

CIVIL SERVICE IS BEING RESPECTED

Burleson, Under Lash of Public Criticism, Now Gives Republicans Chance.

PRETENSE IS ABANDONED

Order Applies Only to Fourth-Class Postmasters—Second and Third-Class Still Under the Old Spoils System.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Dec. 24.—Postmaster-General Burleson has let up in his onslaught on Republican fourth-class postmasters, as evidenced by the recent reappointment of several hundred postmasters whose terms have expired the past two or three months. He is today carrying out the spirit as well as the letter of the civil service order promulgated by President Taft.

For a time after he entered the Cabinet Mr. Burleson chopped off the heads of Republican postmasters as fast as their four-year terms expired, and he even went to the extreme of dismissing not a few Republicans to make room for Democrats. During his first few weeks in office he sought to have the Taft civil service order abrogated, at least long enough to turn out the Republican postmasters, contending Democrats were entitled to this patronage, after having been kept away from the Federal payroll for 15 years.

Demand Withdrawn Perforce.
There was such a loud outcry against the revocation of the Taft civil service order, however, that Burleson was obliged to withdraw his demand for revocation, and the men proceeded to enforce the civil service order in a way to meet his own end. Whenever the term of a Republican postmaster expired, Mr. Burleson ordered a civil service examination open to all candidates for the office, but when that examination had been held, he went over the list of eligibles and invariably appointed Democrats. If any candidate of that political faith passed the examination, it made no difference what the comparative ratings proved to be. If one Democrat barely passed and a dozen Republicans passed with high ratings, all of them better than the Democrat, the Democrat was appointed.

Publicity Brings Check.
So much publicity was given to the manner in which the spirit of the civil service order was being disregarded and so much complaint was centered on the Postoffice Department that even that pretense has been abandoned, and today two incumbent postmasters—usually Republicans—are being reappointed to every new Democrat appointment made as a result of examinations. At the present moment, the Taft civil service order is being enforced as fairly as could be asked, as results show.

RULING DEEMED OF IMPORTANCE

Decision Based on Patriotic Service to City and Country by Veteran, Declaring Public Policy Best Conserved With Sentiment.

A. E. Borthwick, representing the George Wright Post of the Grand Army of the Republic, of which Mr. Chamberlain is a member, arose and expressed his thanks. "In behalf of Mr. Chamberlain's post we extend thanks for your consideration and action. At a later date we will extend our thanks possibly more fully than I am extending them now, but not with any deeper feeling."

Mr. Chamberlain will return to his work tomorrow morning. The decision is as follows:

Commissioner Is Defended.
On November 29, 1913, Russell T. Chamberlain was dismissed from the position of janitor in the service of the city. The reason given for the dismissal was inefficiency, with the suggestion that this condition was the result of old age. The matter is now before us upon an appeal from the order of dismissal. The dismissal was not made on political or religious grounds, and it seems the action of the Commissioner of Public Affairs in making the discharge was the result of the view that the good of the service required, at all times, and without reservation, the greatest possible quantity of work should be obtained from a municipal employee, and that if, for the same compensation, a larger quantity of work could be obtained from another person, it was the duty of the commissioner to discharge Mr. Chamberlain and

EXTRACTS FROM DECISION OF CIVIL SERVICE BOARD IN CHAMBERLAIN CASE.

Public good can be promoted best by encouraging and inculcating a civic patriotism among our servants.

A mighty factor in promoting public good is an appreciation of long and honest service.

There is a human factor which forbids the public turning coldly away from the employee, who has given his best service for many years, at the first slackening of his mental or physical vigor.

Above all local statutes or acts of Congress is a public sentiment founded upon a just and righteous sense of gratitude which declares that the old veteran who by his labor is yet willing and ready to earn his daily bread should be given this opportunity.

We should not measure with too exacting a yardstick the daily quantity of work performed by such a veteran.

Mr. Chamberlain and his comrades did not measure with a yardstick the work they performed from 1861 to 1865, or try to make it represent merely the compensation in dollars and cents received.

The veteran of the Civil War has created a debt not easily repaid, and now, if he is still willing to earn his living by manual labor in his humble position of janitor, we feel that the good of the service will be promoted by retaining him.

BANK PLUM IS TEMPTING

SPOKANE BIDS AGAINST SEATTLE FOR FEDERAL BRANCH.

Financiers of Sound City Think They Are Assured of Honor if Unity Can Be Established.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 24.—(Special.)—Seattle's fight to have the regional bank to be established in the Northwest under the new currency law located here was complicated to some extent this morning when news was received here that the Spokane Clearing-house Association, which had been expected to endorse this city's effort, had made application for the Federal institution in its own behalf. That this city will be the designated center of this financial development, is generally believed here.

Committeemen of the new Chamber of Commerce and the Seattle Clearing-house Association, who are working jointly to bring the bank to Seattle, feel that Spokane's effort to get into the field at this time can serve no purpose. Unless the Eastern Washington-city is persuaded to withdraw, the state will be divided against itself, with the result that Portland, which is making a strong bid for the bank, will be chosen.

During the day Western Washington bankers endeavored to convince the Spokane interests that by remaining in the campaign they are preventing the state from having more than a fair chance to win. With this object in view, bankers on this side of the mountains telegraphed financial men in the Falls city urging that, for pride of state, their application be reconsidered. Meanwhile endorsement of Seattle by bankers, business men and commercial organizations in Western Washington is being received here.
