THE OREGONIAN'S HOME INDUSTRY PAGE

Cash Prizes for Labels from Goods Advertised

Oregon is growing—by leaps and bounds. But it is the co-operation—the loyalty of our people that is going to put this great state forward at a pace that we all expect. It is the factories—the converting of raw materials right into the finished product here within the boundaries of our own state that will give employment to thousands in every walk of life, and keep millions of dollars at home for the financing and upbuilding of Oregon interests.

The Oregonian has planned this Home Industry Page with the firm belief that it will be a step in the right direction. For these Oregon-made or Oregon-converted products advertised herewith stand on their merits. To give an added incentive for you to demand them of your dealer, The Oregonian offers 6 cash prizes each month for the most labels or saleschecks secured from articles advertised on this page.

PASTOR IS HONORED

REV. E. S. BOLLINGER HAS SERVED CHURCH 7 YEARS.

Special Anniversary Services Held by Highland Congregationalists. Many Improvements Noted.

Rev. E. S. Bollinger completed the seventh year of his pastorate at Highland Congregational Church, Prescott, and East Sixth streets, yesterday, all of which have been years of progress and upbuilding. Mr. Bollinger was called from the Oregon City Congregational Church, where he had been pastor for seven and one-half years. The membership of the Highland Congregational Church, when he accepted the pastorate, was about 50. Membership now stands nearly 200, and it has a large and prosperous Sunday school. Since Rev. Mr. Bollinger came the church has acquired a manse at a cost of $1500 and has made improvements to the church building at a cost of $2500. Paving has been done on East Sixth and Prescott streets at a cost to the church of $1900, all of which it is hoped to pay off by January. The 10th anniversary of the church will be observed in December. Rev. Mr. Bollinger has taken high rank among the Portland ministers.

Yesterday was rally day and the exercises were held at 10 A. M. Classes were promoted and diplomas were granted to those who had completed the course. W. H. Barber is serving his fourth year as superintendent of the Sunday school, and L. Scobee has been assistant superintendent for six years. At the morning church service Mrs. Julia C. Hockett, formerly of the Denver Conservatory of Music, sang "Fear Not, Ye, O Israel." The sermon was appropriate to the occasion.

Seven years ago this church was surrounded by only a few residences and was considered in the suburbs. Today it is surrounded by one of the most thickly settled districts of Portland, and it is estimated that 15,000 people have made their homes in that neighborhood. FUND CAMPAIGN IS ON

ROSE FESTIVAL ASSOCIATION TO SOLICIT CONTRIBUTIONS.

Charter of Reorganized Body Sent to Secretary of State—Better Floats Are Promised.

The charter of the reorganized Rose Festival Association, which was signed at the meeting of the executive committee, was sent to the Secretary of State Saturday and the new association already is launching the campaign for funds to conduct the 1914 Festival. Personal letters reciting the work of former years and giving the plans and the budget necessary for the coming Festival will be sent to former contributors. This campaign by letter will be followed up with a canvass and in the meantime the other committees will proceed with their preparations for the different departments of the Festival work. For the pageantry of the Festival it is proposed to set a standard of beauty, which all entering floats and vehicles must attain before they will be permitted to participate.

Oregon Agricultural College may be called on to send cadets to assist in the electrical pageant, which probably will be historical in character, and other organizations outside of Portland also will be asked to assist in the Festival. The executive committee has adopted the official letterhead design submitted by the Hicks-Chatten Company as the best of several designs offered. The official Portland rose is used effectively in the design.

Heads of all of the special committees report excellent progress in their plans, and within a few days definite outlines of many of the events proposed for the Festival will be ready for public announcement.

MISSIONARY IS SPEAKER

Rev. Thomas B. Wood Conducts Both Services at Centenary Church.

In the absence of Rev. D. H. Trimble, the pastor, at the annual conference in Eugene, Rev. Thomas B. Wood, a South American missionary, occupied the pulpit of Centenary Methodist Church Sunday for both services. At the morning hour Rev. Mr. Wood gave a graphic word picture of conditions in the South American countries, and especially of Peru, where he passed 23 years. He said that most of the South American countries have finely modeled constitutions, yet they fail to get the same results that the American Government secures. He attributed this to the lack of moral and religious instruction and Bible reading such as prevails in the United States.

At the night services he gave an illustrated address on South America. The pictures thrown on the screen depicted life in that country, and he explained them verbally. As the gospel is extended, said the speaker, revolutions become less frequent and the people more happy and prosperous.
