

CLATSOP COUNTY PASSES ROAD BONDS

$400,000 Issue Carries by About Two to One, Is Midnight Report.

CITY VOTES FAVORABLE

Astoria, Warrenton and Seaside Give Good Majorities, as Do All Places Along Proposed Highway Route.

ASTORIA, Or., Nov. 4.—(Special).—The people of Clatsop County declared in no uncertain tones for good roads, and especially in favor of building their portion of the Columbia Highway when at today's election by a vote that early returns indicate will be almost two to one, they authorized the issuing of $400,000 in 20-year bonds for road improvement purposes.

While the vote in this city was light, being only 1030, or less than half of the registered voters, the majority in favor of the bonds was 202. Seaside voted almost solidly for the bonds, giving a majority of 240. The county precincts are divided, those along the lines of the three proposed main highways favoring the bonds, while the other sections of the county were against them. Complete returns from 17 of the 32 precincts in the county give the vote on the bond issue 990 for and 642 against, a majority of 448. The bill authorizing the bond issue provides that $200,000 shall be expended on a road running along the Columbia River here and westward to the eastern boundary limits, thus forming a connecting link in the scenic route known as the Columbia Highway which is planned by the state and the National Park.

All these improvements are to be made in accordance with the recommendations of the State Highway Commission. Surveys for the first named of these roads, which is to be approximately 30 miles long, are now in progress and the intention is to have all the plans completed and estimates made so that the actual construction work can begin early next Spring. Clatsop County intends to set a good example for her neighbors by being the first one to have her portion of the Columbia scenic highway completed.

CROOK ROAD BONDS LOSE

Eleventh-Hour Dissension Causes State Issues Carry.

BEND, Or., Nov. 4.—(Special).—Very incomplete returns from Bend and a few town precincts throughout Crook County make it reasonably certain that the initiative measure for the issuance of $200,000 worth of road construction bonds under the new county bonding law is defeated by an overwhelming majority. This result was entirely unexpected, for a few weeks ago the Crook County Good Roads Association and good roads workers petitioned for the bond issue and were in the field working for it gave up the fight after what they termed unfair treatment of the association and the project by County Judge G. Springer.

The reversal of feeling on the bond issue resulted from local differences, it is said, chiefly hinging on the action of the Judge in changing the route of the road from that originally petitioned for by the association and in the culmination of growing difficulties between the Judge and some residents of the county. A light vote was cast at Bend. About 150 ballots, of which 21 were women. The total vote is considerably less than half of that polled at the last municipal election. There is every indication that all the measures referred were sustained by a landslide majority in the county.

STATE CHAMPIONS VARSITY

In many counties, notably Baker County, the women came out in force to vote against the sterilization measure. It is said that the women's vote defeated this bill. Oregon City and Clatsop County were interested in the bill to increase the salary of the County School Superintendent, which they defeated decisively. At Woodburn they voted on a proposal to buy a lot upon which to build a new City Hall and defeated it.

FEATURES OF STATE LAWS VOTED ON YESTERDAY.

The State University building repair fund measure appropriates $75,000 for needed repairs to university buildings at Eugene. Of this sum $30,000 is for an addition and repairs to the library, $15,000 is to be spent on repairing the engineering building, $10,000 on the men's dormitory, $10,000 on Deady Hall and $10,000 on the heating plant. The State University new building measure appropriates $100,000 for a modern fireproof administration and classroom building, including furnishing and equipment. Both the university appropriations become available immediately. The sterilization measure would have authorized the State Board of Health to order such surgical operations to be performed on habitual criminals, moral degenerates and sexual perverts, both male and female, when confined in any state institution. The County Attorney measure substitutes County Attorneys, one for each county, for the present District Attorneys, several of whom have several counties under their jurisdiction. It cuts off the political patronage that District Attorneys have formerly enjoyed in appointing deputies for the various counties. The workmen's compensation act creates a State Industrial Commission, composed of three members, to provide a fund for the compensation of injured workmen employed in hazardous occupations. The fund is raised partly by employers, partly by the state and partly by employees. The commission is to determine the amount to be paid any person on account of injury received in course of employment. All these measures, if adopted, take effect at once. The constitutional amendment provides that "any measure referred to the people shall take effect and become the law when it is approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon, and not before."

"DRY" ISSUE WINS IN VALLEY TOWNS

"Wets," However, Seem to Have Won in Other Parts of Oregon.

THE DALLES GOES "WET"

Salem and Oregon City Victories Give Cheer to Prohibitionists. Hillsboro Vote May Be Contested in the Courts.

With Salem, Oregon City and other Willamette Valley towns "dry" as the result of yesterday's election, there is much comfort in the Prohibition camp.

THE DALLES REMAINS "WET"

The Dalles remains "wet" by 74 votes, but Hillsboro, "wet" for 59 years, is "dry" by 23 votes. The Hillsboro result may be taken into account as a result of alleged pre-election irregularities. Harrisburg and Sweet Home, in Linn County, reversed their positions on the liquor question, Sweet Home going "dry" and Harrisburg "wet," succeeding Sweet Home as the only "wet" town in the county. Woodburn is "dry." So are Wallowa and Dufur. Springfield, Joseph and Lostine remain in the liquor ranks, as does Bandon, whose neighbor town of Florence is now in the drought column. The liquor question was the chief issue in Clatsop, which is now on the "dry" side of the ledger. Haines, in Baker County, and Metolius, in Central Oregon, voted to retain saloons. A feature of the campaign at Haines was the fact that women took both sides of the local option question. Sutherlin, in Douglas County, is in the "dry" ranks, but the advocates of no-license failed to clamp down the lid at Eagle Point, in Jackson County, which remains "wet." Greenham, where the campaign was of the hottest, is "dry." Milwaukie remains a saloon town by a majority of 48. Falls City voted to retain liquor by 45 majority. Stayton went dry by 21 majority.
