

SENATE PREPARES CURRENCY CHANGES

Upper House Leader Intimates Suggestions From "Sense of Duty."

OWEN SURE OF PASSAGE

Hollis Says Measure Satisfactory to Administration Will Result, Notwithstanding Perfunctory Suggestions Are Likely.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—While Democrats of the House were thrashing out differences over the Administration's currency bill in caucus today, Chairman Owen and his Democratic associates on the Senate currency committee began the consideration of possible changes to be made in the measure when it is taken up in the Senate.

Plan of Action Not Set. The meeting of the Democratic members of the Senate committee today brought out a number of tentative suggestions for amendments, but no definite plan of action.

"I believe we will perfect a bill that will be satisfactory to the Administration," Senator Hollis said. "I expect to support what is known as the Administration bill, but the Senate would not think it had done its duty if it did not improve it."

Among the suggestions considered by the Senate committee today were one by Senator Shafroth to drop all present forms of paper currency except silver certificates and replace them with treasury notes secured by a 50 per cent reserve fund, and another by Senator Reed to have the treasury issue money directly to the banks under careful restrictions.

Owen Opposes Suggestion.

Chairman Owen opposed suggestions for the adoption of a plan similar to that embraced in the Lea bill, now in the Senate, which would amplify the present Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency law. He insisted that the committee should not commit the Democratic party to the Aldrich-Vreeland plan and was politically objectionable, and that it would contemplate the issuance of notes by the banks, a form of currency that is strongly opposed.

The House caucus completed general debate and will begin the reading of the Administration bill and the consideration of amendments tomorrow. The measure has now been before the caucus more than a week and its passage probably will not be completed for several days.

Henry Offers Amendment.

Representative Henry introduced in the caucus today his amendment specifically to authorize the Federal bank to rediscunt notes or bills secured by warehouse receipts or liens on agricultural products, similar amendment will be reported by the banking and currency committee.

Before the bill passes, the House and Senate will begin the reading of the Democratic party's bill, which Democrats of the Senate committee will have agreed upon a general plan of currency reform and will invite the Republican members to join them in the discussion of the prospective amendments to the bill.

Stumps Are Eradicated.

Three thousand men started work in Green County. Many of the roads that smother through the Ozarks dodge when they encounter a stump. Stump eradication was emphasized in the Greene County work. Judges Perkins, Cowell and Gersuh, of the County Court, laid aside judicial work and headed the workers.

Eastern Section Interested.

In the eastern part of the state thousands of men turned out. In St. Louis County, however, the response to the Governor's call was slight, as the county is well supplied with rock roads. The roads of the county are maintained by a heavy tax. Business men of St. Louis County, however, though there was no opportunity for them to work on the roads, contributed liberally to a fund with which to buy road grading machinery for the rural parts of the state.
