MURDER OF 3, AT SALEM, MYSTERY

Throats of Japanese Woman, Baby and Man Cut by Unidentified Person.

HUSBAND IS UNDER ARREST

Saloon Porter Also Held-Suspect Tells of Another Man Fleeing From Scene With Screaming and Fatally Hurt Child.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 7.—(Special.)—A man, a woman and her baby are dead tonight as the result of a mysterious Japanese outbreak. The throats of the victims are cut from ear to ear. Policemen and detectives who have been working at the cities who have been working on the crime since it was re-ported, at 8 o'clock, at midnight said they had no solution. The dead:

Tami Koda, wife of the owner of a codie restaurant on Ferry street.

Mrs. Hoda's baby.

Koyo Kawowa, cook at the Elite res-

Y. Koda, husband of the dead woman, is under arrest, but is not charged with any crime. He deales strenuously that he knows anything about the triple homicide and intimates that he can prove a complete alibi.

Crimes in Chiantown.

The crimes were committed in Chi-saloon, is under arriest, but he declares that he knows nothing of the killing.

The husband of the dead woman intak promising an announcement later.

Joseph McEvoy, one of the early sentent with the went to the Salem Hospital early tonight to see a friend who was iii. He says he was accompanied by two friends to the hospital and that they returned with him. According to this story, just as he reached he restaurant he saw a man rushing arms. The child was screamly in his arms. The child was screamly in his as he made a closer investigation its tirreat.

This story is corroborated by other Japanese, who insist that the man, woman and child were slain by a man who slipped in the house in the absence of the husband.

Shots Attract Police.

The police were attracted to the noodle restaurant by the reports of two or three pistol shous. On their arrival they saw a man carrying a baby through an alley to the south of the building. The man was halted and he building that the slayer was could be given. Its bead was also complete the curve of any he had seen at vacated poats. Matswura said tenight that he discovered the bodies and hastened to the Salem Hospital to tell Koda of the tragedy. He says, however, that when he arrived there the husband of the slain woman was gope and he hurried back to the needle restaurant. While the police are at sea as to the identity, of the slayer, they declared late tonight that they believed jealousy was the cause of it.

convention of the Pacific Coast Baptist Young People's Society began at 3 o'clock this afternoon following the arrival of more than 300 delegates from the ten Western states. At 3:15 o'clock President W. H. Groat arrived with the California delegation in a special train. President Groat, the other officers of the organization and the pastoral advisers will have headquarters at the Hotel Washington.

The morning was given over to registration and assignment of delegates and meetings of the executive committee, pastoral advisers and state representatives.

Those participating in the afternoon exercises were Rev. A. H. Hause, Rev. M. L. Thomas, D. D., Rev. A. J. Prosser, Rev. William Hay, D. D., and Rsv. Charles L. Maxfield.

The arrival of President W. H. Groat was the signal for a remarkable outhurst of enthusiasm. He arrived at the head of a California delegation and, before he had reached the platform, was the center of a maelstrom of application of session was provided by President Groat, who teld of the Baptist delegation for the Baptist of the Baptist of the Baptist of the Sentist of the Baptist of the Sentist of the Baptist of the Baptist War Secretary Gives Ready Ear to Tales Told by Early Settler at Washington Town.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 7 .-(Special.)-Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison was dined and entertained here today, shown Fort Walla Walla, given a sight of a combined harvester in operation, loaded down with fruit and sent on his way to Boise, but without making a statement whether Fort Walla Walls would be re-established. Captain S. B. Schindel, of the natown and persons living near the house where the man, woman and child party, said the location was against were killed refuse to say anything Walla, as troops so far inland about it.

SEATTLE, Wash, Aug. 7.—(Special.—Bound for Coos Bay to excavate 1.500,000 cubic yards for a channel from the Coos Bay bar to the ports of Marshfield and North Bend, the Puget Sound Bridge & Dredging Company's big suction dredge Seattle was taken to sea yesterday by the tug Goliah. In addition to cutting the channel the Seattle will dredge a large turning basin at the city and dispose of it and use the money to buy a site where the people want it.

The price of the Adams tract was $200 an acre. Recently, a tract adjoining the Adams' tract, but on the side narer the city, was sold by Charles P. Doe, to J. R. Preble for $150 an acre.

The city cemetery practically is miled, but the City Engineer, in looking over records and making surveys, believes that he has found an error will give to the city a strip of ground eight feet wide, the full length of one side of the property. This would make room for a row of graves, if the city secures possession.

A hurried call for the police was sent in from Second and Washington streets.

SPECIAL SESSION

Governor Won't Tamper With Law Regulating Election of Senators.

TODD WANTS JONES' JOB

Lively Fight Likely in Both Parties for Place in Upper House of Congress-Hanson May Run on Bull Moose Ticket.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 7 .- (Special.) -"I will call no special session of the Legislature unless it is necessary." Governor Lister thus reaffirmed his stand today on the question of enacting state laws to provide for the elec-tion of the next United States Senator

The question had been put up to him in the light of Senator Jones' recent declaration that, even if Congress did pass laws regulating the election of Senators, its action would not be valid, as such legislation was purely a state

"The Senator's stand may be perfectly correct," said the Governor, "but it seems to me that if the United States Senate concurs in legislation that provides the details for the direct election of men to its body, it becomes bound thereby to seat the men chosen under its own act.

"The state may be sure that a special session will not be called until the last of other devices fail. Not until I have been informed authoritatively that such a session is constitutionally necessary will I issue a call for it."

Todd's Hat Is in Ring. Into the ring, Hugh C. Todd, Demo-cratic state chairman, today shied his hat as candidate for United States Sen-ator to succeed Wesley L. Jones, Re-

His announcement is the first to be made by any opponent of the North Yakima member. In the event Toda should be elected. he will wrest from Senator Luke Lea, of Tennessee, the distinction of being the "kid" of the Upper House of Congress. He is barely 30 years old, two years younger than the Tennesseean. Todd's first political position was the County Clerkship of Lincoln the County Clerkship of Lincoln County. He was elected twice from Colfax to the Legislature in 1909 and 1911. Each time he was the minority leader of the House. Last Fall he came to Seattle from Colfax and entered the campaign for Governor. He was beaten in the primaries by Ernest Lister, the present Governor, and by Democrats Have Other Timber Todd will not get the Democratic nomination without a struggle, Friends of Stephen J. Chadwick, of Colfax, spurred by Todd's announcement, have lined up stronger than ever behind their candidate and as a result a live-ly contest in Democratic politics is im-minent in Washington at the next Senminent in Washington at the next Senatorial election. Judge Chadwick is expected to want to push a hard fight for the nomination. Todd's announcement has alarmed friends of the Judge to the extent that they fear their candidate may be kept out of the race.

The Colfax Democrat has been coy, especially since his failure to obtain the appointment as Federal Judge for Western Washington under the Wilson Administration, a plum which his friends believed was due him from his long and efficient service to his party.

Hay and Hanson also Aspire. Stiff opposition in the Democratic camp is not all that Senator Jones Koda has conducted the restaurant here for years and is one of the best known Japanese in the city. His repuproach, Matswura also has borne a good reputation and the police are convinced he knows nothing of the crime.

Although they have made an investigation, the police declared late tonight that they had no evidence fixing the crime on anyone. They, however, are convinced that the deaths were not due to a clash of Japanese clans, and insist that jealousy is back of the tragedy. Koda and Kawara, in their cells, insist that they know nothing of the killings, and say they will aid the police in every way in finding the guilty man.

No one has been found who witnessed the killings, although the police are convinced that all were slain in the clark County Superior Court.

The deed was placed in Adams' hands the killings, although the police are convinced that all were slain in the clark County Superior Court.

The deed was placed in Adams' hands when, after the land had been purchased by the city, it was discovered councilman William Tenney was interested in the deal. Then the Mayor of the grant of the socialed reform elements.
