

DISPLAYS A FAIR CAUSE ENTHUSIASM

Four Thousand Persons Attend Southwest Washington Exhibit Second Day.

STOCK ENTRIES EXCELLENT

Hogs, Cattle and Horses Attract Much Attention and Agricultural and School Department Big Features.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Four thousand visitors attended the Southwest Washington Fair today, being a record crowd for the second day.

The Tacoma special headed into Centralia just before noon, paraded the streets and came to Chehalis and had another big parade.

As the Tacoma entered each was presented with the compliments of the Western Show Gardens by a party of Centralia's most beautiful young women.

Visitors to the fair today expressed great enthusiasm over the excellence of the show, every department proving most interesting owing to the completeness of the exhibits.

Lewis Exhibit Largest.

Being the home of the fair, Lewis County naturally is best represented in every department, but the show here is by no means a local exhibition, especially as regards livestock.

Wahkiakum County has a splendid exhibit of Guernsey cattle from the farm of A. L. Gile, of Chinook.

Famous Cow on Display.

E. L. Brewer, a Satsop breeder of Jersey cattle, is on the grounds with 15 head of cattle, the pride of the lot being his famous world-beater cow, Olympia.

Thurston County's principal stock exhibit is in the swine department, in which are entered 12 head of Berkshires from the Woodland farm of John H. Miller, at Lacey, Wash.

From North Yakima there is entered a splendid exhibit of Poland China and Hampshire hogs by L. H. Linbarger, of Moses Valley, and W. O. Tyler, of Byron.

Locally the predominance of the entries of cattle are Holsteins. F. M. Smith has 11 head of registered cattle of this type.

Alex Chalmers, of Forest Grove, Or., a Shorthorn breeder, arrived last night with a carload of that breed.

In the stables are to be found several dozen registered bred, in addition to his entries there are individual entries of Durhams from local owners.

The superintendent of the various departments at the fair are as follows: Horses, cattle, sheep and hogs, R. H. Somerville; poultry, F. M. Smith; swine, F. A. Degeiler; fruit, vegetables, forage and grains, F. A. Degeiler; bread, cakes, canned goods, etc., Mrs. S. Crum; flowers and plants, Mrs. A. J. Long; art, Mrs. Oscar Nelson; needlework and textile goods and old ladies' department, Mrs. A. R. Parrish; school children and educational department, M. L. Carrier; dairy, O. C. Van Houten, State Dairy Inspector.

In the school exhibits Mrs. Huntley, Deputy County Superintendent, reports there has been unusual interest, 35 districts being present.

The judge of the poultry exhibit will be Elmer Dickson, the well-known expert of Oregon City, Or.

FISH EGGS SECURED

Warden Finley Returns From Trip in Mountains.

TROUT STREAMS INSPECTED

All Lakes in Cascades to Be Stocked, Says Official—Spawn Will Be Carried to Waterways in Hills by Packtrains.

Wardens Return From Trip in Mountains.

State Fish and Game Warden Finley returned yesterday from a two weeks' trip in which he had been looking into game conditions in Southern Oregon.

On their report will depend which road of three that are available will be chosen—the south side of the Cowlitz river from Toledo, leading through the Cowlitz Bend; the route down the north side of the Cowlitz river from Toledo to Vader and crossing the Cowlitz at Olegua.

There is a hatchery at Rogue River, which is jointly conducted by the State and the United States Bureau of Fisheries. At Spencer Creek, which runs into the Klamath river, the state is establishing a trout hatchery, and 1,500,000 eggs were taken from the fish there.

"From here I went to the Upper Klamath County, Pelican Bay Lodge, (the old Harriman estate) and to Crater Lake, investigating the streams," said Mr. Finley, speaking of his trip.

"Fish were planted in the lake a number of years ago, and now the fishing is good. One man caught four Rainbow trout, 16 to 18 inches long, in half an hour. The limit catch allowed is five fish a day for each man. A license is still necessary to fish here, as the state has never ceded the jurisdiction to the National Government. No hunting is allowed.

"Then I went to Odell and Crescent Lakes, the headwaters of the Deschutes River. They are well stocked with Rainbow trout, and the state has a little trout station at Odell Lake. We took 1,500,000 eggs from there, the best Rainbow trout eggs in the state.

"There are many other lakes in this high mountain region and all are to be stocked. The Umpqua, Rogue, Willamette and Deschutes rivers all rise in this locality, and the McKenzie and Santiam a little to the north. All are to be well stocked from the larger station being put in at Odell Lake. About 100 high mountain lakes already have been stocked and about half that number remain to be stocked.

"The railroad from the Natron cutoff, from Eugene to Klamath Falls, goes up the Willamette to Odell Lake, or will when it is finished, and we can then take the fish in or out by rail."

THEATER IS DEFINED

No Distinction Made Between Movies and Vaudeville.

DATA ASKED OF MANAGERS

City Commissioners to Frame Ordinance, Prescribing Means of Safety, on Theory All Show-houses Are Similar.

A theater is a theater. Such was the definition decided on yesterday by members of the City Commission after listening for two hours to managers of motion-picture houses on one side and managers of vaudeville houses on the other.

The vaudeville people wanted a distinction made between vaudeville theaters and motion-picture houses, so that picture houses which put on vaudeville acts would be required to comply in every particular to the building requirements provided for the regular vaudeville houses.
