Governor Says He Is Disregarding Political Consequences—Flags Displayed When News Is Flashed Over State.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 26.—(Special.)—Declaring his intention to disregard all political consequences, Governor Dunne today affixed his signature to the woman's suffrage bill.

Suffragist leaders and others who had had part in its passage were present.

Moving pictures were taken of the scene. Royalties from their sale will go toward a $25,000 fund, which the women are raising to make an educational campaign in Illinois. The women are assured of more than $1000 from the pictures.

Four Pens Are Used.

Governor Dunne used four silver-mounted pens in signing the bill. Each of the four women who composed the suffrage lobby, Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, Mrs. Sherman M. Booth, Mrs. Antoinette Funk and Mrs. Medill McCormick, will have one of the pens as a souvenir of the event. The Governor changed pens after each letter of his name and then used each pen several times.

The bill was signed at 3:54 in the Governor's office in the State House. It was a gala occasion. The women carried large bouquets of flowers, which made the rooms fragrant with their perfume.

Mrs. Dunne Close at Hand.

Mrs. Dunne accompanied the Governor to the State House and stood behind him while he signed the bill. At the end of the table stood Mrs. Trout, Mrs. Booth and Mrs. Funk, together with Speaker McKinley, B. H. McCann, clerk of the House; William L. Sullivan, the Governor's private secretary, and Fred W. Rinck and W. H. Richards, the Senate engrossing clerks, who prepared the official copy of the bill.

When the stage was set the Governor's secretary brought the bill. The Governor then slowly signed the bill, with the women eagerly watching the proceeding.

When the ceremony was over, Mrs. Trout, as president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association, expressed the appreciation of the women for the signing of the bill.

Mrs. Trout Bestows Blessings.

Governor Dunne, in signing this bill, you have won the everlasting gratitude of the women of Illinois," said Mrs. Trout. "I feel sure they will prove worthy of the trust and confidence you have inspired. May the divine power that guides us all keep, direct and bless you and every one of us forever."

"I wish to assure you that in signing this bill I disregarded political consequences," said Governor Dunne in reply. "I did what I thought was just and right."

After the bill had been signed Mrs. Dunne, escorted by her colleagues of the suffrage lobby, carried the engrossed bill across the corridor to the office of Secretary of State Woods. The bill was delivered to Mr. Woods in person and he placed it on file. Photographs were taken of Mr. Woods receiving the bill from the suffragists.

Flags Are Displayed.

Members of the suffrage lobby left for Chicago in the afternoon. They will return to Springfield next Monday to figure in the moving pictures that will be taken when the Legislature comes back on that day to act on veto messages.

Flags were displayed in Springfield and other cities in the state as soon as the word was flashed that Governor Dunne had signed the bill. The big celebration of the event will come next week in Chicago.

The bill becomes effective on July 1. After that date approximately 1,600,000 women in Illinois will have the right of suffrage.

There are 18 winners of cups and special awards which were donated. A short film, showing the judging of the babies will be presented.

VACATION'S JOY TOLD IN RHYME

GIRL LOOKS FORWARD TO GIVING PLEASURE TO FRIEND.

Swimmin' Pool, Picnics on Farm and Visit to Beach as Caddy, Boy's Idea of Having Good Time.

A reporter of The Oregonian yesterday received an assignment to get up a story of the fact that school was out. As he had been out of school for years and could not write with the necessary feeling, he hunted up three pupils who were able to produce all the feeling anyone would want on this subject.

Margaret Gruenig, aged 12 years, a pupil of the sixth B grade in the Holladay School, reported as follows on the subject, "Why I am glad school is out":

"No more pencils, no more books, no more teacher's cranky looks. At last school has let out. Now in for a good time. I am certainly glad that I am not tied down to the hard school bench for the next couple of months.

"Learning to swim will make a good pastime this Summer. A vacation in the country will be the best sport of all. Some of the children will have a good time at the beach and others at the mountains, but in the end it all amounts to the same. It's the freedom we are after."

Sylvia Westergard, aged 11 years, a pupil of the Davis School, wrote:

"I have several different reasons for being glad school is out. First I am glad I passed honorary. Now I can go to the beach and have a good time fishing, clamming and bathing in the ocean. But what pleases me most is to make a little friend of mine very happy this Summer by taking her with me to the beach. She has never seen the ocean and I know she will think it great sport to go in wading with me. Then think of the nice trip on the boat going home ready for school."

A boy's version of the situation is given by Harlan Gram, aged 13 years, living at 358 Larrabee street, a pupil in the sixth B grade:

"Today is the last day of school and I know my kind are happy as I am. This is vacation time and all the boys are glad. We are looking forward to the swimming pool and the good times we spend with our friends on picnics and on the farm. Every vacation I go to the beach and earn money by being caddy for men. This money I put in the bank. There are other games and pastimes we have which help make a very good vacation."

SALOONS LOSE PRETZELS

Last Hope of Missouri Bartender and "Free Lunch" Devotee Goes.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 26.—The last hope of the Missouri bartender and his "free lunch" devotee was shattered today when Assistant Attorney Rutherford ruled that pretzels are food, and that serving them in saloons violates the anti-free lunch law.

Application for a ruling on the right of the twisted German food in the barrooms was made by Patrick Larkin, secretary of the police department of Kansas City. Officials there and in St. Louis have permitted the free distribution of pretzels in saloons since the new law became effective.

STEFANSSON READY FOR DASH TO NORTH

Explorer Says Ship Is Best Ever Equipped.

4 YEARS' PROVISIONS TAKEN

Main Vessel, Karluk, Plans to Leave Nome July 20.

RETURN SET OCTOBER, 1916

Auxiliary Boat Alaska Will Convey Nine of Scientists—Karluk Is Smaller Than Peary's Craft, but Carries More Food.

SEATTLE, June 26.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer who will lead the Canadian scientific and exploration expedition into the Arctic next month, arrived from Victoria, B. C., tonight to make final preparations for his three year's stay in the Arctic. Tuesday Mr. Stefansson, Dr. R. M. Anderson, the biologist who will be second in command, and James Murray, oceanographer, will board the steamship Victoria and leave for Nome, Alaska, where they will join the party of 12 scientists who left Victoria on the exploration ship Karluk 10 days ago.

Mr. Stefansson was accompanied from Victoria, where he superintended the dispatching of the Karluk, by J. F. Hicks, an official of the Esquimaut navy-yard. Mr. Hicks came to Seattle to assemble equipment shipped from the East too late to be sent North on the Karluk and to purchase additional supplies for the expedition.

These will be sent on the Victoria to Nome, where they will be transferred to the Karluk and to the gasoline boat Alaska, which will be used as an auxiliary to the Karluk and will carry Dr. Anderson and eight of his fellow-scientists to Victoria Island, where they will undertake a complete scientific examination of the land.

Ship Well Equipped.

"Without a doubt the Karluk is the best equipped scientific exploration ship ever sent into the North," said Mr. Stefansson tonight. "But what the results of our expedition will be we cannot forecast. We are going to explore a large area north of the mouth of the Mackenzie River. We shall go farther north than a ship has ever sailed in that quarter. We cannot forecast what we shall find."

"We do not know whether we shall find land and if we do, we do not know if it will be inhabited. If it is inhabited it will certainly be a tribe of Eskimos, but there is little probability of there being any."

EFFORT TO "BUNCO" WALL STREET FAILS

Lobby Probers Hear Amazing Story.

LAUTERBACH AGAIN INVOLVED

Member of Congress Impersonated by Telephone.

GREAT RESULTS PROMISED

Lewis Cass Ledyard Told "Important Gentlemen" in Congress, Including Speaker, Were in Approachable Class.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The story of an effort to sell a gold brick to Wall Street and how it was foiled was told in part to the Senate "lobby" by the most sensation-producing sessions it has held in its stormy career. It was a tale of how influence was to be exerted in the seats of the mighty in Washington to prevent unfavorable investigations into the doings of the Street, of how lawsuits that the financial interest of New York would not like were to be prevented, and of how the gold brick seller was generally to protect the interests of the clients he sought in the political game in the capital.

Palmer Tells Story.

Representative Palmer, of Pennsylvania, one of the prominent Democrats of the House, mentioned for Secretary of War, in the pre-inauguration days and a close friend of the President, told the story, and Edward Lauterbach, a New York lawyer, and Representative Daniel J. Riordan, of New York, gave the committee some light on its details.

According to Mr. Palmer, Lewis Cass Ledyard, another New York lawyer, was the man who was largely instrumental in fanning the plot. The name of the man who proposed to do all these things in Washington was not given to the committee, although Mr. Palmer acknowledged that he had strong suspicions of his identity.

Lauterbach Makes Denials.

Mr. Palmer told the committee that the representations of influence in Washington had gone so far as to include the names of the Speaker, the majority leader in the House and of at least two other prominent members whose names he did not give. He said that after Mr. Ledyard had been engaged in many telephone conversations with the man who had all these goods for sale in Washington, he had met Edward Lauterbach, a New York lawyer.

BANK PLAYERS ARE VICTIMS OF HEAT

FOUR PROSTRATIONS IN GAMES IN EAST REPORTED.

Six Persons Die in Philadelphia as Result of Heat Wave; Suffering Extends Over Wide Section.

CHICAGO, June 26.—Intense heat over a section extending from the Rockies to the Atlantic today caused fatalities and prostrations in many places. Added to the suffering caused by the heat was damage wrought by attendant storms in various localities. In Philadelphia the toll of death was the heaviest recorded, excessive humidity being responsible for sixth deaths, making the total of 14 fatalities due to the same cause in the last 48 hours. Prostrations were numerous. Among those affected by the heat was Pitcher Rucker, of the Brooklyn National League club, who was compelled to leave the game with Philadelphia today.

Pitcher Fugate and Catcher Johnson, of the Omaha Western League club, and Catcher Spahr, of the Denver club, were overcome by heat during the Denver-Omaha game at Omaha. They were forced to retire from the game. Fugate, who suffered the worst attack, had just made a two-base hit and collapsed when he reached second base.

Northwestern Iowa suffered today from the severest heat of the season. Many factories were compelled to shut down in the afternoon. At Minneapolis one man was killed and another probably fatally injured while seeking relief from the heat. The men had sought relief by sleeping on a stone wall above a railroad track skirting the river bank. This morning one was found dead on the track and the other fatally injured. They had fallen from the wall to the track and had been struck by a train. The temperature at Minneapolis today was 90.

A wind storm which almost reached the proportions of a tornado swept over Kasola, Minn., today, doing more than $150,000 damage to property. A grain warehouse was lifted from its foundation and practically demolished and several other buildings were torn down.

Lad Says Resistance by Cashier Would Have Prevented Glendale Hold-Up—Flight Through Hills Described at Gold Beach.

GOLD BEACH, Or., June 26.—(Special.)—Tired, sick and hungry from his ten days' journey over the rugged mountain trails, Ray Diamond, the youthful bank robber, who on Monday, June 3, held up Cashier Smith, of the Glendale State Bank, and secured over $2500 in cash, walked into Gold Beach this morning and surrendered to Sheriff Bailey.

Diamond is being held in the county jail of Curry County pending the arrival of Sheriff Quine and Deputy Sheriff Frank Hopkins, who will leave for this city after the prisoner tomorrow.

When searched following his formal arrest a total of $2510 was found on his person. Of this amount $1930 was in currency and $520 in gold was found in his shoes and wrapped about his limbs. In his pocketbook was found about $23, which was his own money. Diamond says he got only $2510 from the bank.

Holdup and Flight Described.

Diamond talked freely to a correspondent of The Oregonian after first declaring he would say nothing for publication until he appeared in court. Finally he said: "I had just as well tell the whole story. I was drunk when I robbed the bank and had been drinking nearly a week because my lungs hurt. I was nearly wild drunk and I am worse than an 'Angus' when drunk."

"I had been out hunting and when I approached the bank I had no intention of robbing it until the thought struck me all at once. I went in and told the cashier to hand over the money."

"If he had grabbed my gun it would have been all off and I would not have shot, and would have thought it a good joke."

"I had not planned to rob the bank until walking by it, but I had been wanting to go to school and study drawing and thought 'here's my chance to get money' and I went after it. When I came out with it, I hardly knew what to do."

"They commenced shooting at me, and when bullets went between my legs and grazing my chest, I guess I returned the fire, but didn't try to hit anyone."

Home Visited in Flight.

"I got out of town and circled around to my father's ranch, got my knapsack out near the spring, where I had left it when coming from hunting, and started for the mountains. I camped about five miles this side of Glendale, the first night and crossed the mountains the next morning."

"I met three fellows with six-shooters, rifles and butcherknives. I guess they were looking for me, but I joshed with them and saw they were afraid to try to take me. I told them I was going to Galice, but I started the other way, and when I looked back they were running as fast as they could go for Galice and I hit it up the other way."

"Having sobered up, I decided to give myself up and intended to go to Grants Pass, but thought so many armed fellows, like these, would be waiting for me that someone would shoot. I did not want to kill anyone and didn't want to be shot myself. I started for the mountains, started south, went to the Tule River Ranger station, cut across southeast to Bear Creek, was lost in a fog a day, went down Howard Creek, spent one day in the tunnel, went across Bear Creek and stayed three nights at ranger stations. My grub 'run out' and I came on down and reached Norton's mine and on Wednesday I got to the Wooley Red Tub mine for dinner."

"They all talked about that 'outlaw bank robber,' so I told them I was hunting him."

"I went to Agnes and bought a suit of clothes for $7.50 and some tobacco. I stopped at the Cooley Hotel at Agnes Wednesday night and left this morning on the fish boat at 5 o'clock with Elihu Fry for Gold Beach."

"I threw my rifle overboard and made the boatman think I dropped it by accident while cleaning it. I never had any pistols or knives; nothing but my 35-45 rifle."

"I guess I am in for it, but I want to get back and take my medicine."

It is the belief of the Gold Beach officers that Diamond will defend his action on the grounds of being intoxicated or mentally irresponsible. He appears perfectly rational, however, the officers say, and displays no symptoms of insanity.

Diamond entertains the hope that the return of the money intact may save him from a long prison term.
