Directors Laud Elliott.

A copy of the resolutions adopted by the board of directors on the retirement of Howard Elliott as president of the Northern Pacific is contained in the report. It is as follows:

"Resolved, That in accepting Howard Elliott's resignation from the presi-dency of the company, the board desires to express to him its great apprecia-tion of the ability and devotion which have marked his long and successful administration of the company's affairs. and its wishes for his success in every future undertaking. His associates in the board of directors experience the deepest regret at the severance of a relation in which he has deservedly won their affectionate regard."

Figures showing the growth of the Northern Pacific properties during the 10 years that Howard Elliott was president are appended. They show that in 1903, when he assumed office, 7075 miles of track was owned. When he retired this mileage was 9476. The gross income in 1903 was $47,254,654; in 1913 it was $77,610,832. The accumulated surplus in 1903 was $9,725,655. In 1913 it was $83,699,770.

Valuation Plan Commended. In commenting on the Interstate Commerce Commission's recent decis-ion to make a valuation of all the interstate railways in the country, the report says:

FORMER MANAGER OF WAT-SON'S RESTAURANT DIES OF HEART DISEASE.

John J. Sirey, a Portland plo-neer, died yesterday at his home, 221 Sixth street. For about a month Mr. Sirey had been suf-fering from valvular heart dis-ense, but his friends did not re-gard his condition as critical. Mr. Sirey was 45 years old, and had lived in Portland since boy-hood. From March, 1900, till last August, when his failing health forced him to resign, he was manager of Watson's restaurant, 108 Fifth street.

Sirey is survived by a wife and one daughter, Mrs. E. Mc-Bride, 221 Sixth street. He was a member of the United Workmen. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been com-the Juvenile Court and a warrant has been sworn out by the father in the Justice Court for Gideon Ross, charging him with contributing to the de-linquency of a minor. Ross was last seen in Selma.

The case set for trial in the Police Court, for selling liquor to Ross, has been dismissed owing to circumstances following the release of Wallace.

Nice, Quiet Freshmen Led After Balky Ones Fight

University of Oregon Law Students, Defented in One Would-Be Initia-tion, Find Solace in Another.

IN spite of the rumpus which occurred I Wednesday when the University of Oregon upper classmen of the law school tried to initiate a band of freshmen into the student body, another set was secured later and the real initiation occurred, as scheduled, at Arion whose coats and hats they had confis-cated, their property. Then they re-turned to the law school at Tenth and

Alder streets to obtain a more peace-able bevy of "freshies."

The pliable kind was not lacking, and they were duly marched to Arion Hall. Then followed an initiation in deference to custom. They were tossed, pulled, pummeled and run until the upper classmen thought them worthy of mem-bership in the Student Body Associa-tion. Then followed the election.

Charles Holt is the new president; C. E. Coston, vice-president; L. E. Mills, secretary; L. O. Krause, treasurer, and J. Dwyre, sergeant-at-arms.

Green, who traveled for the Blake-McFall Paper Company, of Portland, went to Brownsville Tuesday night, passed the night there and remained in that city until 4 o'clock. He then started to drive to Crawfordsville.

About 8 o'clock last night Green's demolished buggy was found three miles east of Brownsville. A search revealed where the running team had dashed down the river bank to the edge of the stream along a branch road to Blackman's ford and had turned to Blackman's ford and had turned back up the bank shortly afterward to the main road. There a wheel was lost and the horses dragged the buggy

The budget committee was opposed to bartler the property of these improvement and the improvement and equipment of Laurelhurst Park. The budget committee was opposed to having the people pay for these improvements all in one year, believing that the cost should be distributed over a number of years. A bond issue, they said, would be the proper means of handling this. It is proposed to issue serial boads, a portion of which will be redeemable each year.

In addition to the desire to place the bond issue before the people, the Commission found it necessary to postpone the special election in November because of the inability of the City Auditor to make the necessary preparations
