ANTI-TAMMANY FUSION CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR OF NEW YORK, WHO STARTS CAMPAIGN WITH DISAFFECTED SUPPORTERS.

John Purroy Mitchell

MITCHEL HAS FIGHT

New York Fusion Candidate Not Loyal Supported.

SULZER IS MUCH PLEASED

Tammany, However, Admits Its Prospect for Electing Mayor of New York Is Blue—Record of Nominee Is Good.

If Whitman became Mayor he would repair the Republican party. Therefore Bird took the stand, "If you name Whitman, we will bolt, and stuck to it. He would argue with anyone on the matter, but no argument would make him retreat from his position.

Hearst Against McAneny.

Hearst has been after McAneny's scalp ever since the new subway contracts were signed. In his newspapers Hearst explained just what should be done in the subway matter. McAneny, however, led the faction which did exactly the opposite. In fact the only man who stood with Hearst was Mitchell, then president of the Board of Aldermen. Therefore Hearst decreed that McAneny must be beaten, and the Independence League came to life again, and was as noisy as the Little Birds of the Progressive party. Hearst yelled "bolt," Bird chirped "bolt," and the other committeemen were afraid to call their bluff.

McAneny's campaign was based on the fact that he had put a crimp in the Tammany and police systems. Summed up his platform was: "Put an end to graft." McAneny, on the other hand, contended that by his vigilance he had saved the taxpayers from thousands of dollars of loss. The police and graft conditions were not regarded as important by him. The problem, as he looked at it, was to reduce the cost of government.

Had each man been permitted to write a platform of not more than 12 words after his name on the ballot, as is the custom in New Jersey and some other states, he could have cut the limit down to two words, for Whitman would have written "municipal honesty," and McAneny "municipal economy." Mitchell did not stand for any particular principle. He wanted the office and made no bones of it.

Republicans Are Resentful.

As conditions stand at present, the only danger that now confronts Mitchell is that the Republicans will not endorse him. Leaders of the party and thousands of the rank and file are disgusted with the selection. They do not resent Whitman's defeat so much because he is Whitman as because he was defeated solely owing to the fact that he is an enrolled Republican. They regard it as unjust, and say unpleasant things about Mr. Bird, who adds to their anger by twittering over the chances. However, that the Republicans will swallow their rage and endorse Mitchell, believing that the rank and file of the party will believe that Collector Mitchell has the National Administration behind him, and that it will hurt them on election day.

Wilson's Stand Mysteries.

Where the President stands in this matter is a question. Friends of Mitchell privately assert that the President heartily approves the selection, and sees in Mitchell's triumph a chance to reorganize Tammany. On the other hand it is whispered that President Wilson does not approve, and fears that a local factional fight will hurt the party materially.

Tammany men admit that the outlook is blue. Greater New York may have a Democratic majority, but it is anti-Tammany, as has been shown at election after election. Furthermore, Tammany is in a worse condition for a fight now than it has ever been. The police scandals have hurt; the graft inquiries operate have been damaging; and Governor Sulzer, who in spite of what anyone may think of him has a following, is on the war path. Lastly, the candidate of the fusion forces is a Democrat, who has been honored by the Democratic President with a $12,000 a year job, and is enough of a Democrat to be entitled to the ballots of Democrats.

Governor Sulzer, it might be said, is

DECEASED WILL BE CHARGED.

In the debate prior to Mitchell's nomination, Joseph H. Prioleau, chairman of the executive committee, and one of the McAneny leaders, said: "Mr. Mitchell deserves his work in the board of estimate with half a year still to serve. He had on his hands two of the largest undertakings confronting the city—the West Side improvement plan, and the South Brooklyn dock improvement. He went out leaving these jobs unfinished. He would not be able to finish the West Side improvement plan. I am not in a position to say what was in his mind on that subject."

This statement will be one of the arguments raised against Mitchell during the campaign. He has pledged himself to remain the full four years if elected Mayor, but the assertion will be made that he threw aside one job to take another, and that he left the Mayoralty to become Governor next year if things look right.

DEAD MAN THOUGHT DOG

Mysterious Shooting Occurs at 9 o'Clock at Night When Ed Jennings Fires Into Thicket Close to His Home.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—A mysterious shooting affair occurred last night at 9 o'clock just at the edge of town, which resulted in the killing of G. D. Jones, an old resident of the city, by Edward D. Jennings, his neighbor.

According to the statement of the accused, it is alleged that he was in the rear of his home in the outskirts of town engaged in cutting wood for his household. He thought he saw and heard what appeared to him to be an animal of some kind prowling in the thicket close to his home and, after listening for some minutes, went on cutting wood and then returned to the house with an armful. He suspected it was either a bear or a neighbor's dog and took the precaution of arming himself on his return to the woodpile.

Being then firmly convinced that it was either a bear or a dog, he aimed his rifle in the direction from which the sound came and, as the result proved, with deadly effect. The shots followed each other in quick succession.

"I am shot!" came an exclamation from the thicket.

Police were called and the man who committed the deed voluntarily gave himself up. He was taken to the city jail at first, but was subsequently transferred to the county jail for safe-keeping.

Jennings has lived in this city about two years and has been engaged in doing concrete work for several months past on the city streets. He is by occupation a carpenter.

Mr. Jones has been a resident in South Bend for nearly a quarter of a century, having come here, it is said, from Astoria. He had been operating a small ranch and has been supporting himself and his family in raising hogs, chickens and small fruit. His relatives by marriage are among the oldest settlers in South Bend and he leaves a family of ten children, some of whom are now of adult age.

BRADY RICH AS MORGAN

Traction Man's Estate May Be in Excess of $100,000,000.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Although the provisions of the will of the late Anthony N. Brady have given no indication of the size of the estate, unofficial estimates are published here today placing Brady's wealth practically on a par with that of the late J. P. Morgan. A former adviser to Brady is quoted as placing his estate at $75,000,000 as a minimum estimate and as adding that it might prove in excess of $100,000,000.

Brady's investments lacked the transient factor which made the fortune of his wealth so well known. It is said that he had over $30,000,000 in tobacco alone. His holdings of Brooklyn Rapid Transit stock amounted to about $5,000,000 in round figures. In Tennessee and Georgia power properties he is said to have had investments worth $10,000,000 and during the last few years he had put between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000 into Japanese lighting plants, especially in Tokio.

Sturmfeld was a member of the royal opera at Leipzig. He made a concert tour of the United States in 1911. Slezak is well known to the United States, having sung at the Metropolitan Opera-house in New York and in concerts in various cities.
