UNIVERSITY OF OREGON ATHLETE SIGNED AS PITCHER BY PORTLAND NORTHWESTERN LEAGUE CLUB.

HOMER JAMISON.

JAMISON IS SIGNED

University of Oregon Boy to Pitch for Portland Coits.

DUGDALE'S GRIEF LASTING

Portus Baxter, Conservative, Says Seattle May Jump to Coast Any Time—Mullen Must Pay or Play With Lincoln.

Homer Jamison, ex-University of Oregon all-around athlete, is the latest to be added to the list of prospective Portland baseball stars.

After a short stint with Washington State League clubs he was tried at Seattle and later worked out with the Venice Tigers during a couple of their visits in Portland.

Jamison pitched brilliant ball for Lincoln last Spring, said Scout Richardson. "He won six of their first seven victories."

It will cost Charley Mullen close to $1000 to secure his release from the Lincoln club of the Western League.

D. E. Dugdale, Seattle Northwestern League franchise owner, is still in a huddle over the cold shoulder some of his colleagues gave Seattle in the schedule drafting here a few days ago.

So deep is Dug's gloom that Portus Baxter, sporting editor of the Post-Intelligencer, comes forth to remark that "Seattle can get along without Northwestern League ball and it now looks as if a mistake had been made in sticking to it so long."

Continuing, Mr. Baxter says: "In some quarters it is now taken for granted that the combine against Seattle means the sudden entrance of Seattle into the Coast League. This is getting a little ahead of the game. It is true, however, that the attitude of President Dugdale and the fans of Seattle in general has experienced a sudden change."

COAST NO FEAR OF OUTLAWS LEAGUE

Long Playing Schedule Proof Against Federal Raid, Is McCredie's Opinion.

TINKER DEAL WISE MOVE

Portland Manager Says Signing of $36,000 Manager Inspires Confidence in New Organization. Venice Has New Catcher.

BY ROSCOE PAWCIETT. With a seven months' playing schedule as its germ-proof argument, the Pacific Coast League is the one big baseball circuit which is not worrying over the possibility of the new outlaws Federal League.

They'll have to grab a dozen Tinkers, however, before the Portland chieftain will become reconciled to the Feds' chances for ultimate success. McCredie still nurses a grudge against outlaws, as a result of the raiding of his first Pacific Coast champion team in the Spring of 1907.

McCredie has been decidedly skeptical over Federal League prospects, but he admits that the Feds pulled a prize move in signing Tinker, for the Chicago manager. Likewise, he thinks that Tinker showed extreme wisdom in jumping.

Outlaws Show Backing. "Joe must be around 26 or 27 now, although he gives his age as 54," said McCredie last night. "He has at least one or three or four more years of major ball in his system, and $50,000 in the bank for three years' service looks pretty fat."

take them or leave them, just as they choose, without ruffling our dispositions half as much as do the thoughts of the approaching exams.

The difficulties under which football was played in the early days of the sport is well illustrated by a story told by Judge Remsen at the recent banquet to the Purdue eleven.

When we appeared on the field to play Butler they protested, because they had dressed that bedding in the hope they would be unable to hold us when they tackled. That was not true and after ten minutes' protesting, the protest was disallowed.
