

PROSECUTION OF SULZER FINISHES

Governor and His Wife Both Expected to Take Witness Stand in Defense.

COLWELL STILL MYSTERY

Man Who Handled "Account No. 500" in Wall Street Kept in Background—"Woman in Case" Not to Be Called.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The Assembly board of managers rested its case today in the trial of the impeachment of Governor Sulzer. The High Court then adjourned until tomorrow, when counsel for the Governor will submit several preliminary motions for the court to decide before opening the case for the defense.

These disposed of, counsel probably will ask permission to take another adjournment before calling their first witness. This witness, it is said, will be Louis A. Sarecky, the Governor's campaign secretary, whom counsel for the impeachment managers failed to put on the stand, although he was under subpoena. Sarecky indorsed many of the checks given Sulzer in his campaign which were not reported in his sworn statement of campaign contributions.

Whether the long-missing Frederick L. Colwell, the Governor's alleged agent in his Wall Street transactions, will be called was a subject of much speculation tonight. His whereabouts have been known to the Governor's attorneys, but they have declined to produce him unless it was stipulated that he would not be placed under arrest for refusing to obey the subpoena of the Frazer investigating committee. This, counsel for the impeachment managers said tonight, they were powerless to prevent.

Josephine Home From Europe. Lieutenant Commander Josephine, who paid a debt of $2,752 contracted by the Governor with Harris & Fuller, according to the attorney, is expected to be another witness. She is expected to arrive today from New York, where she arrived today from Europe. His testimony, it is said, will be highly favorable to the Governor.

Attorney Harvey D. Hinman will make the address opening the Governor's case. It was chiefly because Mr. Hinman, who has conducted most of the cross-examination, had become exhausted that Judge Cady Herick, chief counsel for the defense, asked today that adjournment of the case for one day. This request was denied by the court in an executive session.

The close of the case of the Assembly managers today marked the lapse of two weeks since the trial began and of six days consumed in taking testimony. Many witnesses under subpoena, including William J. Connors, of Buffalo, and Hugh J. Kelly, of New York, railroad builder, were not called. Both were subpoenaed to testify as to contributions they are supposed to have made to Governor Sulzer. They may be placed in the stand in rebuttal.

"Account No. 500" Aired. The final shot of the managers was the testimony of John B. Gray, member of the brokerage firm of Gray, member of the brokerage firm of Gray, which handled the "account No. 500" of Frederick L. Colwell. Gray testified that Colwell had told him this account was Governor Sulzer's. Gray also said he had contributed through Colwell to the Governor's campaign fund on a representation that it would bring him business, and that one time Colwell said a bond purchased was for a woman.

Attorneys for the managers expressed themselves tonight as well pleased. Now that the direct testimony is all in, Attorney Leadore J. Kresel said that no further effort would be made to find the "mysterious woman" in the case. She is Miss Besale Colwell, relative of Frederick L. Colwell.

Board of managers wanted her chiefly to testify regarding the whereabouts of Colwell, but they also intended to question her as to her knowledge of his stock dealings for the Governor.

"Counsel for the board is satisfied," said Kresel. "We feel that we have shown almost everything we promised. Some ground which was to be covered will be gone over on redirect examination."

"Why did we not call Sarecky? He was a hostile witness on the side of the case. When he is called to the witness stand, if he ever is, we shall question him. We also shall interrogate Colwell at length if he is called."

DANISH SENATE IN PERIL Government Determined to Make Upper House More Democratic. COPENHAGEN, Oct. 1.—The dissolution of the upper House of the Rigsdag was ordered today in consequence of the third reading in the lower House of a bill granting universal suffrage to women, depriving the crown of the right to nominate 12 members of the upper House, and withdrawing the special privileges with respect to the suffrage heretofore possessed by wealthy voters.

The Government is determined to make the upper House, in which the conservatives have a small majority, more democratic. The political tension is extreme and the result of an appeal to the country is certain.

Eugene Postal Receipts Grow. EUGENE, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Postoffice receipts in Eugene for the quarter ending September 30 show an increase of 14 per cent over those of the corresponding quarter of last year, the figures being $19,574.43 for the three months this year, as compared with $27,238 for the same months last year. A year ago the political mail was beginning to go before October 1, so the gain over normal business is in excess of 14 per cent.

FORMER RULER OF PORTUGAL AND HIS YOUNG ROYAL BRIDE WHO, IT IS SAID, HAS RENOUNCED HUSBAND.

EX-KING MANUEL AND WIFE

"LIES," SAYS EX-KING

Manuel Denies Ugly Stories as to Royal Wife's Illness.

"WILD OATS" DAYS OVER

Erstwhile Ruler of Portugal, Now Son-in-Law of House of Hohenzollern, Says Portuguese Republicans Started Gossip.

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—Having, it is said, renounced his father-in-law, Prince William, head of the house of Hohenzollern, that the days of his wild oats sowing are past and that the ugly, gossiping stories associating his past with his recent bride's illness, ex-King Manuel of Portugal today began a campaign to deny to the public the stories that have blackened his reputation in the eyes of the world.

It was reported that the ex-King, whose deposition has been traced to a now famous ballet dancer and vaudeville, had been cast aside by his royal bride a few weeks; that the bride was suffering at a hospital, and that she would refuse to have anything to do with him henceforth, laying the blame for her illness to her husband, the former Portuguese ruler.

Today ex-King Manuel removed from his hotel in Munich to quarters in the hospital where his wife is a patient. The ex-ruler saw to it that the newspapers learned of this move. Then he made it known that when his wife recovered he will seek a residence in Twickenham, in England, Fulwell Park being the designated section.

Ex-King Manuel says the scandalous ugly stories that have been published about him and which placed the cause for his wife's illness, worked up by the Republicans of Portugal, who are growing royalist sentiment in favor of the deposed king. The erstwhile ruler said the Republican leaders were worried at the sentiment in his favor and sought to discredit him.

The fact remains that the young bride's honeymoon was suddenly terminated shortly after the wedding ceremony and that the royal heiress of the non-ruling Hohenzollern house had never been ill until after her marriage. The stories of the nature of her ailment, especially ugly, despite the efforts of Manuel to down them. In effectual in his efforts to suppress the gossip and reports, the ex-king has undertaken to deny them.

SINNOTT MAKES PLEA

HOUSE ASKED AGAIN TO PUT JUTE BAGS ON FREE LIST

Democratic Majority Votes Down Proposal, but Not Until Side of Farmers Is Presented.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Oct. 1.—Before the conference report on the tariff bill was voted on today in the House Representatives, Senator Chamberlain from the Ames-Newville Company, of Portland, protesting against the amendment, and this letter was used before the finance committee to defeat the amendment and later was used in the Senate to justify the retention of the duty on bags.

Mr. Sinnott said there had been much Democratic talk about placing the duty on jute bags on the free list, most of these necessities being products of the farm, but one of the necessities of the farmer, he said, was jute bags, which Congress had refused to place on the free list.

He said that Oregon alone uses from 15,000 to 20,000,000 of these bags yearly for marketing grain and potatoes, and as the law now stands Oregon farmers must pay taxes of about half a cent a bag because of the retention of the Jones amendment. He maintained that it was unfair to place on the free list products of the farm, and require the farmer to pay a tax on sacks for marketing his products.

CITIZENS CONTEST RAILWAY OPENING

Fence Is Built Across Track and Gravel Dumped on San Leandro Extension.

DYNAMITE IS THREATENED

Property Owners With Rifles Patrol Region in Controversy Growing Out of Disputes Over Passenger Fares.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Halted by a mound of gravel and a ten-foot fence, which was built overnight, the Southern Pacific found today that its electric trains could not get past Park avenue on the recently completed extension from Melrose to San Leandro, Walter Leimert, a wealthy real estate dealer of Oakland, and 400 property owners of the district around Havens Court have armed themselves with dynamite and rifles and property owners is now being fought.

The Havens Court people say that they are not protesting their objections against the right of way with their lives if necessary.

Citizens Raise Obstruction. Leimert, who is connected with the Wickham Havens Real Estate Company, the leader of the Havens Court residents in their fight against the railroad, last night had several loads of gravel dumped on the tracks and a ten-foot fence built across the right of way. William Bradley and A. Taggart, deputy constables, were placed on guard to see that the obstruction was not interfered with, and when the first train arrived at 6:30 A. M. at Park street all efforts of trainmen to clear the track were resisted.

After the railroad officials declared that they intended removing the obstruction by force, Leimert bought a large quantity of dynamite and called on the property owners of Havens Court to assist him. Four hundred of these hastily secured arms and the region is now being patrolled by determined men, who are said to have declared that they would die rather than permit the obstruction to be removed.

Quarrel Is Over Rates. The quarrel, which is a result of a difference of opinion as to the passenger rate that should be charged to San Francisco, has been waged for some time. The property owners of the district have a franchise from the City of Oakland and an order one from the Board of Supervisors, they need no permission.

The Southern Pacific announced its intention of not attempting to run the cars east of Melrose until it had obtained such an injunction, which it will have secured at once. It is said that if this action is taken the clash between the armed forces may be averted. The company contends that by the franchise with the City of Oakland and its supporters it agreed only to grade the street and pave it, and that there is nothing in the contract which would have secured at once. It is said that if this action is taken the clash between the armed forces may be averted.

Smallpox Causes Excitement. Those familiar with the situation believe that the danger of a general conflagration is passed and that almost nominal conditions will prevail unless irresponsible mobs should get control of the city.

Discovery of several cases of smallpox today created intense excitement among the poorer classes, most of them in Piedras Negras. No trace of the disease was found among the wounded, the most of whom were transferred to Eagle Pass today.

TROOPS MUST AWAIT ORDERS

Line Not to Be Crossed Except on Specific Instructions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Orders that no American troops be sent into Mexican territory at Piedras Negras without specific instructions from Washington went from the War Department today to General Bliss, commanding the United States' border forces.

Full advices have been received from General Bliss and Consul Blocker concerning the critical situation existing at Piedras Negras, but the Washington Administration is confident that there would be no developments to make necessary a departure from its settled policy of non-intervention.

As a result of several conferences between Consul Blocker, Major Caldwell, commanding the American troops at Eagle Pass, Tex., and the Constitutionalists, it was arranged that the Constitutionalists would not attempt to destroy bridges there. This had been demanded on the ground that the bridges were necessary to insure the safety of the Americans and other foreign residents in Piedras Negras.

The instructions to General Bliss would not operate to prevent American troops from returning any fire that may be directed on them from the Mexican side. Several days ago General Bliss was authorized, at his own request, to take care of any of the Mexican wounded of either side that should come across the river. This authorization, it was said at the State Department, was sufficient to warrant the general in taking under his care the six carloads of wounded Constitutionalists reported today to have been sent across the Rio Grande by the fleeing rebels.

Regarding the disposition of the large number of refugees who are trying to cross the bridges at Eagle Pass, it was said at the War Department that as many of them as bear arms or are undoubtedly soldiers would be "detained" by the American military and police, while the immigration inspectors and customs officers will deal with the civilian refugees.

"HOBO KING" IS SEATED

GOOD ROADS DEMANDED AS HELP IN GETTING JOBS.

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—Technical discussion occupied the greater part of today's sessions of the American Road & Builders Builders' conference, which opened here last evening. The subjects ranged from the selection of road material to the financial side of the question. The discussion was interrupted today by the entrance of a man who shouted: "I am the hobo king of America. Who is more interested in good roads than the hoboes? I ask to be seated in the Congress." The hobo wants work and is idle through no fault of his own. There are 200,000 hoboes in this country and we want good roads, so it will be a good idea to fix 'em."

Among today's speakers and their subjects were: William L. Bowman, a New York City attorney, who discussed legal suggestions regarding road contracts; Daniel J. Bauer, of New York City, the protection and upkeep of road equipment; Halbert F. Gillette, highway accounting with special reference to maintenance, and Henry G. Shirley, chief engineer of the Maryland State Roads Commission, whose subject was systematizing the purchase of road materials and equipment.

UNNAMED MAN IS ACCUSED

Mother Says She Was Inspired to Get Rid of Children.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—According to a statement today by Chief of Police Marlinson and County Attorney Robertson, Mrs. Ida Lockwood made a second confession today with regard to the death of her children. The police declared last night that Mrs. Lockwood confessed to having caused the death of six of her children by poisoning.

In her confession today, the officials assert, Mrs. Lockwood declared that she had murdered one of her children and attempted to kill another and to take the life of her husband within the last month. She is said to have admitted having killed her daughter, Viola, aged 12, between 1905 and 1913, she said, died from natural causes. Mrs. Lockwood is said to have declared a man whose name has not been made public inspired her "to get rid of her entire family."

COMMERCE COURT LOSES

House Committee Agrees to Provision for Abolishment.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—A struggle to save the commerce court from abolition in the Senate appropriation committee ended today when the full committee agreed to the provision placed in the urgent deficiency bill by the House, abolishing the court and distributing its jurisdiction to the various District Courts.

Supporters of the court made a vigorous fight to prevent the adoption of the House provision by the committee, but were defeated.

The idea, according to a public health report on "Flea Disturbance," roasts many insecticides—formalin, phenol, mercuric chloride, sulphur. He succumbs readily, however, to a mixture of soap and water.
