VETERANS' REUNION WELDS FRIENDSHIP

Returning Soldiers Say Gettysburg Meeting Full of Harmony.

OLD GROUNDS RECOGNIZED

T. B. Rand Says He Was Able to Remember Fields Over Which He Fought-Story of Jennie Wade Is Recounted.

if anything was needed to solidify the friendship between the North and the South that the Civil War tempor-arily severed, the recent reunion of survivors of the two armies on the site of the historic battle of Gettys-burg furnished the substance, say re-turning veterans,

The first members of the Oregon party to return were J. B. Rand and T. B. Rand, brothers, who fought with the Second Wisconsin Regiment, which with the Sixth Wisconsin, Seventh Wisconsin, Twenty fourth Twenty-fourth Michigan and Nineteenth Indiana, formed the famous Iron Brigade, one of the most remarkable fighting organizations produced by the war.

"We got into a good many arguments back there about certain details of the war," said T. B. Rand yesterday, "but when the big reunions yesterday, but when the hig reunions came there was no distinction between Yanks and Johnnies. We were all like brothers. We bunked together, messed together, marched together and gathered around the campfires together. We talked over the war and all were agreed that it ended fust right." Iron Brigade Draws Attention. Survivors of the Iron Brigade were the objects of special attention at the reunion. Colonel O'Conner, who was attached to Battery B, included with the brigade during the war, was host to all his comrades who fought with him. He is a wealthy Chicago drughim. He is a wealthy Chicago druggist now. He had erected at Gettysburg a big tent, accommodating 1200 men, and hired a band. Every survivor of the brigade was invited to meet there every day. Members of the North Carolina regiments against which the Iron Brigade fought a number of severe engagements, also were the guests of Colonel O'Conner.

"Thousands of people gathered around our tent every day," said Mr. Rand. "One day when the old bugler of Battery B was telling the story of of Battery B was telling the story of our fight at Galnesville, a Johnnie in the rear of the tent jumped up and

"That ain't so."
"Three Johnnies told him to get out and threatened to put him out. This fellow was an old hot head." Mr. Rand says he was able to de-termine the exact location of his regiment on the Gettysburg field and locate the ground over which he had Jennic Wade's Story Recailed.

An object of much interest to all the veterans at Gettysburg was the house in which Jennic Wade, "the heroine of Gettysburg," was shot.

The story of Jennic Wade is not a part of ordinary history, yet it is linked inseparably with the three days' fighting around Gettysburg. Mrs. Georgia Wade McClellan, a sister of Jennic Wade, was at the old home and talked to all the visitors.

Mrs. McClellan's husband was in the Union Army. She and Jennic lived in the little cottage. Jennie Wade's Story Recailed.

the little cottage at Gettysburg. On June 26, 1863, Mrs. McClellan's oldest son was born in that house. That was the day that the Confederates, under General Early, first entered Gettysburg.

Most of the women and children in the village fied. But Jennie Wade and her mother had to stay with her sick sister and her baby. During the early skirmishing some of the wounded soldiers were brought into their yard, and Jennie in danny of being reach. and Jennie, in danger of being struck by stray bullets, gave them water. On the morning of the second day of the real battle a number of soldiers came to the door of the Wade home and asked for something to eat. The Wades had nothing to give them, but there was flour in the house. Jennie started to bake bread for the soldiers. As she was kneading the dough a bullet crashed through the front door of the house and pierced Jennie Wade's heart.

Jennie Wade was 20 years old the preceding May. She was engaged to be married to Johnston Skelly, a sergeant in the Eighty-seventh Pennsylvania Regiment. He was wounded and captured at Winchester, Va., dying nine days after his sweetheart was killed.

GETTYSBURG FILM SHOWN Motion Pictures of Rennion of Veterans at Peoples.

The first genuine motion pictures of the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the "Battle of Gettysburg" arrived in Portland yesterday, and propmily at noon they were placed on exhibition at the Peoples Theater. These pictures are exceedingly interesting, showing the various spots of historic interest on the memorable field of conflict. They show the great army of tents in which 50,000 veterans were accommodated, the arrival of President Wilson and various other notables who honored the greatless by their presents. honored the occasion by their presence, and a hundred and one interesting events connected with the great affair.

Our Great Annual Sale of Wool Blankets

A Special "Mill Clean-Up" Purchase of Thousands of Pairs on Sale in the "Basement Underprice Store"

Once every year we are allowed the privilege of disposing of the entire surplus stock of one of America's largest Woolen Mills, from whom we purchase thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise annually. Of course, in taking these as they run there are some slightly damaged from coming in contact with the machinery, but the imperfection is so slight you would scarcely notice it. And then there are hundreds of odd pairs—what's left after the season's business, and they too are included in this tremendous purchase and sale. All are made in full standard sizes, well bound and well woven. Hotel and Rooming-house keepers will do well to take advantage of this—Our Great Annual Mill Clean-Up Sale of Wool Blankets. Come in the morning if it is possible to do so.
