

MOTHER JEALOUS, DAUGHTER AVERS

Mrs. Eaton Hears Testimony That She Was Possessed by Hallucinations.

POISON CHARGE OUTLINED

Prosecutor Says Chemist Will Testify to Arsenic in Admiral's Stomach—Defense Hints at Habit of Using Drug.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, on trial for the murder of her husband, Rear-Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, U. S. N., retired, heard today his 16-year-old daughter, Dorothy Virginia Alnsworth, support the contention of the prosecution that the mother was unreasonably jealous toward her husband. Under the questioning of District Attorney Barker, Dorothy testified that her mother was easily angered and had continual hallucinations that the Admiral was trying to poison the family.

Dorothy, an attractive girl, spent two hours on the witness stand. She had not finished when court adjourned. It was the first day of testimony in the trial.

Jealousy Held to Be Motive. In the early part of today's session, Assistant District Attorney Kalmann outlined the case for the prosecution, contending the jealousy was the motive for the alleged crime. Dorothy's testimony substantiated in several particulars the points on which Mr. Kalmann had placed emphasis.

An indication of the probable plan of the defense was given in the cross-examination of Medical Examiner Gilman Osgood by Attorney Whaley. His questions were aimed to bring out the possibility that Admiral Eaton might have partaken of the poison in connection with a drug habit. The Government declares that the poison was administered by Mrs. Eaton in tea, coffee and other beverages at meals.

Dorothy Smiles at Mother. While her daughter was testifying Mrs. Eaton sat quietly in her chair, but occasionally leaned forward and caught Dorothy's glance. Dorothy always smiled back at her mother.

In outlining his case Mr. Kalmann admitted the case against the prisoner was largely circumstantial. Professor Whaley, the Harvard medical school chemist, would testify, Mr. Kalmann said, that his analysis of the Admiral's stomach revealed the presence of 15 grains of arsenic.

In concluding, the prosecutor said that if the jury should find that Mrs. Eaton committed the crime while laboring under hallucinations that constituted an irresistible impulse, the commonwealth would be satisfied with a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Admiral's Sanity Doubted. In beginning his examination of Dorothy Alnsworth, counsel placed emphasis on the relations between her older sister, Mrs. June Keyes, and the rest of the household. Dorothy said that both June and her mother had often expressed the belief that the Admiral was possessed by the evil spirit of jealousy, although medical experts had found no trace of poison. According to Dorothy, Mrs. Eaton insisted frequently that the Admiral was possessed, and this belief was shared by June.

According to the witness, Mrs. Eaton declared that she herself and June had been poisoned by the Admiral. She had heard out these statements, Mrs. Eaton had shown the girl marks on her body which she said had been made by the Admiral's hypodermic needle. To Dorothy the marks looked like ordinary scratches, she testified.

Dorothy said Mrs. Eaton had discharged more than half a dozen maids with whom she accused the Admiral of flirting. The names of the other women of whom Mrs. Eaton had apparently been jealous were mentioned by the witness. The Admiral, she said, always denied the charge of flirting, treating them as a joke, while Mrs. Eaton seemed easily provoked on the subject.

Fatal Supper Described. Bringing the testimony down to the night of Thursday, March 6, the day before the Admiral's death, the District Attorney questioned the girl about the supper. Dorothy said that the Admiral had had tea, but Mrs. Eaton did not. She thought the Admiral prepared the tea, but she was not sure. They also had had supper. It was this pork which Mrs. Eaton said had caused her husband's illness.

Later the Admiral complained of nausea and had to leave the room. That night, Dorothy went on, her mother told her she must go right to bed. Dorothy complained that she had lessons to do, but her mother insisted.

When Dorothy came home from school the next day, she testified, she found the Admiral in his room in a semi-conscious condition. She started to get him a hot water bottle, but her mother objected, saying she had done all that could be done. After supper, Dorothy said, Mrs. Eaton told her she could sit up only an hour and must be in bed by 8 o'clock.

Admiral Dies in Night. Mrs. Eaton slept with Dorothy that night, locking the door behind her as she entered. Later Dorothy was awakened, she said, by her grandmother, Mrs. Virginia Harrison, knocking on the door and calling: "Come quick, Jennie. The Admiral has fallen out of bed."

Mrs. Eaton and Dorothy rushed to the Admiral's room, found him on the floor, partly conscious. Mrs. Eaton stayed with the Admiral while Dorothy returned to bed. She was aroused later by her mother, who cried: "Dorothy, I think the Admiral is dead."

Dorothy then told about telephoning for the doctor and the undertaker. Her mother, who kept moaning, "Oh, what shall we do?" Her testimony regarding her mother's demeanor at the time of the Admiral's death attracted increased interest from the medical Examiner Osgood and his assistant, Dr. Frank G. Wheatley. Osgood said Mrs. Eaton was cool. Wheatley, however, said that to him Mrs. Eaton seemed excited.

Lewis County Schools Grow. CHEHALIS, Wash., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—Reports from various outside high and district schools in Lewis County show a substantial gain in the number of school pupils. Vander shows 236 pupils in its schools as against 223 last year; Napavine 177, as compared with 158 in 1914; and Ford's Prairie 98, as compared with 76. County Superintendent Carrier finds more interest in the schools of the county than ever before and a larger attendance generally.

The world is consuming more than 1,000,000 gallons of kerosene every day.

HANLEY TO ATTEND

Burns Man Delegate to Conservation Congress.

C. C. CHAPMAN IS PLEASED

Central Oregon Rancher Declared First Representative Chosen by West Able to Present Adequately Western Views.

William Hanley, of Burns, Or., was appointed yesterday by the Portland Commercial Club to represent it as a delegate at the fifth National Conservation Congress at Washington, D. C., November 18, 19 and 20.

Secretary Chapman, of the Commercial Club, is elated over the club's choice of a delegate. "It is the first time in the history of the Conservation Congress that we have ever had a man to present truly the Western frontier point of view," said Mr. Chapman yesterday. "It is the first time that practice has raised its voice against theory. The theories of the conservationists have been applied to the extent that they have paralyzed certain large areas of the West. They have tied up Alaska. Now, for the first time, the Eastern theorists are going to be told about the conditions under which we have writhed."

There has been considerable correspondence between Secretary Chapman and the president and secretary of the Conservation Congress. The club was not keen about sending a delegate if the congress was to be a one-sided affair.

The official call for the congress declares that protection of our forests and waterways is the great conservation issue before us today, that our forests and waterways are at stake.

The state is entitled to send 15 delegates and the city five and the Commercial Club, the Chamber of Commerce or the Board of Trade three. The State University and Agricultural College also are entitled to send two delegates each.

President Wilson, his Cabinet and members of both houses of Congress are expected to address the congress.

TEACHERS WILL CONFER

LA GRANDE PREPARES TO ENTERTAIN EDUCATORS.

Prominent Lecturers to Speak at Sessions of Association in Eastern Oregon.

LA GRANDE, Or., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—Eastern Oregon schoolteachers, who are required by law to attend the annual convention of the State Teachers' Association, will hear a varietal programme when the annual session is held here November 24-25.

Mrs. Stella Ingle, president of the association, and Mrs. A. E. Ivanhoe, secretary, have just completed the program, and it will be ready for distribution in a few days. Jess L. Newlin, the Chicago University dramatic critic and educator, will have a prominent place on the programme. The Palmer system of penmanship will send a lecturer to the meeting.

Important phases of school work to be considered are Parent-Teachers' associations and rural schools. Rural schools are to have a separate department in sectional work. Professor Shafer of the University of Oregon, will lecture before the Parent-Teachers' department.

The La Grande Commercial Club has arranged for the entertainment of 500 or more teachers.

Union County's Fair was a success. Stock and crop exhibits were better and larger than those of former fairs. Rain spoiled the racing card. The attendance was light on account of the rain. Some of the best horses in the country were here.

A. A. Fiddler, of Haines, who owns Delmas, a horse that is showing remarkable speed, has bought from Ed Johnson, of this city, the promising trotting mare Amy McKinney, at a reported price of $900. Charlie Wilbourne, of Delmas, will handle Amy McKinney. The mare stepped a mile in 2:20 on the La Grande track without work and driven by an inexperienced driver.

Canta-ice, owned and brought here by Warren Dennis, of Idaho, was traded by Mr. Dennis to Mr. Williams for that well-seasoned track horse, Major Hardy. Canta-ice has been doing excellent work this year and on a soft track showed remarkable speed.

JACKSON ROAD BONDS SOLD

More Than Half of Purchase of $500,000 Placed by Buyers.

ASHLAND, Or., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—The Jackson County Court today accepted the bid made yesterday on $500,000 of highway bonds as tendered by H. E. Wood in behalf of a syndicate of Eastern financiers. It says more than half of the bonds have already been placed.

The sale of the bonds has given an impetus to the work of constructing the cement plant at Gold Hill, and a contract has been executed between the county and the Beaver Portland Cement Company for 50,000 barrels of cement, delivery to begin by June 1, 1914. The capacity of the plant is to be 1000 barrels daily.

Jackson County warrants, bearing 6 per cent are nearly at par, while its highway bonds, bearing 5 per cent, sold at a premium of $5.90 on each $1000.

Commissioner Mickle Begins Cleanup in Oregon City.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—As a step in the fight against markets that are said to violate the pure food laws of the state Commissioner Mickle took H. W. Strelbig before Justice John N. Selvera. The butcher, who pleaded not guilty, was fined $25 and costs, which he paid. This is the first case that the Commissioner has brought in Oregon City, where he has started a general clean-up campaign. He has visited most of the meat markets and restaurants. He plans to investigate thoroughly the manner in which the pure food laws of the state are being carried out here.

On the trip Dr. J. A. Van Brakle, the osteopathic health officer of the county, was taken by the Commissioner to see the conditions at first hand.

POSTOFFICE LEASE MADE

Oregon City to Have Space in New $12,000 Structure.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—Oregon City is to have a new $12,000 postoffice. The present lease of the space in the Odd Fellows' building expires December 1 and the contract has been let for a new building. Under the arrangements, the Government will pay $1920 a year for the lease on the space that it will use. The Weinhardt estate secured the lease over two other bidders. The price that the Government pays in its new home will be twice as large as the cost of the present rental.

In addition, the building must be equipped for postoffice uses and the cost of the boxes and other furniture will be borne by the estate.

German Farmers Expected to Take 2300 Acres Near Klamath Falls.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—The mystery which has surrounded the disposition of the 2300 acres of cleared-off lands near Pokemong purchased from the Algoma Lumber Company by Krebs Bros., Portland hop kings, has been partly cleared up. The land is to be put into tillable shape and will be disposed of to a colony of farmers, probably Germans.

A crew was recently put to work clearing up the land, and it is understood that work will go on all winter if the weather permits. The lands are listed as the property of the Alluvial Land Company, which is owned by the Krebs interests.

IN making Vassar Swiss ribbed union suits each garment is made separately, fashioned to exact shape and size while being knit. This is so unusual in knit underwear that it deserves special notice.

The rule is to knit the material by the yard; a dozen thicknesses cut at a time; the seams lapped and sewed like any other garment; it makes a bulky, rough, hard seam.

In Vassar Swiss ribbed union suits there are few seams; all selvage edges; you'll hardly know there are seams at all. The Swiss rib knitting makes perfect fitting.

Your haberdasher will be glad to show you Vassar.
