

CROSS STOPS BUD IN SEVENTH ROUND

Anderson Falls for Ruse of New Yorker Second Time in Six Months.

LEACH STALLS, THEN WINS

Crowd Yells for Referee to Stop Contest When Vancouver Boy Hangs On—Left Swing to Stomach Final Blow.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 1.—Leach Cross, of New York, knocked out Bud Anderson, of Vancouver, Wash., in the seventh round of their battle at Vernon today. This was the second victory for the New Yorker over Anderson in six months. It was a one-sided battle. Cross was the master of the Vancouver lad in every round, and in the final he beat Anderson to the floor three times.

The last knockdown, which was also the knockout, sent Anderson almost out of the ring, and he hung limply at the lower rope, unconscious, for several minutes.

Cross used identically the ring tactics he employed in his battle with Anderson July 4 last, and achieved the same result. He stalled and then stalled in and beat his man down. The stalling began in the sixth round.

Cross Feltus Weakness. Cross staggered about with arms hanging down. He winked at his seconds, and, catching Anderson off guard, hammered his jaw and stomach with a sudden volley of straight-arm blows. In the seventh the New Yorker repeated the ruse.

A left hook to the chin sent Anderson down the first time. He took the count of eight. Cross next uppercut Bud hard, sending him to the floor a second time. On arising, Anderson lay on helpless. The crowd yelled to the referee to stop the fight. Cross looked intently at the referee and then, apparently taking it to be a case of "thumbs down" for Anderson, leaped in and shot a right jolt to the Coast boy's chin. A left swing to the stomach followed, and Anderson collapsed.

Round One. They sprang into a clinch and fought shoulder to shoulder for a minute without damage. On the second away Anderson led a number of times but failed to land. In another clinch, however, Anderson reddened Cross' back with hard kidney punches. Cross battered Anderson's face with a series of right and left jabs, and Anderson's mouth was bleeding as the gong rang. Cross' round by a shade.

Round Two. Both men were cautious. They flinched around the ring. Cross landed a light swing to Anderson's ribs and followed it up with a hard right and left to Anderson's nose. Anderson swung wildly, the New Yorker avoiding him easily. In the clinches Anderson played for Cross' kidneys.

Round Three. Anderson backed Cross to the ropes and they wrestled to the center of the ring. Cross feinted Anderson's leads and hammered his jaw. Anderson went down on a hard left to the jaw, taking the count of three. When he arose they clinched and the Vancouver boy took more punishment. Cross' round.

Round Four. Cross drew Anderson's fire, avoided his blows and landed at will on the Coast boy's jaw and body. He out-fought Anderson and held him powerless in the clinches. Cross' round.

Round Five. Anderson blocked right and left leads for his jaw. But in a fierce close-range set-to Cross landed blows that puffed up Anderson's nose and mouth. In return he smashed Cross on the chin with a left jab. Cross pounded Anderson's face with a series of left and right swings. Anderson appeared groggy. His face was smeared with blood. Cross' round.

Round Six. Anderson spat blood freely. He puffed Cross' left eye with a right jab. They clinched and wrestled. Anderson shoved Cross outside the ropes and helped him back and staggered him with a left jab. Cross appeared all but out. It was a stall. He lit into Anderson, who staggered and nearly went down.

Round Seven. Cross dropped his guard to draw Anderson, but the latter was cautious. They sparred and Anderson landed left twinges on Cross' jaw. Cross appeared to be stalling again. He staggered about with his guard down. Anderson went down under a straight left to the chin, taking the count of eight. Cross uppercut him and he staggered, appearing all but out. Anderson went down again, but arose and held on, helpless, the crowd yelling for the referee to stop the fight. Cross knocked Anderson across the ropes and Referee Blake stopped the fight, Cross winning.

BLOW FALLS ON VANCOUVER

Crowds Speak in Whispers as They Turn From Bulletin Boards.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Jan. 1.—(Special.)—The greatest disturbance in this quiet little city on New Year's was the raucous voices of newsboys from Portland, who came here loaded down with prizefight extras, and bawled their wares at the tops of their voices.

When the news arrived that Bud had lost in the seventh, his admirers would not believe it at first and waited for later returns. There was some Cross money wagered in Vancouver. There is an impression among Anderson's admirers in Vancouver that Bud has not recovered from his operation for appendicitis. Those who bet on Cross did so in the belief that the ring generalship of the Ghetto centist is too much for "Vancouver's hope."

Crowds that turned from bulletin boards at the end of the battle resembled funeral processions. They spoke in whispers.

Portlanders See Fight. LOS ANGELES, Jan. 1.—Among Portland men at the ringside of the Anderson-Cross fight were W. W. Fetzer, business manager of the Portland ball club, and Dr. Montgomery.

Dillon Outfights Christie. INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 1.—Jack Dillon, of Indianapolis, claimant of the middleweight championship, outfought his Christie, of Milwaukee, in a 10-round bout here today. Every round was Dillon's and he frequently saved himself by hanging on.

Mandot and Fisher Clash. CINCINNATI, Jan. 1.—Joe Mandot, of New Orleans, and Earl Fisher, of his city, fought a 10-round no-decision bout here today. They are lightweights.

To the People of Portland:

This great sale event is planned for a two-fold purpose. The first and primary object is, as stated above, the complete riddance of all Winter stocks.

The second is to popularize our new location, where this store is now located and will be for all time to come. We own our home here, and the ground upon which it rests, enabling us to conduct our business at the least possible expense, which means the retailing of shoes of quality at a very great saving to the public.

We control the Portland field for the World's Best Shoes, THE HANAN. If you have never worn this famous shoe, try your first pair now, and all shoe discomfort and dissatisfaction will be at an end. For style, service and fitting qualities they stand without a competitor. These shoes at the regular retail prices give more wear, dollar for dollar, than any shoe made.

We want you to share in this great distribution of these high-grade shoes. We want to prove our worth as Portland's Greatest Shoe Store. (Signed) ROSENTHAL'S.

These prices are quoted in the face of the highest leather market of years. This is a day of much misrepresentation in materials and workmanship. Many shoes are made for selling purposes only—they look nice when new, but don't wear. You all know that Rosenthal's shoes bear the stamp of quality. No cheap or inferior shoe is ever allowed to enter this establishment.
