Portland and Tributary Territory to Be Heard on Reserve Bank.

POLITICS NOT REGARDED

Ultimate Decision Whether Pacific Coast Will Have More Than One Bank Depends on Showing

Made by Two Cities.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash Ington, Dec. 25.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Secretary of Agriculture Houston, constituting the majority of the Federal reserve ormajority of the Federal reserve or-ganization committee, will hold public hearings at Portland. Seattle and San Francisco some time in February, with a view to obtaining the views of bank-ers and business men who the bankers and business men as to the proper division of the Western country into reserve districts, as well as the most advantageous location of the head of-fices of the Federal reserve banks.

Hearings will not be held in any other cities west of Denver, but interested individuals from any part of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, California and Nevada will have the option of participating in the hearings at the cities named.

Politics Not to Govern

Secretary McAdoo made it plain to-day that political influence would not be considered, either in the determination of the reserve districts or the

tion of the reserve districts or the location of the regional banks, and that the final decision of these twe questions will depend largely on in-formation which the committee gathers at its hearings. The fact that hear-ings will be held at both Portland and Seattle indicates that the organ-ization committee is in doubt whethet there should be one or two banks on the Facific Coast, and indicates fur-ther that if a second bank goes to ther that if a second bank goes to the Pacific Coast it is not yet decided whether the second bank should go whether the second bank should go to Portland or to Seattle, but that it will, if authorized, go to one or the other of these cities.

The statement issued tonight by Sec retary McAdoo indicates that Portland will have much in its favor as against Seattle, if a second bank is to be es-tablished on the Pacific Coast, for tablished on the Pacific Coast, for reographical location is pointed out as one of the important factors that will determine the points where regional banks are to be established.

Portland's Record in Its Favor

Furthermore, the fact that Portland is doing a larger banking business than is Seattle, would seem to be another factor in its favor. The organization committee will seek not only to get the views of bankers and business men of cities which are competing for regional banks, but will seek the opinions of bankers and others in smaller cities whose convenience must be considered in establishing the head offices in each district will therefore be to Portland's interest to have preesn at the hearing at Portland bankers from various parts of Oregon, Idaho, Southern and Eastern Washington and Montana who favor Portland as against Seattle, for a strong showing of this nature will go far to advance Portland's chances of ognition.

convenience and normal movements of trade and commerce. "Political considerations will not be permitted to influence the committee in determining these important ques-tions. While the committee appreciates the local pride and sentiment which are prompting many cities to urge their claims, the committee neverthe-less must appeal to the patriotism of the country to assist it in arriving at sound conclusions through considera-tion of fundamental and vital factors. Purely local sentiment and pride must yield to the common good in order that the system itself may accomplish the the system itself may accomplish the purposes for which it was designed, namely, to secure to the business of the country the elastic system of credits and the stability of conditions so long imperatively demanded. Delegations to Be Received. "The committee will be able to re-ceive delegations urging the claims of particular cities for preference as the headquarters of the reserve banks. The claims of all cities will be con-sidered upon their merits in view of the facts which will be developed throughout the investigations.
