Busy Housewives Will Find a

Hotpoint Electric Iron Invaluable to Them

Now that school days are almost here, the demands on the housewife will materially increase, and as every mother takes pride in sending clean, spotless children to school, the weekly ironing will be much larger than heretofore.

If you would lighten your labor and save much time, try a "Hotpoint" Electric Iron. They heat in a very short time and can be used continuously until the electricity is turned off. For this reason they're indispensable for quick ironing, and garments for the school children can be ironed in a few minutes at any time.

The "Hotpoint" Iron is constructed with an extra flow of heat into the point, making an even heat throughout. The handle is always cool because of a heavy asbestos insulation inside the pressed steel cover, which also insures economy of heat.

The efficiency of the "Hotpoint" Iron is increased by the pressed steel cover with a heavy asbestos lining; also by the heavy pressure plate which stores up the heat and holds the element in close thermal contact with the sole plate. 'Twill do more ironing in a given time with a given expenditure of electric current than any other iron of the same weight. Every domestic "Hotpoint" Iron carries a ten-year guarantee covering heating element.

HOSPITAL ORDINANCE HELD

Measure to Eliminate Tuberculosis Sanitarium Found Sweeping.

Discovering that a proposed ordinance to eliminate tuberculosis hospitals within the city limits would also prevent the harboring of tuberculosis patients in private homes, the City Commission yesterday balked on passing the ordinance until it has been amended, despite the fact that a delegation of about 100 East Side residents was on hand insisting that the measure be put through according to schedule. The hitch came up when Clerk of the ## Commissioner Grutze began to read the measure for the last time. It was found that the ordinance eliminated "sanitariums or other places maintained for the purpose of caring for tuberculosis patients." The question arose as to the meaning of the words "other places." City Attorney LaRochie ruled the ordinance would exclude the use of homes for tuberculosis patients, which was said to be beyond the intent of the ordinance.

Mayor Albee suggested that the ordinance be amended and passed with an emergency provision, but Commissioner Brewster, who has been persistent in his opposition to the measure objected. He was supported by Commissioner Dieck while the Mayor was supported by Commissioners Daly and Bigelow.

FLOWER SHOW IS ASSURED

Floral Society Enthusiastic Over Plans for 1913 Exhibit.

Unanimous were the growers and florists at the meeting of the Floral Society, Tuesday night, in the expression of their intention to organize a larger and more elaborate flower show this year than was their first annual show, which was given last Fall.

The committee in charge of details of the show, of which James Forbes is president, was instructed to begin at once to perfect final details of the plan for a competitive show. The date and place for the show will probably be announced some time next week.

Plans for the first annual dahila ## show by the Oregon State Dahila Society were also announced at the meeting last night. This show is to be held September 24 and 25. The Library Association has agreed to give one of the halls in the new Library building for use for the dahila show. R. W. Gill is president of the Dahila Society and E. H. White is secretary. Exhibitors will come not only from Portland but from Salem, Eugene, Vancouver and Tacoma.

Father George Schoener, of Woodburn, gave an address at the close of the business meeting Tuesday night on the development of rose culture in Oregon. W. L. Crissey aroused considerable interest at the opening of the meeting by exhibiting one of the first sprays of the new gladioli, "Lily Lehman," a beautiful, ivory white flower, shading into pink at the edges.

BITCRETE MAY COMPETE

City Allows Bids on New Paving for Groveland Park District.

With City Commissioners Dieck and Brewster opposed and Mayor Albee and Commissioners Daly and Bigelow favorable, proceedings were started yesterday at the regular Commission meeting for the opening of specifications for paving in Groveland Park district on the East Side to Bitcrete, a new type of paving, heretofore restricted from use in Portland.

The objections were based upon the contention that the new paving has never been tried in Portland, has failed to stand the tests in Eugene, Or., and might be a costly experiment for the ## city and for the property owners, as have been similar experiments with other new types of paving in the past.

The new paving was supported by Mayor Albee on the ground that paving specifications should be open to all paving which meets the requirements in the matter of construction. While he says he has investigated but little of the Bitcrete problem from an engineering standpoint, he has received reports which recommend it as suitable for a district where traffic is not heavy.
