

SENATOR DENIES KNOWING MULHALL

Lodge Contradicts Statements of Self-Styled Lobbyist.

LETTERS INVOLVE LEADERS

Witness Before Senate Committee Says He Was Over-Optimistic in Boast That He Would Have Success Under Democrats.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Martin M. Mulhall sat on the witness stand before the Senate committee today and listened to another Senator deny his statements. Senator Lodge, mentioned as one of many with whom the lobbyist had for the National Association of Manufacturers had held political conferences, declared he did not know the witness and never had heard of him until the present investigation began.

Mulhall's correspondence read today brought him into the year 1911, when the House became Democratic. In many of the letters that year he spoke of interviews with Majority Leader Underwood, William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor in President Wilson's Cabinet, then chairman of the House labor committee; James T. Lloyd, of the Missouri district, chairman of the Democratic Congressional committee, and other prominent men.

Mulhall Too Optimistic. Mulhall wrote in the strain he used all through his letters to J. P. Bird, general manager of the association, and other officials, of having men appointed to committees for the purpose of preventing legislation which generally having much to do with the operations of government in Washington. He mentioned in his letters with assurance that he expected to have even greater success with the Democratic House than he had boasted in the days of Republican rule; but, questioned by the committee, said he had been too optimistic in his prophecy.

Senator Reed became deeply interested in Mulhall's "quite a room" which Mulhall said McDermott secured for his use on the lower floor of the west front of the Capitol, on the House side. He described it as "quite a mysterious place," and the committee will inspect it later. Mulhall went to the length of making arrangements to hire a stenographer whom he intended to place in this room and wrote to Bird, who replied the plan "would place me in a doubtful position and one that I cannot accept, feeling that the association cannot afford to lay itself liable to the slightest suspicion."

Ex-Representative James E. Watson, of Indiana, frequently mentioned in the Mulhall correspondence, will be the first witness heard after the lobbyist is allowed to go, the committee decided today.

GENERAL WILL SAIL SOON

Mexico Sends Appreciation to Eastern Nation for Participation in Southern Exposition in 1910.

SAN DIEGO, July 28.—General Felix Diaz is expected to arrive here tomorrow afternoon on the American-Hawaiian steamer Virginia, from Salina Cruz, according to officials of the line.

General Diaz will leave the steamer here and take the train for San Francisco and sail early next month for Japan as a special envoy to thank the government of that country for its participation in the Mexican Exposition of 1910.

The War Department is considering the immediate establishment of a Mexican refugee camp on Point Loma, near Port Rosecrans, according to General Leonard Wood, chief of Staff.

TWO WILSONS DISAGREE

The appointment of a new Ambassador would be contingent upon the establishment of a satisfactory government at Mexico City. Meanwhile the President advised Ambassador Wilson to take a rest for a few days, as he has been laboring under a nervous strain.

While the chief officers of the American Government were debating the facts of the situation today it became known that a movement was on foot which eventually might save the United States the necessity of offering mediation or any other kind of interference in Mexican affairs upon which the national pride of Mexico is sensitive.

Prominent Mexicans are interested in the idea and have informed Secretary Bryan that the American Government would refrain from any mediation, at least for the present, they felt confident of bringing about an understanding between the warring forces looking toward a peaceful solution of political difficulties.

Huerta May Be Persuaded. Provisional President Huerta, it is suggested, might be persuaded by his friends that with the desperate financial condition of Mexico, his resignation would be an act of patriotism and self-sacrifice.

That revolutionists in the north led by Governor Carranza have been soundly defeated by the new provisional President and the convoking of a general election would follow, and it is hoped by those who already are working for the provisional Presidency who would be acceptable not only to the Huerta administration but to the constitutionalists as well.

In the meantime the constitutional arm would be used to assist in pacifying the country where bandits hold sway and a Presidential campaign would be begun. Since Ambassador Wilson has come to Washington a report has been current that President Huerta had informed the Ambassador
