

MISS MIRE GRAM BECOMES BRIDE

St. James Lutheran Church Scene of Rose Wedding Wednesday Night.

EASTERN MAN WEDS HERE

Albert L. Schaefer, of Williamsport, Pa., Who Is Now in Business in Portland, Is Bridegroom. Reception Follows Ceremony.

St. James Lutheran Church was the scene of a beautifully appointed rose wedding on Wednesday night when Albert L. Schaefer, of Williamsport, Pa., claimed as his bride Miss Mabel Karen Gram, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Gram. The Rev. J. Allen Less read the service, preceding which there was a musical program, including organ selections, violin and vocal numbers. At the opening strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, the bride, Miss Alice Gram, entered. She was followed by the maid of honor, Miss Myrtle Gram. Next came the ring bearer, Master Ronald Rudd, the 7-year-old nephew of the bride.

The bride and her father completed the bridal procession who joined the bridegroom and his best man, Harry A. Swart, at the altar. Fred Gram and Arthur Gram were ushers.

The church was like a garden of beauty with its profuse decoration of roses and palms. Robert Lovell Wilson sang "If I Were a Rose."

The bride wore a handsome gown of white brocade, combined with champagne and trimmed with rare old lace. The long tulle veil fell to the hem of the court train. She carried a bouquet of orange blossoms and tulle was worn. A shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride's roses completed the charming effect. Miss Myrtle Gram was attired in white silk crepe de chine with a tunic in shades of yellow. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Alice Gram wore white crepe de chine with chiffon tunic in tones of green. Her arm bouquet was of American roses.

The bride's mother was charming in a gown of violet shades with silver lace trimming. Mrs. H. S. Rudd wore apricot brocade with lace on the bodice and bandings of fur. Mrs. Fred Gram was pretty in white charmeuse with point lace. Mrs. Fagler was distinguished in black lace over silk and Miss Packer was attractive in white chiffon fashioned over pink crepe meier.

Following the church ceremony there was a reception and supper at the home of the bride's parents. Later the couple left on their wedding trip.

Mrs. Schaefer is one of the most interesting members of the set in which she is immensely popular. Mr. Schaefer came from the East a few years ago and has established himself in business in Portland. He is well known in business and club circles.

Beautifully gowned maids and matrons thronged the Samuel M. Mears residence on Thursday, when Mrs. Mears was hostess at an elaborate reception in compliment to Miss Frances Brady, the attractive fiancée of Arthur M. Mears. Mrs. W. D. Washburn, of Minneapolis, assisted in receiving and the tea table was presided over by Miss Hazel Dolph and Miss Frances Brady. Scarlet carnations adorned the dining-room and the table was centered with a mound of yellow and white cosmos were used in decorating the reception rooms. Several other smart affairs are being planned for Miss Brady for the near future.

Clan Macleay and ladies auxiliary will give a Halloween concert and dance in K. of E. Hall, Eleventh and Alder streets, tonight, commencing at 8 P. M. Arrangements have been made for a series of entertainments, consisting of dancing and games, the first Friday in each month during the winter. The first of these will take place December 5.

The Junior Assembly Club will give a Halloween dance tonight at Christensen's Hall, Eleventh and Yamhill streets. Dancing will be enjoyed by the young guests from 8 to 10. The patronesses will be: Mrs. W. W. Kerns, Mrs. C. W. King, Mrs. J. M. Nelson, Mrs. C. E. Hart, Mrs. R. E. McClung, Mrs. J. A. Strowbridge.

The ball given last night at the Multnomah clubhouse for the club members and friends was a social success. The younger set and many of the younger married couples were in attendance. The reception and lounging rooms were decorated in gay Autumn coloring.

At a pretty home ceremony at 715 East Morrison street, on Wednesday evening, Miss Elsie M. Greenwell became the bride of O. D. Upton. The Rev. J. M. Nelson read the service in the presence of a large number of friends of the young couple. The rooms were decorated artistically with palms and white flowers. The ceremony was performed in a bower of palms and trailing greens.

Miss Mildred Dickson, who has a sweet voice, sang "All That I Want is Love." Miss Mary Holmes played the wedding march. The bride was beautiful in her white charmeuse wedding gown. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and asparagus fern. Miss Ethel Jeffery caught the bridal bouquet after the ceremony. A dainty repeat and an informal reception concluded the evening and the couple departed on their wedding trip. They will reside in their own home near Portland Heights. Among those who were present at the wedding were: Mrs. Elsie Mackenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Greenwell, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Adams, Mrs. E. M. Jeffery, Miss Mildred Dickson, Miss Elizabeth Andrews, Lillian Nelson, J. M. Nelson, Mrs. Martha View, Mrs. Kate W. Dickson, A. Roy Kerr, Mrs. N. Kerr, R. Greenwell, Miss Ethel Jeffery, Mary V. Holmes, Annie Greenwell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gantenbein, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gantenbein, Miss Mabelle View, Mrs. Shalight and Elsie Gantenbein.

The West Side Division of the Portland Shakespeare Study Club will meet at the home of Mrs. E. Strupler, 341 1/2 Montgomery street, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A business session will be held and lesson, Othello, Act II, will be read.

The South Mount Tabor Parent-Teacher Association will give a social at the school tonight. Miss Sharpe, playground instructor, will direct folk dancing in which several children will take part. All friends are invited.

Mrs. Samuel M. Mears was hostess yesterday at one of the smartest teas of the season, entertaining the younger matrons and maids of exclusive society in compliment to Miss Frances Brady, niece of Arthur Mears. Mrs. W. D.

Washburn assisted Mrs. Mears and Miss Hazel Dolph and Miss Frances Wilson presided at the tea table. The decorations were in rich Autumn tints and suggested the Halloween season.

Mrs. Thomas C. Warner and Mrs. Frederick C. Austen have issued invitations for a bridge party on Friday, November 7, at the home of the former in Irvington.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kerr and their children have returned to Portland after a three months' sojourn in Captain Gray's home on the Columbia River.

Mrs. Sidney Smith will be hostess of Omega Alumnae of Kappa Alpha Theta at her home in Irvington, 715 Weidner street, this afternoon.

After a visit of two months at St. Paul, New York and Atlantic City, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Vandresar have returned to their home in Trinity Place apartments.

The Minuet Club will give their annual Halloween dance at Dressmaid Hall tonight. A novelty grand march with souvenirs will be one of the features. Cider, doughnuts and pumpkin pie will be served. The patronesses are Mrs. M. M. Engler, Mrs. J. Ireland and Mrs. L. Evans.

Miss Lulu Watt leaves today for Billings, where she will pass a month visiting her sister.

The Rose City Park Club will give a Halloween party this evening. The guests are being offered a grand time with prizes being offered for costumes. Cider, doughnuts and pumpkin pie will be served. The patronesses are Mrs. M. M. Engler, Mrs. J. Ireland and Mrs. L. Evans.

Representatives of Chapters A, C, E and F, of P. E. O. Sisterhood will take luncheon today at Olds, Wortman & King's restaurant. The members will be glad to meet visiting members.

Arrangements were made for charging a fee after January 1 for fumigating houses. Provision was made for a city fumigator who will have power to fumigate all houses where contagious disease has been found.

Under the new salary revision code adopted yesterday there will be a saving of approximately $50,000 in the salaries of employees during 1914. This will bring the total yet to be cut to about $40,000.

While the meeting was in progress Commissioner Dick sent in a request for an appropriation of $19,000 to be used in paying persons employed as vacation help, which had been forgotten in the original estimate. The committee looked it over and lopped off $10,000, leaving $9,000 to cover the cost of the service.

HARVEST IS REALIZED

Fred W. Graham Visits Redmond and Sees Result of Potato Advice.

It was like seeing the fruits of his own labors for Fred W. Graham, when he went to Redmond to attend the annual potato show last week; for Mr. Graham is the originator, the founder and the father of the Redmond potato show. He is directly responsible for the remarkable record that Redmond has made in recent years as a potato producer.

Three years ago the natives showed him specimens of what he judged to be some of the finest "spuds" he ever had seen. He is Western industrial and immigration agent for the Great Northern and has seen a lot.

"Why don't you have a potato show and let the world know that here's where the grower is reaped. So they did. They have repeated the show every year and incidentally Redmond has become the principal potato market in the Northwest with warehouses, selling agencies and all the usual accessories of the trade.

DISBARMENT IS STARTED

A. E. Hooker Charged With Conspiring to Secure Divorces.

Disbarment proceedings were instituted against A. E. Hooker, an attorney, yesterday, when a petition was heard in Judge Davis' court in which Hooker was charged with conspiring to secure divorces in the Multnomah County Circuit Court. Hooker was directed to appear before Judge Davis November 7 to show cause why he should not be suspended until the case can be taken before the Supreme Court.

Hooker is charged with having requested Mrs. Harriet Platt to institute divorce proceedings against Henry Platt and with having been connected with the divorces secured by Levi Myers, J. F. Scott, Davie Base, Mrs. Hoaglund and Mrs. McKay. He was attorney for Henry Platt in a case heard this week in Judge Davis' court, where Platt sued his parents-in-law for alienation of his wife's affection. The jury decided against Platt.

ORCHESTRA TO REHEARSE

Pupils of Portland Schools to Hear Classical Selections.

At the Gipsy Smith auditorium, near the corner of Taylor and Chapman streets, this morning at 10 o'clock, the Portland Symphony Orchestra will give the first rehearsal this season to pupils selected from other private educational institutions. No admission will be charged, only scholars and teachers being admitted.

The music to be played on this occasion is that which will be rendered at the regular concert of the orchestra at the Hellig Theater Sunday. The rehearsal to the school children is given in the hope that it will interest and educate them to esteem serious, high-class music.

MAJORS RETURN TO REPUBLICAN FOLD

Registration for November Election Indicates Progressives Fall Away.

COUNTY BOOKS ANALYZED

Parent Organization Gets Most of Political "Prodigals" on Return and Slight Democratic Slump Is Evident.

Special registration for the November referendum election, which closed October 20, indicates a strong tendency on the part of the once Multnomah County Progressive voters to return to the Republican party. Of 227 voters who registered since the city election last June, only 181 identified themselves with the Progressive party, as compared with 1788 Republicans, 687 Democrats, 171 Prohibitionists, 133 Socialists and 267 who failed to designate their political affiliation.

Party	Registered	Total
Rep.	1788	81,184
Dem.	687	15,588
Prohib.	171	2,942
Social.	133	1,756
Ind.	267	2,705
Total	2846	104,175

When the registration books before the election last June opened there were 74,830 qualified voters in the city and 4504 in the county, making a total of 81,184 registered voters. The 227 registered since the books closed prior to the June election brings the grand total up to 84,411 voters who are qualified to vote at the election next week. Only those who had changed their address since they last voted, or who are preparing to vote in Oregon for the first time were required to register this fall. After January 1, when the election precincts are set, all voters will be required to register before they can vote again.

The Democratic registration shows a slight falling off in proportion to the vote cast for Wilson and Munly last fall. Democratic electors received 35 per cent of the Multnomah County vote in 1912, and today, it was 34 per cent by Lafferty for a seat in the lower house of Congress, received 30 per cent of the total vote cast. Of the 3900 voters who registered this fall, 21 per cent affiliated with President Wilson's party.

While the Democrats, Republicans and Progressives were shifting their vote when the presidential and congressional races are involved, the minor political parties, including the Prohibitionists and Socialists, showed practically the same strength, polling about 11 per cent of the vote cast in each race last fall. This fall the Prohibitionists and Socialists secured only 9 per cent of the registration, 8 per cent of the voters registering and as independent of any party. The variance in the voters cast for the Democratic, Presidential and Congressional candidates last November, indicates, however, that more than 8 per cent of the voters registered are inclined to scratch the ticket.

Including the new registration, the 84,411 voters qualified to vote in Multnomah County at the election next week are divided as follows: Republicans, 59,934, or about 63 per cent of the total county registration; Democrats, 15,588, or about 18 per cent; Progressives, 2,942, or about 4 1/2 per cent; Prohibitionists, 1,756, or about two per cent; and Independents, 2705, or about 3 per cent.

The new alignment, though expressing the views of only 227 voters, indicates, close political observers say, that the coming of the year of the parties is returning to normal.

The general change indicated by the fall registration is shown by the following: Registration, 1912—Republicans, 58 per cent; Democrats, 21 per cent; Progressives, 6 per cent; Prohibitionists, 5 per cent; socialists, 1 per cent; independent, 1 per cent; total, 100 per cent.

Presidential election, 1912—Republicans, 23 per cent; Democrats, 35 per cent; Progressives, 2 per cent; Prohibitionists, 17 per cent; Socialists, 17 per cent; independent, 11 per cent; total, 100 per cent.

Congressional election, 1912—Republicans, 42 per cent; Democrats, 30 per cent; Progressives, 17 per cent; voters affiliated with other parties, 11 per cent; total, 100 per cent.

REGISTRATION IS NOT HEAVY

Monmouth Plan to Form Road District Important Issue.

MONMOUTH, Or., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Registration in this city for the coming special election has been slow, although the question to be voted upon—whether or not Monmouth shall become a separate road district and use its own poll taxes for municipal improvement—is considered an important one.

Several citizens have expressed themselves as strongly in favor of the measure, as the roads within the city limits of Monmouth are in worse condition than many leading to nearby towns. Monmouth's move in this respect is similar to that of other county towns.

LANE REGISTRATION IS 11,011.

EUGENE, Or., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Tabulations of the new registrations of voters in Lane County, completed today, show that 11,011 have signed the cards under the new law, compared with about 8000 men registered in 1912. Many men have not registered under the new law.

Of the total registration 5633 are Republicans, 2741 Democrats, 675 Prohibitionists, 558 Socialists, 491 Independent, 385 Progressives, 340 no preference, 124 refused.

HOLDEN SPECIAL LAUDED

Great Northern Immigration Agent Looks for Good Results.

"Hogs, alfalfa and potatoes" is all that Fred W. Graham, Western commercial and immigration agent of the Great Northern, knows after his experiences with the Holden Agricultural Special that toured Eastern Oregon and Washington a few weeks ago. Graham returned to Portland yesterday enthusiastic over the development the Holden invasion promises to do in the rural districts. He is preparing now to go to Chicago to attend the annual Land Show, at which Oregon will have a representative exhibit, which now is being collected by the Commercial Club in Portland.

BUNCO GAME WINS $367

L. W. Duggett, 82 years old, of Pomona, Cal., a wealthy retired orange grower, who came to Portland on a bunco game a month ago and was only saved from losing $3000 to bunco artists by the hasty work of P. A. Dillon, a private detective, and Detectives Swennes and Pat Moloney, managed yesterday to lose $367 of the $30,000 he brought to Portland. This time it was on the oldest of known bunco games, the "fake" wrestling match.

Duggett was carefully "steered" against one of the supposed participants in a wrestling match, which was said about to be staged at Vancouver, Wash. He was given an opportunity to look over the wrestler, and after some conversation, he was slipped the information that the match was to be somewhat otherwise than "on the square." In fact, he was told, the match was to be "swung" a certain way, and by carefully investing his money on the candidate who would win, he would be able to clean up a considerable sum.

So Duggett lent one of the plausible strangers $867, to be invested in bets on the man who was to win. He was to meet them at the Vancouver ferry at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. He met the ferry but the men were not there.

Then, doubting somewhat their probity, he hastened to seek the advice of the detective bureau, and was told that he had been buncoed.

Duggett, who claims to have the secret of a tested cancer cure, was enticed to Portland in September, by correspondence which led him to believe that he could organize and sell his cure in Portland after having it patented in Washington, D. C.

His efforts to obtain the loan of the $3000 necessary to float the beginning of the enterprise, after H. Coleman, alias Cole, had met and convinced him brought him to Dillon's attention, and working with the detectives, Coleman was landed in jail. Because the plan had been nipped before it had gone to completion, Coleman was able to escape.

Liking Portland, even after his adventures, Duggett told the detectives that he had transferred some $30,000 belonging to him from a Pomona bank to a bank here. He passed a month to a day in peace before the second bunco game caught him.
