COLTS MUST QUIT PORTLAND IN 1914

Baum Announces That Coast League Directors Closed Gates to Class B.

M'CREDIE PROMISES FIGHT

Owner of Northwestern Team Says He Has Club Over Atkin, Said to Be Prime Mover in AA Circuit for New Ruling.

PRESIDENT OF PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27 .- (Special.)-The Coast League directors at their last meeting discussed the Portland situation and it was generally agreed that Portland is get-ting too much baseball. Thereupon a resolution was introduced adopted, stating that it be the sense of the meeting that no outside league be allowed in Pacific Coast League territory after the season of 1918.

Apparently the days of the North-estern League in Portland are num-To all intents and purposes the unequivocally opposed to granting further extensions to the present class B lease in this city and that can mean only one thing—move.

W. W. McCredie, president of both the Portland Coast and Northwestern clubs, acknowledged as much last night when shown Baum's statement. He said he would make a fight to have the case reopened at the November meeting of the Coast directors if the Northwestern directors so dsired.
"But," added the local magnate, "I guess this will be the last season of continuous ball in Portland."

Colts May Go to Seattle. Simultaneously, President McCredie revived his argument in favor of placing Nick Williams' present Portland B team in Seattle next year. He hardly

"Well, I am glad to hear that Sacramento is doing so well at home as to warrant Atkin's kicking about us," added McCredie, ominously, "Sacramento is getting an edge on the percentage of gate receipts away from home at the control of the centage of gate receipts away from home—45 per cent to be exact—and perhaps we can clip off that extra dividend. I wonder how Atkin would like that?"

HOLLISTER

Which veiled threat, combined with McCredie's announcement that he may fight to have the case reopened, may be taken to indicate some lively times ahead before the matter is adjusted.

Oregon Yacht Club's Founder Seeks New Honors

Captain C. F. Todd, Who Built Lark 68, New Grooming Grayling for Race With Sparrow.

CIFTEEN years ago Captain C. F. Todd built a shallow spoonlike boat, on which he placed about 500 feet, of sail. It was a crude affair, but it inaugurated the Oregon Yacht Club, the sport of boating in Northwestern waters and the Astoria regatta.

Capt. H. F. Todd. himself to the Fish Metropolis and soon had the regatta started on its present basis. He took the "Lark 68" to the meet, and for several years cleaned the field against anything with sails. Then Todd began to build his bered. To all intents and purposes the Northwesterners will have to secure another city to take Portland's place or cut to four clubs as in 1910 when Portland and Aberdeen dropped out for one season.

A. T. Baum, president of the Pacific Coast League, openly admitted in San Francisco the truth of the exclusive announcement in The Oregonian Sunday. He said that the AA heads are unequivocally opposed to granting revived his argument in favor of placing Nick Williams' present Portland B team in Seattle next year. He hardly thinks it possible that Spokane will be dropped, yet doesn't believe the Northwest heads will again invade the smaller cities, Everett, Bellingham, North Yakima or Walla Walla, for the sixth team.

Fleider A. Jones, president of the Northwestern League, whose headquarters are in Portland, refused to comment on the probable reconstruction of his circuit.

Owner McCredie stuck to his assertion that the Coast League directors chose a poor time to stick a knife into the B league vitals. He said the resolution should properly have come up after the close of the season.

"I do not agree with the other Coast directors that the Northwest League cuts into our Coast attendance here," declared McCredia. "Poor weather and the slow start of the Coast club are to blame for the slight decrease in our attendance. I can show figures proving that we are drawing just as well as in previous seasons under similar conditions."

McCredie Makes Threat.

Jack Atkin, new owner of the Sacramento club, is believed to be the prime mover behind the anti-Northwestern fight. Atkin walled continuously at the alieged poor attendance on his last trip north early in July. He attributes the falling off entirely to the class B competition.

"Well I am gird to hear that Sacramento was runs to his credit, putting two of the offerings of Boise's star hurler, Melter, way over the fence. Aside from Martini's hitting a sharp double play pulled off by Harmon from center field and Davis at second, was the feature. Boise's three errors were costly; Walks Walla's were not. Four of Walla Walla's runs came in the third. The score:
