

PRIEST CONFESSES TO COUNTERFEITING

Police Think Insanity Feigned and That Dentist and Schmidt Are Kin.

SLAYER SAYS HE IS SANE

Schmidt Declares He Made Spurious Money at Divine Command. Officers Insist Priest Has Master Criminal Mind.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The discovery of a counterfeiters' den which Hans Schmidt, priest and confessed slayer of Anna Ammiller, admitted today, was fitted up by him to make spurious money led the detectives, Coroner Fernberg and other visitors to his cell in the Tombs, to express the opinion that Schmidt is sane and that further investigation will develop that counterfeiting was only one of his "side lines."

To the Rev. Father Evers, chaplain of the Tombs prison, to his attorney and other callers, Schmidt admitted his connection with the flat in West One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street, where detectives found bundles of imitation $10 gold certificates.

Dentist Forestalls Officers. Dr. Ernest Arthur Muret, the dentist arrested last night after the raid upon the counterfeiters' flat, was held today in $5000 bail for hearing on the charge of having in his possession a revolver.

In violation of a state law. Through his knowledge of the law, Muret forestalled the plans of the Federal secret service agents, waiting to arrest him on a warrant charging counterfeiting. By waiving preliminary examination, Muret, for the time being, at least, escaped a more serious charge.

Bertha Zech, a servant employed by Dr. Muret, and taken to police headquarters with him last night, was released, the detectives telling the court they had no evidence upon which she could be held.

Dr. Muret, the search of his office disclosed, had been studying law through a Chicago correspondence school. Many law books and forms of study from the school were found.

Men May Be Brothers. Inspector Faurel, head of the detective bureau, returned tonight his belief that Muret and Schmidt are relatives, if not brothers. Dr. Muret told the inspector the resemblance merely was a coincidence.

"I firmly believe," Inspector Faurel said, "that before long—if the truth is bound to come out—it will be shown that these two men are more than friends, that they are kin."

Alphonse G. Koelble, Schmidt's attorney, visited the prisoner today, and after the conference, declared that he was more than ever convinced of the insanity of his client.

"He declares that he is sane," Koelble said in explanation of his belief. "He says one of his former patients is Schmidt, the priest, that another is Dr. Muret, the medical man, and a third the counterfeiters. He freely admitted his intention to make money, but says the money was not counterfeit, but real money made at the command of God."

To Father Evers Schmidt is quoted as saying that "God gave me the plates," and in reply to a question by the chaplain as to why he became a counterfeiters' priest said:

"There are so many poor people in the world. There are so many people who are sick and who are in dire need that I was going to help them—was going to better their condition. Half of the money I was going to devote to bettering the condition of the poor people of the world, the other half was to be devoted to bettering the condition of the poor of Germany."

These explanations of his acts, the detectives contend, merely are in line with his prearranged plans to appear insane, while at the same time telling his attorney that he is sane.

HOPYARD WORK SOON OVER

Weather This Year Ideal, Rain Being Great Aid, Not Hindrance.

INDEPENDENCE, Or., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—A large number of the hopyards of this vicinity will finish up with the picking this week. The weather for the picking this year has been ideal, sunny but not too hot. The rains the first week of the picking season washed the dust off the vines and cleared the atmosphere, and since this time there has not been a day lost in the gathering of the crop. The quality of hops this year is the best that it has been for a number of years, being better in size if any mold. The C. A. McLaughlin yard finished today and H. Hirschberg, who owns the place and is president of the Independence National Bank, and also owns the Independence & Monmouth Railway Company, distributed a large amount of money among the pickers today, scattering the money and letting them scramble for it.

JAP INTERPRETER ASKED

Dr. Marcellus Shows Need of Help to Aid Sanitation Plans.

How to explain technical rules on sanitation to Japanese who cannot speak English is a problem which City Health Officer Marcellus faces. For about two weeks he has been trying to explain to proprietors of Japanese restaurants in the North End that they must clean up their premises, in compliance with the city health ordinances, but his efforts have been in vain.

In a last attempt to get the proposition clearly up to the proprietors, he has asked for the appointment of a Japanese interpreter. "When I go into the places and try to talk sanitation, the proprietor thinks I am trying to order noodle soup," said Dr. Marcellus yesterday. "Perhaps with an interpreter I can get some better results."

CHANGE OF VENUE DENIED

Judge Humphries to Hear Contempt Case at Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 16.—Superior Judge Humphries denied the motion of Thorwald Siegfried, cited for contempt of court, for a change of venue. Affidavits charging Judge Humphries with prejudice against Siegfried were ordered stricken from the record.

Humphries said the act of the Legislature permitting a change of venue whenever a defendant asks it did not cover contempt of court cases. Siegfried's case is set for Thursday morning.

WOMAN FOR WHOM $650,000 NECKLACE, FOUND IN LONDON STREET, IS THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN DESIGNED.

MRS. W. K. VANDERBILT.

PEARLS ARE FOUND

Workman Kicks Package Containing $650,000 Necklace.

REWARD WILL BE $50,000

Jewels, Which Were in Transit Between Dealers, Believed to Have Been Destined Ultimately for Mrs. Vanderbilt.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—A laborer on his way to work in Highbury, a suburb of London, kicked a disreputable looking package today, and was amazed when he found himself a little later the possessor of a pearl necklace worth $250,000.

It was the necklace which, destined from one dealer to another and now thought to have been intended ultimately for Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, was stolen July 18 from the mails on the way from Paris to London. There is a reward of $50,000 for the recovery of the necklace, and this probably will go to the workman.

There were 29 graduated pearls in the original necklace. When it was found 59 were in place. The necklace is said to have been the most valuable in the world. It weighed altogether 1250 grains. The center pearl weighed 47 grains.

The robbery of the necklace from the registered mail was carried out in a very clever manner. The postal seals did not appear to have been disturbed in any way, but when it was opened it was found to contain only pieces of French sugar.

It had become generally known that the police investigation had narrowed to a small radius, and it is believed that the thief who had the jewels, realizing the danger of arrest, purposely "lost" the pearls.

The 29 pearls found were in perfect condition. Besides two loose pearls not belonging to the necklace, which were packed in the same registered mail parcel when it left Paris, only a single pearl forming part of the necklace is missing.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Two women, one the daughter of E. Aldridge, prevented a murder last night, say the police, when they interfered in a quarrel between Aldridge and Spero Dragolich.

Aldridge is said to have attacked Dragolich after it is alleged the latter had attacked Miss Kattie Aldridge on a Hoquiam street. Aldridge had Dragolich down on the ground and was aiming a long buter knife at his throat when the daughter and another woman interfered, according to police. They held the father back until aid came. Aldridge is past middle age. Dragolich is in jail.

An unrequited passion is declared to have been Dragolich's motive in interfering with Miss Aldridge.
