

BANKERS HOOT AT DEFENSE OF WILSON

Delegates Derided When They Stand Up for Administration Currency Bill.

HISSING HEARD ON FLOOR

Resolutions Finally Adopted, However, Commend President, Secretary of Treasury and Congress for Efforts.

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—The bankers of the United States declared again today their opposition to the proposed Federal reserve plan of reform in the currency and banking system. With only one dissenting voice on the final vote, more than 2000 bankers from all sections of the country gathered at the first day's sessions of the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association, ratified the action of the conference of bankers in demanding amendments to the Federal reserve act, now pending in Congress. The convention also approved the work of their own currency commission, which earlier in the day had reported the system of governmental control, proposed by Glass-Owen bill, to be socialist and imposing "unwarranted hardships on the banks and equally unwarranted hardships on the general public."

President and Congress Commended.
The resolutions in which this ratification and approval were contained also included commendations of "the President and the Secretary of the Treasury and Congress for their efforts to create in this country an elastic as well as safe currency and pledged them hearty support for the enactment of proper legislation to that effect."

The addition of this paragraph as an amendment to the resolution was proposed at the afternoon session by ex-Representative O'Neill, of Boston. Mr. O'Neill was one of several speakers whose names have been hoisted from the floor in the forenoon. He and ex-Representative McRae, of Arkansas, together with H. A. Moehlenpahn, president of the Wisconsin Bankers' Association, had rallied to the defense of the Administration, which had been attacked by many of the previous speakers.

Defender is Hooted Down.
Acting President Reynolds, of Des Moines, in his annual report, had criticized the currency bill and ex-Representative Hill, of Connecticut, had attacked the good faith of the Administration and introduced resolutions against the bill, when Mr. McRae took the floor. His attempted defense of the Government was treated with derision. Delegates tried to hoot him down with cries of "no, no; question, question." Mr. McRae stood his ground and asked for a hearing, saying:

"I am a banker myself, but I am unwilling to sanction the language of Chairman Hepburn, of the currency commission, when he charged the President and Congress with being a pack of Socialists. 'Don't side step the issue. The question really at stake in the currency bill is this: Shall the Government of the United States control the currency of the country or shall the Government of the United States control it?'"

"We Should," Hundreds Cry.
From hundreds of voices there came a reply to the question: "We should, we should!"

Mr. McRae then exclaimed: "Yes, in just the same way every criminal would like the right to be judge of his own offense so that he could deliver a verdict of 'Not guilty.'" Some hissing was heard as Mr. McRae finished.

Mr. Hill, in introducing the resolutions, had characterized the bill as it now stands as "providing for a legalized Government combination and monopoly as a substitute for the individual competitive enterprise of 25,000 independent banks, organized under the existing laws of the states, National and in which billions of dollars of the people's money have been invested in good faith."

He said the recommendations of the Chicago conference should be followed.

Spirit of Hostility Deplored.

Mr. O'Neill in presenting an amendment of thanks to the President and Congress, said:

"I want an amendment to the Glass bill, don't mistake me. But if you gentlemen think you are going to win a compromise from Congress if you go before them in a spirit of hostility, I tell you, you will get nothing."

Mr. O'Neill's amendment was carried. The resolutions as adopted as an amendment were considered and voted on, sentence by sentence, then as a whole, and as finally adopted were:

"Resolved, That we approve the work of the Currency Commission and that we ratify and endorse the action of the Chicago conference, the conclusions they reached and the recommendations they made;

"That we urge on Congress the wisdom and the necessity of incorporating into the proposed law the amendments recommended by the Chicago conference, all of which have been elaborately presented to the committee on banking and currency of the United States Senate, in which body the proposed law is now pending.

EXPLOSION INJURES TWO SEAMEN ON REVENUE CUTTER LEE ARMUS AND LEGS IN ACCIDENT.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 8.—The explosion today of a primer in a three-pound shell on board the revenue cutter Tuscarora seriously injured two men of the crew, F. Diebold, a seaman, whose left arm was blown off, and who was wounded about the legs, and Olaf Foss, a gunner, who lost his right leg and sustained wounds in the neck, hands and chest.

The two men were knocking out the primers of the three-pound shells, which had been fired, preparatory to reloading them. They failed to notice that one of the primers had not been exploded and struck it with a band mallet. The vessel, which was off Port Washington on the way to Manitowoc for target practice when the accident occurred, returned here at noon. It is thought both men will recover.

ROYAL COUPLE WHOSE REUNION INDICATES EFFORT TO COMPROMISE DISPUTE ABOUT THRONE.

PRINCE JOINS WIFE

Ernest August and Victoria Louise Are Reunited.

SUCCESSION IS TANGLED

Royal Husband Willing to Make Concessions as to Throne of Brunswick, but Prussian Nationalists Are Dissatisfied.

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—Prince Ernest August of Cumberland and his wife, who was the Princess Victoria Louise, were reunited today. This is regarded in official circles as an indication that the recent trouble over the succession to the throne of the Duchy of Brunswick was rather a controversy between the Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, and his advisers than between the Hollenzollern and Guelph families.

Prince Ernest August authorized the statement today that he considers himself bound for all time by his distinct promise in a letter to the Imperial Chancellor to do nothing and to encourage nothing against the present composition of Prussia and the German empire. His statement, however, does not contain the explicit renunciation of his claims to the Hanoverian succession demanded by the Prussian Nationalists.

The Prince's statement, which includes the assurance that his promise would remain in full force in case he became a Prince of the Empire, was drafted after lengthy conferences at Gmunden, Austria, with the Duke of Cumberland and Prince Adolph of Schaumburg Lippe, and is regarded as representing the extreme concession Cumberlandians are prepared to make to Prussian sensibilities. It is generally regarded that it will scarcely satisfy the Prussian nationalists, and it does not blind the Prince's father, the Duke of Cumberland, or his posterity.

PHONE SUIT WILL WAIT

M'REYNOLDS UNDECIDED AS TO POLICY TO PURSUE.

Action Now Pending in Portland Federal Court Expected to Have Bearing on Outcome.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Further steps to determine the policy of the Department of Justice toward the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, the so-called "Bell telephone trust," were taken today, when N. C. Kingsbury, vice-president of the company, had a conference with Attorney-General McReynolds. Department officials declined to comment on Mr. Kingsbury's visit, but it is probable that suit under the anti-trust act, contemplated for several months, will not be begun for the present.

Before his visit to the Attorney-General Mr. Kingsbury was at the Interstate Commerce Commission, which is expected to report its ideas of whether the best policy for the Government to pursue toward the American Telephone & Telegraph Company is to regulate it, compel competition under the Sherman law, or approve its acquisition and operation by the Government.

APPEAL MADE FOR NOME

Chamber of Commerce Asks for Cash to Be Sent to Stricken City.

No responses were received yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce to the appeal for funds for the relief of sufferers in Nome, who lost their homes and property in the recent fire and blizzard that devastated the city and swept away a large part of the winter provisions. The last boat for Nome leaves next week.

"I am of the impression that the people of Portland do not yet fully realize the extent of the disaster," said E. C. Giltner, secretary of the Chamber, yesterday. The Chamber has appealed for cash to be dispatched to Nome for relief work.

"SEA-GOING HACK" SOUGHT

Secretary Daniels' Chance to Choose Covers Wide Range.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Secretary Daniels probably did not know there were so many second-hand vehicles in the world when he decided recently to advertise for a brougham which had seen its best days, his idea being to help in a small way the theory of Government economy.

F. S. Curtis, the chief clerk of the Navy Department is now trying to figure out which of the 22 "broughams" would most become the Secretary of the Navy.

Both in design and in price they cover a range as wide as the sea. One of them was offered for the modest sum of $35, while another was said to be worth $500.

What seemed to some of the officials of the department the most appropriate conveyance offered was described as a "fine sea-going hack." What could be better, they said, for the head of the "American Navy?"

MRS. GAYNOR MAY CONTEST

Sons Offer to Aid Widow, Cut Off With Only $3000 a Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Rumors that an effort would be made by Mrs. William J. Gaynor to overturn the provisions of the will left by the late Mayor were based on a belief that sufficient provision had not been made for Mrs. Gaynor. The will gives her only the Eighth-avenue house with its furnishings and an income of $3000 a year. The house is mortgaged for $12,000.

While the matter has not been fully decided by Mrs. Gaynor, it is understood that the stand taken by her two sons, Rufus and Norman, probably will cause her to forego her dower rights in the estate. Both the sons have advised their mother that they would aid in bearing the expenses of the home for her and the three unmarried daughters.
