DOG TAX FUND IS OFFERED

Woman Would Aid Pair Unable to Pay for License on Pet.

Reading in The Oregonian yesterday that a man and woman living at Lents had called at the office of the Mayor last week to see if they could arrange to take out a dog license on the installment plan, a kind-hearted woman, to whom this plan appealed because she loves dogs, called up Mayor Albee's office and offered to provide the necessary money, so the couple might at once obtain their tag. Her offer was not accepted.

The case of the Lents couple was one of many odd incidents in the busy round of the Mayor's office. Lents was recently incorporated into the city limits and the man who failed to give his name when calling for the installment-plan license for his pet dog, was notified one day last week that it would be necessary for him to take out a tag. He had but half enough money and went to the City Hall, where he made his unique proposition. It is impossible to grant such a request and the man left, saying he would shoot his dog before he would let it go to the pound.

BEE EAGER FOR DETENTION HOME

Place to Equip Unfortunate Women for Earning Living Is Aim of Mayor.

AID OF WEALTHY IS HOPE

Item of $15,000 Provided in Budget Likely to Be Allowed by Commissioners, in Which Event Start Will Be Made.

A great advancement toward clearing up Portland in the near future is the plan of Mayor Albee if the City Commission adopts the Mayor's estimates. One of the most important items provided for a detention home for unfortunate women...

The members of the Commission declare the project is an important matter. Many other items were eliminated, including public markets, although Mayor Albee urged these big undertakings and that, eventually, this city will be able to make a fine showing in this respect.

Favorable Vote Likely. It is regarded as certain that the Commission, in final vote, will provide the amount named and it will therefore be possible for the Mayor under whose supervision the new work will be, to proceed with the enterprise, even though it will have to be on a comparatively small scale at first.

In the opinion of Mayor Albee, this is one of the most important subjects now before the administration for solution. It was one of the features which he advocated in the campaign, he then promising to do his best to secure action that would result in bringing about conditions whereby unfortunate women would be enabled to reform by being given the opportunity to work for an honest livelihood and to learn something that would make it possible for them to become self-supporting and respectable members of society.

"I hope," said the Mayor, "that with the $15,000 which is included in the budget we will be able to make a start on what eventually will be a great institution. In this connection I sincerely hope and trust that we will be able to make such a splendid showing of credit for long that some of our public-spirited citizens will see their way clear to make some good-sized donations, either of property or cash, to enable us to proceed to the desired end."

Tract of Land Wanted. "It will be obvious to every one that we will be unable to do much with $15,000, but we will have established the principle that the city owes something to the unfortunates. What we need is a tract of land, about 25 acres to make the start with this institution, and this, it seems to me, we should be able to obtain for a price sufficiently reasonable to be worth the effort."

General Secretary of Seattle Association Asserts It Is Mistake to Gauge Happiness by Money.

A. C. Allen, general secretary of the Seattle Y. M. C. A., spoke at the Portland Y. M. C. A. auditorium yesterday noon on the topic "The Man That God Called a Fool." His text was taken from the twelfth chapter of Luke, verses 15-21. "It is the fatal deception of riches," said Mr. Allen, "that they give a man a false estimate of himself and make him forget God. Our lives are not our own. They are from God. A man does not own his life in fee simple. He cannot leave God out of it. It is a senseless, foolish proposition that you can only be happy in life in the proportion you can measure up to its conventionalities."

WILKINS JURY DUE SOON

Two Days Used Up to Get Twelve Men.

Twelve jurors to try Lloyd Wilkins for the murder of Lou Winters had been passed as to cause when Judge Morrow adjourned court Saturday. It took two days to get twelve men. Wilkins is charged with killing Winters soon after he stepped from a car near his home at 823 Milwaukie avenue, about 12:30 A. M. October 12. In a confession made to District Attorney Evans the day he was captured Wilkins admitted that he had gone out to meet Winters the morning of October 12 and that he struck him over the head with an umbrella to defend himself when Winters made an attack on him. Wilkins was subsequently arrested and he thought Winters knew where she was and he went to meet Winters for the purpose of forcing him to tell her where Mrs. Winters was.

MANY LISTEN TO DR. YOUNG

Hundreds Unable to Gain Admission to Methodist Church.

"The Church of tomorrow depends largely upon the clergy of today, and the way to the situation is in the hands of the parents in our country," said Rev. Benjamin Young, in his morning sermon at the First Methodist Church yesterday on "What of John Smith, Jr.?" This is the third sermon of Dr. Young's "John Smith" series in which he dealt with the attitude of the average man of today and the church.

MULTI-MEN UNWELL TABLET TO FARRAR

Tribute Is Paid to Memory of Founder of Company G., Oregon Guard.

CEREMONY HELD IN ARMORY

Fifty-four Members of Famous Old Organization Attend—Veterans From Seattle and One From Alaska Also on Hand.

PIONEER OF 1851, WHO DIED AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS.

A tablet in token of respect and affection for the memory of Captain Louis Clinton Farrar, founder of Company G., First Infantry, in the old National Guard, was unveiled yesterday in the Armory with full military honors. Captain Farrar died in New York last January. Fifty-four members of the famous company, which was organized just 30 years ago last Saturday, were present. Though most of them still live in Portland, several came from Seattle and other cities, and one, First Sergeant Frank A. Newton, from Nome, Alaska, to be present at the reunion of the command on Saturday, and at yesterday's ceremony.

As C. M. Idleman, the orator of the day, opened his address, the audience sang "Nearer My God to Thee," accompanied by the Third Infantry Band. Then the band played "Onward Christian Soldiers," directed by Colonel Charles H. Martin, first staff officer of the Third Regiment, the members of old Company G. and officers and men of the battalion of the Third Regiment in Portland marched slowly past the tablet.

Flag Vells Draws Back. A moment before, Captain R. E. Davis, of Company G, and Captain C. R. Hotchkiss, adjutant of the Third Regiment, were drawn aside. The two large United States flags veiling the tablet and portrait. This impressive ceremony brought the exercises to a close. The tablet, made of heavy copper, is engraved with the words: "In memory of Louis Clinton Farrar, Captain Company G, First Infantry, O. N. G., 1853-1897." Prior to the formal exercises on the program, the battalion of the Third Regiment, reviewed by Colonel Charles H. Martin. The band then played "America." The audience, standing uncovered, joined in singing the last two verses of the hymn.

Introduced by Colonel Martin as one entitled with Captain Farrar to the credit of organizing the Third Regiment in Oregon and making its present high efficiency possible, General Charles E. Beebe then said in part: "By the organization in this city on November 15, 1853, of Company G, Oregon State militia, Louis Clinton Farrar, captain, the seed was sown from which first sprouted the growth of an institution destined in its rapid and abundant development to take high and enduring place among the most valued traditions of the state."

Domestic Science Instructors to Hear Two Classes Weekly.

Owing to the difficulty of accommodating the large number of students attending the Monday night instruction class in domestic science at the Jefferson high school, arrangements have been made to repeat the same lesson on Wednesday night. Students taking practice work on Friday night or those who, taking instruction only, would find it convenient to attend Wednesdays instead of Mondays, are requested to make the change of instruction evening, if possible. This plan also makes room for the enrollment of a few new students for instruction only in the Wednesday class.

for indigent invalids. The circular letter issued by the hospital is as follows: "This has been a hard year for people in moderate circumstances, as well as for the poor, many who would have been able to pay hospital bills under ordinary circumstances, having been unable to do so. This also makes it hard for the hospital. The good we are allowed to do is limited by you and the rest of our friends. Our physicians and surgeons do their part in giving absolutely free services to all needy patients; it rests with you to say how much good they, as well as the hospital, are enabled to do. We greatly need money for the care of our sick children. Our children's ward was generously built for us; now we need money to aid in the care of its inmates, most of whom are charity cases. While here all visitors wish to give them toys, fruits, etc. It seems to be hard to secure gifts for the stern necessities of life—money for food, bedding, care, or gifts in kind—the things which they need more than anything, and which mean to them health, and often life itself. The ministrations of this hospital are for all the needy who come to it, regardless of creed or color. Among small things we need wheel chairs, bedside tables and many appliances which will add to the comfort and hasten the recovery of patients. Will you be one of those who help us?"

Spina spent Friday night in the County Jail and it is not likely, considering the smallness of the offense, that he will draw further punishment.
