VETERANS RETURN FROM GETTYSBURG

Battle Amply Compensated for Hardships of Trip.

MEMORIES ALL PLEASANT

No Sickness or Accident Mars Re union for Local Soldiers-Wilson's Speech Masterly, Says Captain J. P. Shaw.

Oregons survivors of the historic battle of Gettysburg, who attended the recent semi-centennial celebration there, are home, safe and sound, every one, and each is certain that the pleasures of the reunion and the manifestations of friendship between the mer who wore the blue and the men who wore the gray completely compensated for the inconveniences of camp life and ton street, will attempt to swim across the hardships of travel. Captain James P. Shaw, Commissioner for Oregon, in charge of the trip and the personal representative of Governor West at the encampment, returned yesterday morning, being one of the last to get back. The heat of the East drove all the others in ahead of him. He called on the Oregon Senators in Washington and found them both busy with the tariff. "It was the most unique and the most successful affair in the history speaking of the reunion Friendship Is Unique.

"The unique part was due to the fact that men who fought each other as deadly enemies 50 years ago should come together as the warmest friends. Why, I saw hundreds of them—Yanks and Johnnies-with their arms around one another's necks and crying like babies. There was no mistaking the sincerity of the men on both sides in their desire to forget the differences of the past and to live together as brothers and as comrades of a common of the world," said Captain Shaw in

"There was perfect order and systematic arrangement in everything. The constabulary of the State of Pennsylvania, the men of the Regular Army, the Red Cross nurses and the Boy Scouts worked in perfect unison in caring for the veterans and the visi-tors. Everything moved like clock-

"A surprising thing was the remark. ably low death rate. In that crowd of men, whose average age was 73 years, there were but nine deaths. Oregon, fortunately, did not lose a single man. Of course, there were many in the hospitals from heat and minor allments, hands and feet tied and will make the but the excellent hospital service saved swim "hobbled."

Eastern railroads, due to the heavy travel to Gettysburg, the Oregon special train arrived there exactly on time. Captain Shaw and the other veterans have praised the train service repeatedly and consistently. In appreciation of the work done by Captain Shaw in handling the details of the special and in attending to the works of his comprades on heard the wants of his comrades on board, the following resolutions were passed be-fore the special arrived at Gettysburg and signed by every member of the Party: "Whereas, the commander-in-chief of this campaign has evinced an unrivaled strategy and an unsurpassable courtesy and geniality in making all the old veterans happy during every minute of this delightful tour; therefore be it "Resolved, That we, the survivors of the battle of Gettysburg, do hereby tender our healtfelt thanks to our dear old comrade, Captain James P. Shaw, commissioner, for his very successful efforts to supply our every want during this memorable trip to Gettysburg."

"The Regular Army had charge of the rations. The service was as good as it is at home. They gave us good, wholesome food and enough of it. Some days we would get ice cream, and always lemonade and fruit. The men messed just as in the days of the war and it reminded them of old times. The Government furnished the mess kits which the men were allowed to keep as souvenirs.

"On Thursday evening, July 3, we had the greatest crowd in camp. That was Governor's day and they exploded $700 worth of fireworks on Little Round Top. It was a sight worth going far to see.
