New Cars. Soow Braddy.—The new style cars with center doors, now being built at the shops of the Fortland. Railway, Light & Power Company, in the South East Side, soon will be tried out. These cars are built along new lines. There will be no exits at the end, but entrances are from side doors and are controlled by the conductor by a lever. One feature so the new cars is that the lever cannot be operated while the car is in operation and the cars cannot be started until the door is closed. Four cars of this style are being built. Many of the features used in the cars are original with the shop men, but the center door feature has been tried elsewhere.

ALFRED GOODSOUGH FUNERAL HELD.

The funeral services of Alfred Goodnough, an old resident who died Saturday at his home, 1927 Williams avenue, were conducted yesterday afternoon from A. R. Zeiler's chapel, 524 Williams avenue. Interment was in Lone Fir Cemetery. Mr. Goodnough was 85 years old and had been a resident of Portland for about 44 years. He was bern in Vermont and crossed the Isthmus of Darlen and came to Portland. For 14 years he engaged in the real estate business with A. O. Stearns, the firm name being Goodnough & Stearns. He retired two years ago from active purticipation, although he went to the office occasionally. He was well known among real estate men of the city. Many attended the funeral.

Orpheum.

KROHN'S DISMISSAL ASKED NANCE O'NEILL statuesque and all and deep rich voice, plays the role of and deep rich voice, plays the role of an unloved wife, who seeks the affinity route to happiness in her sketch at the Orpheum this week. "The Second Ash Tray" is the peculiar title of the piece. It is East Indian in atmosphere. Incense burns and a turhan-topped native servant salaams about. Affred Hickman, an actor of poise and distinction, plays the role of a naturalist, whose pet passion is poisonous snakes. He has become a drunkard, and his wife, who has never loved him, listens to the wooing of another man.

Returns then the husband and the affinity is hidden in the conservatory. The husband suspects his presence and throws a poisonous snake into the conservatory. This gives Miss O'Nelli opportunity to display her dramatic acting. For a few moments the scene is intensely emotional and powerful. The acting is really excellent, and the sketch presents Miss O'Nelli in the strong vital roles she is best known for. This is her first visit since "The Lily."

A possible clew to several hundreds of dollars' worth of jeweiry and valuable papers, which were reported lost from a taxicab Sunday by Mrs. Alma Mau, housekeeper for M. Senda, was given Detectives Abbett and La Salle yesterday by H. Austin, who says an automobile party found a handbag in the road at Union avenue and Mason street early yesterday.

Mr. Austin said he noticed the handbag lying at the side of the road as he passed the point on a St. Johns car. He said he left the car at the next corner to return for the satchel, but before he reached the place an automobile containing several persons, who he did not know, stopped and one of the occupants picked the bag up. He said he thought no more of the matter until he read of Mrs. Mau's loss in The Oregonian.

APPLES SENT TO PARIS

Dr. Ricen Gives Box to Professor

Elie Metchnikoff.

Professor Elie Metchnikoff, director of the Institute Pasteur, Paris, received a box of Hood River apples from Dr. Lee Ricen, of this city, and acknowledged the receipt with the following letter:

"Esteemed Colleague: I thank you "Les Miserables," the biggest film production ever attempted, based on Victor Hugo's literary classic of the same name, which comes to the People's Theater for one week, beginning Sunday, January 4, is in two distinct parts, each complete in itself and separate from the other. To run the 11,600 feet of film would require at least three hours for each performance, so it has been decided to run the first half, "The Story of Jean Valleam," on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, and the second half, "The Romance of Cosette and Marius," on the remaining four days of the week.—Adv.
