THE OREGONIAN'S HOME INDUSTRY PAGE

Cash Prizes for Labels from Goods Advertised

We are dependent upon each other for progress and growth. The money you spend at home gives employment to your own and your neighbors' boys, and, in turn, the salaries that they draw and spend with you make your own business better, your own home more secure and enjoyments more certain.

Oregon is growing. A state so situated, in the garden spot of the United States, with all the advantages of a seaboard, natural harbors, unlimited water power and health-giving climate, cannot help but grow. To do this, it is to your interest to make this growth progress by leaps and bounds. It is imperative that you become acquainted with your City, and with the products of your home State.

For this purpose The Oregonian has started the "Home Industry Page." The men who advertise here are known to you as men of their word. They are the men who co-operate with you in making your business profitable. Every article here stands on its own merits. All we ask is that you give them a trial, and, as a special incentive for you to request these brands from your dealer, we are offering six cash prizes each month for the most labels or sales checks secured from articles advertised on this page.
