

PLEIADAS IN PORT AFTER COLLISION

Great Gash in Hold 16 Feet Long and 4 Feet Wide, but Bulkheads Hold.

SECRET CLOSELY GUARDED

Steam Schooner Wand, Which Inflicted Damage, Escapes With Relatively Slight Injury. Cargo Not Much Hurt.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—With 20 feet of water in her hold, but no serious cargo damage, the Luckenbach steamer Pleiades, Captain Harry Armstrong, arrived in port early today from her collision with the steam schooner Thomas L. Wand, 15 miles south of the lightship, Saturday night.

The Pleiades had a gash in her side 16 feet long from top to bottom and four feet wide, through which tons of water poured in, the heavy bulkheads keeping it from other compartments than the number 2 hold.

Owing to the fact that Lewis Luckenbach, head of the marine department of the Luckenbach Steamship Company in San Francisco, insists on the utmost secrecy on Captain Armstrong and members of the crew of the Pleiades, no story of the collision could be obtained from a participant.

Utmost Secrecy Preserved.

In an accident that would have sent the entire crew of the Pleiades to the bottom had it not been for the exceptional strength of the bulkheads in compartment number 2 hold, which held the inrush of water to that compartment, the officers of the steamship company here absolutely refuse to make any statement of the collision or the damage suffered by the vessel and cargo.

So closely guarded were the details that even newspaper men were barred from the pier.

The Wand struck the Pleiades just forward of amidship on the port side. The opening was a clean cut, three feet deep, and through it the waters poured, filling the hold and part of the between-decks. In the hold of the compartment number 2 hold, the water was 20 feet deep, but as the cargo stowed there was casks of wine, the damage to it will be slight.

Wand Only Slightly Damaged.

Besides the wine there were cases of canned goods in this hold and in that portion of the between-decks reached by the water.

The Wand escaped with relatively slight damage. The stem was splintered from the top to the water line and part of the iron nose was twisted from its place, but the wood was smashed by coming into contact with the iron sides of the Pleiades.

According to the members of the crew, they did not know what the steamer had struck until it was a large steamship on account of the terrific shock. They say that after they had drawn clear an attempt was made to find the other vessel, without success.

PORTLAND GIRL IS WINNER

Ruth Meyer Wins $30 Prize in National Essay Contest.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—Besides figuring in the speaking programme, Oregon further won notice at the annual convention of the W. C. T. U. here, when Miss Ruth Louise Meyer, a pupil of University Park School, Portland, won the $30 gold prize for the best essay on temperance. There were hundreds of thousands of papers submitted from all parts of the country, representing every state.

Oregon women are getting their share of honors at the National convention. Rev. Edith Hall Booker, the new state president, was listed to speak for Oregon in the great suffrage demonstration, and she preached in the largest church in Ocean Grove, the twin city to Asbury Park.

Mrs. Ada Wallace Urush, the retiring state president, spoke in the Baptist Temple, Brooklyn, one of the largest churches, and represented the Western States on welcome night at Asbury Park. Mrs. Urush has been appointed a National lecturer for the union and has given addresses on prohibition and suffrage campaigns for months to come after she takes a brief rest at her home.

SUFFRAGE PRO AND CON WILL BE HEARD

Chairman Henry, of House Committee, Fixes December 2 as Official Date.

BEST TALENT GROOMING

National Suffrage Convention to Be in Session at Time—Opponents Say They Are Ready and Expect to Win.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—The women who want to vote and those who do not will have an opportunity to present their arguments before the House committee on rules the first week in December.

Chairman Henry, of the committee, today announced officially that the hearings will begin December 2, and that they will be continued as long as anyone has anything to say on either side of the question. The hearing is based on the request of the suffragists that a standing committee on woman suffrage be created. The hearing undoubtedly will bring out the best talent of both camps. Men as well as women will argue pro and con, and it is expected that more real information as to the strength and possible effect of the woman suffrage movement will be brought out than ever before in this country.

Leaders Will Be in Capital. The National Woman Suffrage convention will be in session here at that time and many leaders of the movement will be in Washington, including an especially large number from Illinois. Delegates from Illinois are to have a special victory celebration. The speakers at this celebration will be Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCullough, who framed the suffrage amendment; Mrs. Ella Stewart and the four members of the so-called "suffrage lobby," Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, president of the Illinois Suffrage Association; Mrs. Antoinette Funk, Mrs. Medill McCormick and Mrs. Sherman Booth. Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen will have charge of the educational sessions of the convention. Judge Olson will tell of the establishment of the court of domestic relations in Chicago. Judge Mack will describe the Chicago juvenile court, which is now serving as a model in juvenile courts in all countries; Miss Maud Miner will speak on the New York night court for women, and Miss Katharine Bennett Davis will describe methods at the Bedford reformatory for women.

Opponents Say They Are Ready.

Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, of New York, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, was in Washington today and when informed by Chairman Henry of the date set for the hearing said: "We are ready for it, and we are convinced that neither the committee on rules nor the membership of the House will favor the establishment of a standing committee on woman suffrage. There is no doubt that the committee on rules is opposed to woman suffrage, and when the members realize that the creation of this committee on woman suffrage would be an unfair encouragement of suffragism they will not, I am sure, favor such a thing. My information is that the suffragists expect the committee to deny them what they ask."

The only reason for the suffragists' request for this committee is to have a fictitious showing of strength in the remote event of its being granted."

RUSSIANS SEEKING LAND

Tract Near Louisville to Be Subdivided, Is Reported.

MONMOUTH, Or., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—To colonize 1000 acres of land in the vicinity of Louisville, Or., south of this place, and to subdivide the land into tracts for Russian settlers is the plan now under way by Albany capitalists, according to information received by a large ranch owner in that vicinity. The tract, according to the present plan, will embrace acreage on the Wing, McCreary and Revere ranches. The soil in that locality is considered some of the richest in Western Oregon. During the past two months a representative of the Russian agents has been visiting sections of Oregon and Washington.

RECLUSE DIES AT SALEM

Body Found After Four Days; Death Due to Heart Disease.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—Coroner Clough announced today that heart disease was the cause of the death of J. J. Bell, a farmer, who lived six miles north of Salem. The body was found on the floor in the front room of the house by a neighbor. Mr. Clough said Bell had been dead several days.

Bell, who was a bachelor, was eccentric and never visited his neighbors. He moved into the house last Summer and told no one in the neighborhood where he had formerly lived. The coroner has been unable to identify any of the man's relatives. It is believed that he left a large estate.

DEATH FOLLOWS CAROUSAL

Indian Woman's Body Found on Street With Sleeping Husband.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—With her Indian husband lying beside her body, Mrs. Ed Meeum, a half-breed, of Empire, was found in the streets of Empire, about 14 miles from here today. George Jackson found the couple soon after 10 o'clock. Meeum had been drinking heavily and did not know his wife was dead.

Coroner Wilson has started investigation, but no arrests have been made. Wilson says that evidence shows that there was a carousal at one of the Empire saloons last night, and that bruises on the woman's body indicate that she was beaten.

VOTERS ARE REGISTERING

Books Are Opened in Gladstone for Election Next Month.

CREW IS IN MUTINY

Bark's Officers Forced to Return to Delaware Port.

CAPTAIN TIED IN BERTH

Release Follows on Condition That Vessel Put About for Starting Point—Storm Prevents Communication With Shore.

LEWES, Del., Nov. 9.—The bark Manga Reva, which cleared from Philadelphia October 9 for San Francisco returned to the Delaware breakwater today because the crew had mutinied, according to Captain Townsend, commander of the vessel.

When the bark arrived Captain Townsend sent a letter to the ship's agent here, asking assistance. The letter did not give the cause of the mutiny, but the captain said he was ill when the outbreak came and that he and the mate were tied in their berths. They were later released to navigate the ship on a promise that they would return to the Delaware capes.

Because of stormy weather no communication could be had with the bark tonight. The United States Marshal at Onslow, Del., will go aboard tomorrow. A revenue cutter will also reach the ship in the morning.

The Manga Reva was formerly the British ship Pyrenees. In 1900 while on a voyage from Tacoma to Europe she took fire in the Pacific Ocean. After an exciting 16 days' run for land, the ship was beached on Manga Reva lagoon in the South Pacific. The wreck was sold at auction at San Francisco for $25 to Captain I. E. Thayer, who repaired the ship and replaced the ship under the American flag. She then took the name of the lagoon in which she had been beached.

MASSACRES NOW FEARED (Continued From First Page.) Double Headed Eagle announced today a memorial service for Andrew Yushinsky, "who was brutally tortured to death by Jews with the ritual object." The service will be held Monday in St. Sophia Cathedral, which stands within 100 yards of the court where the trial of Mendel Belliss, charged with the murder, has been going on.

The student Golubev, a member of the Black Hundred and president of the University Union of Student Monarchists, who figured prominently in the trial, calls on all Christians "to pray for the soul of the martyr that he may forgive and be included in the 'community of saints.'"

At the conclusion of the trial tonight the president of the court asked Belliss if he desired to make a statement. The prisoner replied quickly: "I should like to say many things, but am too ill and tired. I want to go home to my wife and children. You can see for yourselves that I am innocent."

The jury will consider a verdict tomorrow. Part of the sitting of the court today was devoted to replies by the prosecutor made another speech today describing M. Grusenbergs counsel for the defense, as a man catching at straws. He admitted, however, that the role of Vera Tcheberiak had been a strange one, and that she had possibly participated in the crime. In his speech yesterday, M. Grusenbergs said he was convinced of the guilt of Vera Tcheberiak's band of criminals, adding:

"All roads of the evidence have led to Vera Tcheberiak, and not to the brickworkers where Belliss was employed."

Attorney C. A. Butt made a speech congratulating the club upon the attractiveness of its new quarters and upon its success in promoting the interests of the town, calling especial attention to its most conspicuous achievement, the new bridge over the Willamette connecting Newberg with Marion County. Musical numbers were given by Mrs. Charles A. Morris, L. W. Hatchell, Clarence Watkins, Miss Doris Gregory, Mrs. C. B. Wilson, Miss Jessie Britty and Mrs. Dwight Coulson.
