SIX HOURS TO SEA,
HIGHWAYS OBJECT
Scenic Route for Tourists and Quickening of Country's Development Purposes.

MANY TO ATTEND MEETING
Julius L. Meier, President of Columbia Highway Association, Predicts Work Will Be Started Soon After Big Conference.

Six hours from Portland to the sea by automobile highway, through scenery rivaling the best Europe offers to the hordes of tourists. A highway expected to quicken industrial and agricultural development as much as any other ever constructed in the Pacific Northwest.

Probably one of the most interesting talks ever given in the state on both aspects of the question will be the illustrated lecture of Samuel Hill at the Gearhart Hotel Sunday. The vast amount of information possessed by the well-traveled man and good roads enthusiast has recently been supplemented by another exhaustive study of European roads and scenery.

Large Attendance Assured.
Two full days have been set aside for developing enthusiasm and devising ways and means for doing the maximum work. The largest delegation ever going out of Portland on a good road campaign, has agreed to go down to the sea for the week-end, and take part in the proceedings.
