To Those Who Are Not Already Saving Home Industry Labels:

Spend your money at home—develop your own home state. Every dollar spent by an Oregonian for Oregon products pays double dividends—he gets full value for the dollar expended and he keeps that dollar at home. None of us are big enough to stand alone. We all depend on our fellow workers to a large extent. The thing to do is to co-operate wherever possible.

The real prosperity of a state is measured by the number of men and women to whom it can give employment. And the size of the weekly pay rolls depends upon YOU—whether YOU are willing to buy the output of home manufacturers and patronize HOME INDUSTRY! Help yourself by helping the other fellow. Keep your money at home!

As an incentive to you to get the "buying at home" habit and have you ask for the goods advertised on this page by name, The Oregonian is offering six cash prizes each month for the greatest number of labels or saleschecks secured from articles advertised on the page.

And $120 for Best Essays on "Why Oregon People Should Do All Their Buying From Oregon Manufacturers, Everything Else Being Equal."

This contest is open to all boys and girls of Oregon under 16 years of age. Cash prizes of $5, $2 and three prizes of $1 each will be given each month, or $120 during the year. Essays must not be over 200 words in length and should be brought to the Home Industry Department, Oregonian, not later than 6 P. M. on the last Friday of each month. The writers should mention the things

HOTEL LOBBIES FURNISH TALES OF VARIED TENOR

Pure-Bred Herefords Will Be Brought to Hanley Ranch—Banker Returns to Mexico—Old Times Recalled. Walla Walla Has Alliterative Signature

MJ. HANLEY, of Medford, was in Portland yesterday, en route to Helena, where he and his brother Ed have bought a carload of purebred Hereford cattle which he will ship to Medford. They will be placed on the Hanley ranch near Jacksonville, known as one of the best stock ranches in the Rogue River Valley. "These will be some of the finest cattle ever brought into Oregon," said Mr. Hanley at the Imperial yesterday, "and their purchase marks the beginning of an effort on our part to produce none but the best stock."

With Mr. Hanley was his son, Michael, Jr., who was returning to the Shattuck Military Academy at Shattuck, Minn., where he is a student. In 1913 from 100 7-year-old Bosa pear trees Mr. Hanley sold 60 boxes at $2.10 per box to B. Medford. The land is cleared-off timber land in the north fork of Little Butte Creek. Mr. Hanley is a brother of William Hanley, of Burns.

San Francisco, and will take boat from there for Mexico. There have been no revolutionary uprisings in the State of Jalisco, and Mr. Downs says that the people there, particularly the American and other foreign residents, are more interested in seeing a stable government in Mexico than in seeing any one faction win. Mr. Downs is a former resident of Seattle and has spent several months there looking after business affairs. He is the owner of Colonia Seattle, a suburban residence project near Guadalupe.

"IAM looking for a house," said Judge William M. Colvig, late of Medford, at the Cornucopia yesterday. Judge Colvig has been appointed right-of-way agent for the Southern Pacific in Oregon, and proposes to remove his family to Portland soon. "But I am telling these landlords, when they tell me the advantages of their properties as reasons for charging a high rent, that I intend to rent for a term of years—I never did like to move, anyway, and that I am in other ways a most desirable tenant. I want a place where I can have some grass and a few rosebushes, and I take care of these things as though the premises were my own."

the advancement of Medford and Southern Oregon for more years than is embraced in the memory of a majority of the residents of that region. One of the first things Judge Colvig did to make Southern Oregon a better country to live in was to serve as a volunteer in the war against the Modoc Indians in the '60s. He was one of the earliest white men to see Crater Lake, and was one with a party of regular soldiers who took a number of Indians down to the water's edge and pushed them in for the purpose of depopulating the area of the savages that the devil dwelt in the blue bosom of the lake and rewarded whoever looked upon it with death. Mrs. C. L. Reames, wife of the United States District Attorney, is Judge Colvig's daughter.

C. W. TALMAGE, who practices law at Tillamook, told his friends at the Imperial the other day of the work of Giebach & Jorlin, of Portland, have taken a contract for the construction of the jetty, on which $314,000 is to be expended, half of the money being furnished by the Government and half by the Port of Tillamook. "The work as projected will give us 18 feet of water on the bar at mean low tide," said Mr. Talmage, "and this will mean that ships of good draft can enter. As soon as they can the Whitney Company, one of the largest operators in timber in the Tillamook region, will build a big sawmill. The Wheeler Company is now completing a mill with a capacity of 150,000 feet a day at Wheeler, on the Nehalem River. Mr. Talmage is an enthusiast for the Tillamook country, which he says is just in the beginning of its development. Its possibilities as a dairy district have already been proven, and dairy land is selling for from $300 to $500 an acre.

WHILE Mr. Talmage was talking, Judge George H. Durham, formerly of Grants Pass, but now living in Portland, came up. "It had been many years since the two men had met, but they immediately 'blasted' each other. "I have good reason to remember Judge Durham," said Mr. Talmage, "for I saw him lose his toes under a passenger train at McMinnville April 12, 1890. He was just swinging on to the train as it pulled out, and his foot caught on the overcoat he carried on his arm. He missed the step and stepped down on the rail and the wheels amputated his toes."

"BUT what do you know about this?" called out Chief Clerk Harry Hamilton from the desk. "That's ancient history, as Judge Durham will agree, and if Talmage gets started on old times, he'll never get run down." The party stepped to the register, and this is what they saw beneath Hamilton's finger: "Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers," Talmage began to chant, but he was restrained before he could get any deeper in the alliterative labyrinth. "There, used to be a minister at Walla Walla who could show the same number of 'W's' as Mr. Wilson," said Hamilton. "His name was William W. Wallace."

4 OF MISSING 6 HELD

THREE OREGON CITY GIRLS AND BOY CAUGHT AT ASTORIA.

Brother of One Young Woman Tries to Kill Himself Is Reported—No Cries to Other Two Youths.

OREGON CITY, Or., Jan. 4.—(Special.)—Four of the party of three girls and three boys missing from this city since last Wednesday were found and arrested today at Astoria, according to a message received by Constable Frost. The party was taken in custody at a lodging house at Astoria. Those held are the girls, Ethel Forsythe, 13 years old; Viola Monaghan, 15 years old, and Margaret Curtis, 12 years old, and one boy, Jack Davis, 22 years old. Coincident almost with the finding of the alleged sloopers the brother of Miss Forsythe, William, Jr., is said to have tried to kill himself by jumping into the river. He was restrained, it is said, by his bride of three weeks, from whom his parents are reported to have told him he must separate. Another development of the day, the authorities say, is the finding of a clew that indicates that another person than the three boys and three girls planned the elopement for them. This person's identity has been learned, it is said. The four persons held and Alton Lewis, 18 years old, and Glenn Jermeler, 18 years old, went to Portland last Wednesday. It is said. The three boys were seen on a street car in Portland the next day, but no trace of the party was found when officers made a search. A clew later was obtained that led

135 HIKE 10 MILES TO EAT

Unemployed Tramp Through Mud for Meal at County Expense.

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 4.—A 10-mile tramp through the mud was made today by the band of 135 unemployed, starting from Porterville, where they had laid over for two days, to Terra Bella, in the southern part of Tulare County. At Terra Bella the band has assurance of breakfast tomorrow at county expense and will be accompanied as far as the county line tomorrow to Decatur. From there to Bakersfield is a distance of more than 20 miles, with no settled territory, and as a precaution A. L. Hall, the leader, will go on to Bakersfield to arrange for entertainment. The band is being accompanied through Tulare County by Deputy Sheriff Stewart as an escort.

ASTORIA ELK IS DROWNED

Duckboat of W. W. Houghton Capsizes and Body Not Recovered.

ASTORIA, Or., Jan. 4.—(Special.)—William W. Houghton, son of Police Captain Houghton, was drowned in the Columbia River near the Youngs Bay drawbridge today by the capsizing of his duck boat. Houghton was about 23 years of age and unmarried. He was a member of the local lodge of Elks and members of that order spent several hours this afternoon dragging for the body, but no trace of it could be found.
