber transfer was broken and the mill ceased operations until repairs can be obtained from Portland. The planing mill and box factory were shut down also on account of a broken engine.

Logging operations were interrupted when an engine two flat cars and a jammer went in the ditch Sunday. Another engine which was pressed into service broke its axle, putting it out of commission.

This lumber company is one of the largest in Eastern Oregon and with its hard luck a large payroll is affected.

Mineral Resources to Be Detailed.

ASHLAND, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—In accordance with an appointment from the State Commission of Mines, Dr. Winchell, of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin; L. E. Reber, of Madison, Wis.; Sidney W. French, of Corvallis, and C. B. Watson, of this city, will meet in Ashland to prepare a report on the mineral resources of the State of Oregon. The appointees have been making an exhaustive investigation of the various geological formations and mineral belts of the state.

PETITIONS ARE FILED

Referendum Sought on Appropriation Bills.

STERILIZATION ALSO HIT

Secretary of State Olcott Rejects 610 Names to Refer Workmen's Compensation Act and Contest Is Predicted.

SALEM, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—The petitions to refer the workmen's compensation act, the sterilization bill and the two bills appropriating $175,000 for the University of Oregon were filed by Secretary of State Olcott today.

The Secretary of State rejected 610 names on the petitions to refer the workmen's compensation act, leaving only 6476 names on the petitions, the law requiring that petitions for referring a bill shall have 6312. Because of the margin being so close in the number of names, there is a probability that suit will be filed to have the petitions thown out.

Harvey Beckwith and C. D. Babcock, who were scheduled for commissionerships under the act, say they have found numerous fraudulent signatures on the petitions and it is probable that they will be behind the move to have the petitions thrown out.

The petitions to refer the sterilization bill had 8522 signatures, 247 of which were rejected, leaving a total of 8275. Mr. Olcott rejected 201 signatures to the petitions to refer the bill appropriating $75,000 for buildings for the University of Oregon, leaving a total of 7450. He rejected 212 signatures to the petitions for reference of the bil to appropriate $100,000 for the University of Oregon, leaving a total of 7525.

It is not believed that there will be any effort to have petitions, except those relating to the workmen's compensation act, thrown out.

ROSES AT LEWISTON DECLARED BEST EVER SHOWN THERE.

Parade of Decorated Motors and Vehicles Feature and Perfect Weather Adds to Success.

LEWISTON, Idaho, June 13.—(Special.)—The fifth annual Rose Festival, under the auspices of the Lewiston Rose Society, opened Thursday. Weather conditions were perfect and there was not an incident to mar the pleasure of the guests. The rooms of the Lewiston Commercial Club were banked with roses grown in Lewiston, Clarkston and Asotin.

For the second consecutive time the Asotin exhibits took the big prize for the best general collection of roses. For the best collection of flowers other than roses, K. H. Clear, of Clarkston, won first prize. Mesdames Lidon and Underwood, of Lewiston, took first prize for the best florists' collection. Mrs. E. A. Eaves, of Lewiston, won first prize for the best individual rose collection. The prize for the largest rose was won by J. H. Garret, of Lewiston.

The parade was the big feature of the day. It extended over seven blocks and contained the most elaborately decorated automobiles and vehicles ever seen here.

The parade prize winners were as follows: Best decorated car with natural roses or foliage predominating, Lisceminumicum Club, of Lewiston, first; best decorated car, artificial decoration predominating, J. E. Kincaid, first; best decorated vehicle, Mesdames William Wood and T. H. Bartlett, first; best decorated horse with rider, Miss Grace Phillips, first.

According to the judges, the roses shown in competition today were the finest that the Lewiston show has ever brought forth. This was due largely to the special attention given this year to early culture of the buds to be exhibited, and the unusually favorable weather conditions for the past several weeks.

A large quantity of the roses will be sent to Moscow for the commencement exercises at the University of Idaho tonight.

RAILROAD FILL CAVES

O.-W. R. & N. Embankment Near The Dalles Weakened.

High Waters Make It Necessary to Transfer Passengers and Send Trains Back.

THE DALLES, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—This sure was hoodoo Friday, the 13th, 1913, for the O.-W. R. & N. Company. To cap all the troubles that have harassed the road for the last two weeks a large portion of the sand fill, on which the main-line tracks running past the new depot are laid, caved in this afternoon.

The high stage of the Columbia River has caused the waters of Mill Creek to back up and fill the ravine south and west of the depot. The waters augmented by waves caused by a strong wind today have been slowly undermining the sand fill. The slide left only a space of a few feet between the brink of the cave and the main tracks.

Local railroad men just had time to stop No. 18, the fast Eastern train, before she reached the fill. All of the passengers were ordered to walk the short distance to the depot. Had No. 18 been running over the tracks at the time of the slide it would have in all probability caused the total destruction of the fill and the wrecking of the long train with its hundreds of people.

When train No. 17 arrived this afternoon from the East her passengers were ordered to walk across what is left of the fill to the west end, where they boarded train No. 18 and were taken to Portland. The passengers who left Portland at 10 o'clock this morning on No. 18 were transferred to No. 17, which started back to the East with them as train No. 18.

The wrecking crews had just completed clearing up the wreckage caused Monday, when the north side of the fill slid into the water with 15 work cars.

The county authorities will appeal the case to the Supreme Court.
