Metcalfe's hall, Sandy boulevard and East Fifty-fourth street, was fixed as the meeting place for the club.

EARL COX PLACED IN JAIL.—The eighth victim of Municipal Judge Stevenson's policy of severity with the automobile speeders was Earl Cox, driver for the Portland Taxi cab company, arrested by Patrolman Bailey and Rudolph. The testimony was that Cox traveled along Corbett street at the rate of 46 miles an hour. Spark-arresters are placed on the smokestacks of locomotives, and are regarded as a large factor in the prevention of forest fires. FOREST MAP IS COMPILED.—The United States Forest Service has compiled a new map of the Oregon National Forest. Some erroneous and out-of-date information was made that a new map of the forests of Oregon had been issued, and many requests have been made for copies of "The Oregon National Forest," which is a part of the Federal timber reserve in Oregon, was issued. REED COURSE FIXED

Six Extension Lectures Are to Be Delivered.

SERIES TO BE VALUABLE

Speaker and Lantern Operator Will Be Provided for Clubs and Societies Making Requests to Be Furnished With Them.

"The Voter and the City of Portland" is the title of the proposed extension course of lectures by Reed College this fall, announcement of which has just been made. This course will be given with the co-operation of Mrs. H. L. Corbett, Mrs. Frederick Egbert and Mrs. Max Hirsch and its object is for the "betterment of Portland through enlightened and devoted citizenship."

The titles of the six lectures are as follows: "How the City is Governed; Old and New Form"; "The City's Money; How it is Spent"; "How the City Protects Life and Property"; "The Beauty of the City; as it is and as it Might Be"; "Social Progress; for All the City's People."

About 1000 pictures will be made from which 300 will be selected for stereoscopic illustrations of the lectures. The six lectures in printed form will be given to the lecturers, and a representative of any club, circle, church, society or group in the city to make arrangements for reading the lectures and discussing them. The lectures will be so framed that they may be given either with or without the lantern illustrations, but where arrangements can be made the illustrations should be used. The course will be given by the college and co-operating committee will provide the lecturer and lantern operator.

The college and co-operating committee asks the following assistance: Suggesting ideas and providing accurate information that ought to be included in the lectures; Proposing or sending photographs that might be used effectively for lantern slides; by naming groups before which the lectures should be given; by making arrangements through the secretary of the extension course for bringing the six lectures to groups of citizens.

The Greater East Side Club is making arrangements to have the entire six lectures delivered in the East Side Branch Library, East Eleventh and East Alder streets, early in the fall. They also will be given in the Albina and North Portland libraries at dates yet to be fixed. The Mothers-Teachers' clubs probably will arrange to have the course given in several of the schoolhouses.

This was made up of $1211 from the sale of association membership tickets and $2237.87 from church subscriptions and other sources. The disbursements of $2928.67 the balance of $322.20 was given to the Portland Commercial Club on vote of the executive committee to reimburse the club for money expended.

The committee states in its report that it had nothing to do with bringing the conference to Portland or with the pledging, raising or expending the fund of $15,000, and that it was organized a year after the contract with the National Reform Association had been signed.

sorts overhead. It was shown that the doors were kept locked since the recent abatement proceedings against these places. Jenkins' saloon is the old Tony Arnaud resort at Fourth and Everett streets, while Warner's is the place owned by Charles Aubrey. A bartender from the latter place was convicted Wednesday of soliciting patronage for the women upstairs, and it was testified that as many as 50 men were sent up from the saloon in one day.

WIFE IS WON BY FIB

Oaks Attendant "Makes Good" After Practicing Considerable Deception.

A month ago Miss Norma Olding stopped to speak to Luther Hammersley, formerly editor and proprietor of the Rogueriver Argus and now a member of the Oakes constabulary force, as she entered the park. "Who's that?" was the general query, after she had gone. "My wife," responded Hammersley. "How long married?" "Dinner into the mire went Hammersley. "Two days," he said.

A surprise banquet was arranged for the couple at the house of Treasurer Younger, of the Oaks, and it was remarked by some of those present that there was evidently something worrying "Mrs. Hammersley." A few days later Hammersley said there had been a "reparation"—a "divorce" was pending. Various of the young matrons employed at the Oaks tried to get into the general query.

Yesterday morning Hammersley met his "wife." "I can't live any more, let's get married," she declares was the gist of his conversation. And last night they were "honest-for-truth" married, and that banquet of a month ago wasn't a waste of time. Hammersley hasn't the faintest idea how he is going to square affairs at the Oaks.

AUDITORIUM CHANGE ASKED

East Side Club Wants Room for Historical Society and Museum.

The Greater East Side Improvement Club wants the auditorium building erected to include also the Oregon Historical Society and Museum of Art. In a communication to the Mayor and City Commissioners the club sets forth the advantages of this combination. It urges that the plans of the auditorium be changed and that the structure be built on the two blocks on Grand avenue between Holladay avenue and East Main street, where there are two blocks available for the purpose.

"Such a building," says the letter, "would be at least 10 stories. Four stories would be devoted to the use of the Oregon Historical Society for the storage of its documents and relics and valuable records, two stories could be used for the museum department, and the auditorium with its high ceiling could take up the balance on the ground floor and should be large enough to seat 12,000 people and not 7500, as proposed by the present plans. In the erection of this combination building all unnecessary expenses would be eliminated completely. It should be a neat and plain structure of brick or reinforced concrete and would serve 10 persons where a structure for an auditorium alone would serve one person."

COLONEL SCOTT IS COMING

HITCHINGS' HEARING TIME

Witnesses Lacking in Peeping Case and New Complaint Necessary.

Though a large crowd, comprising many members of the bar, gathered in Municipal Court yesterday to hear the trial of J. "Hat" Hitchings, lawyer, accused of playing "peeping Tom," the developments were tame, due to a failure to charge an offense which the witnesses could prove. It was alleged that Hitchings had peeped in at a window, but the one witness who was relied upon to testify to this act could not be got into court.

A number of men and women told of seeing Hitchings prowling around upper Columbia street at all hours up to midnight, and they showed great indignation, saying that women and children were terrified by him. The City Attorney admitted, however, that the case charged had not been made out, and a new complaint will be prepared.
