OLD MONEY SYSTEM OF NATION PASSES

Currency Bill Signed by President.

WILSON IS MOVED TO SPEECH

Chief Executive Touched by Party Line Elimination.

CHANGE FIRST IN 50 YEARS

Passage of Swift and Banking Law Recognized as Big Legislation, is in Step With Understandings in Country's History.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.-President Wilson signed the Glass-Owen bill tonight, and gave his views on the merits of members of the Cabinet, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

President Wilson combined the views of the government officials on the merits of the Cabinet, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

Listening to the President's views, the Cabinet members all supported the views of the government officials, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—President Wilson signed the Glass-Owen bill tonight, and gave his views on the merits of members of the Cabinet, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

President Wilson combined the views of the government officials on the merits of the Cabinet, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

Listening to the President's views, the Cabinet members all supported the views of the government officials, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—President Wilson signed the Glass-Owen bill tonight, and gave his views on the merits of members of the Cabinet, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

President Wilson combined the views of the government officials on the merits of the Cabinet, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

Listening to the President's views, the Cabinet members all supported the views of the government officials, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—President Wilson signed the Glass-Owen bill tonight, and gave his views on the merits of members of the Cabinet, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

President Wilson combined the views of the government officials on the merits of the Cabinet, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.

Listening to the President's views, the Cabinet members all supported the views of the government officials, without compromising the banking and currency and Democratic principles.