A CITY OF TENTS. Today is the first day of the big camping meet at East Fifteenth and Davis, the multitude of tents resembling the camp of an army, and indeed, in a sense it is an army.

These people have never set a day or a date for his return, but insist that we are now living under the last warning: the third angel's message of Rev. 14.

No greater Bible students can be found. Earnest, sincere, a God-fearing people, whose motto, indeed, is the Bible and the Bible only, they form an army of over 100,000 tent-makers, who neither sign a pledge nor wear a ribbon in order to live up to their convictions.

These people have never set a day or a date for his return, but insist that we are now living under the last warning: the third angel's message of Rev. 14.
